Asks Congress Ban Draft of Dads

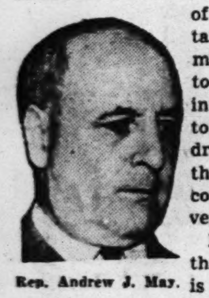
MAY BILL AIMS TO PUT AN END TO CONFUSION

M'Nutt and Hershey Conflict Cited.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee announced today that he will introduce a bill to prohibit the drafting of fathers as soon as congress reconvenes Sept. 14.



Rep. Andrew J. May.

Rep. May said that the country is being confused by the conflicting statements being issued on the father's draft by Paul V. McNutt, war man power commissioner, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, and added:

"McNutt and Hershey should get together and see if they can't agree on one statement—or else they should quit making statements."

Conflicts Recalled.

The latest dictum from McNutt is that the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers will begin simultaneously in every state. McNutt announced this last Friday, the same day on which Hershey announced that the drafting of fathers would vary as much as three months in the different states.

McNutt's statement said that the date on which the drafting would begin could not be predicted. Earlier the same day he had notified Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] that the original date on which the drafting of fathers was to commence, Oct. 1, could not be delayed.

Rep. May explained today that his bill would forbid the drafting of both pre-Pearl Harbor fathers and those whose children were conceived after Pearl Harbor.

Terms May Be Broad.

The military affairs committee chairman said his bill may even include a provision that fathers already inducted be returned to civilian life.

"That," he said, "would be one way of getting needed industrial workers."

Rep. May made it plain that he will call upon the forces opposed to breaking up families thru the drafting of fathers for a prompt and decisive stand on the question.

"My bill will be dropped in the hopper," he promised, "as soon as the chaplain's opening prayer is finished."

Doubts F. D. R. Veto.

Rep. May expressed assurance that President Franklin D. Roosevelt will not veto it.

By virtue of his chairmanship of the military affairs committee, the Kentucky congressman is well informed as to the nation's military man power needs. He indicated, however, that there is no necessity for disrupting the nation's economic existence by placing fathers in the service.

"I feel that the size of the army should be limited by congress," he said. "I think in view of the fact that ten million men are under arms, the army is big enough, particularly with 80,000 18 year olds being inducted per month. That's sufficient to keep it current."

SWIMMER LANDS A 12 POUND CARP WITH HIS SHIRT

Anthony Grosso, 34 years old, 537 North Homan avenue, went fishing for the first time yesterday. He caught a 12 pound carp. Grosso was swimming in the lake at the foot of Delaware place when he sighted the big fish, which had been stunned when boys on the escarpment showered it with rocks. Making a seine of his shirt, Grosso trapped the fish and lugged it ashore. Grosso is a stationary engineer at the University club.

Report Welles to Lose Post in State Dept.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles is about to be eased out of his high post in the interests of ending internal strife in the state department, it was authoritatively learned tonight.

The icy, suave career diplomat is to be kicked upstairs by getting a roving ambassadorship to South America, it was reported.

It is expected that he will be replaced by Norman Armour, who is en route to Washington from the Argentine, where he has been ambassador since 1933.

Victory for Hull.

Should it be decided a roving commission for Welles is not feasible, it is likely that he may be named Armour's successor at Buenos Aires.

The imminent removal of Welles was regarded as another victory for Secretary of State Cordell Hull, victor in many a capital feud. Raymond Moley, George Peek and Vice President Henry A. Wallace are among his victims.

Moley tried to deal over Hull's head at the London economic conference of 1933. Peek tried to sidetrack Hull's reciprocal trade treaty program when he was head of the export-import bank. Wallace tried to sidetrack the state department in operating the now defunct board of economic warfare.

Fight Beneath Surface.

The conflict between Welles and Hull has been waged behind the scenes, but was none the less bitter for it. The clash came as the United States moved toward war. Welles was impatient with Hull's caution and leaped over his chief's head. He won the favor of the White House and for a time he was regarded as secretary of state in all but name, while Hull was relegated to the sidelines, devoting his time to postwar trade plans. In the meantime the efficiency of the state department suffered.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was reported, finally stepped in and on the side of Hull. Because of the latter's tremendous personal popularity, the President was aware that removal of Hull would be a shattering blow to his administration.

Welles Is Harvard Man.

Welles is a product of Groton and Harvard. He was born in New York of affluent parents. He was an attendant at President Roosevelt's wedding as a boy in 1907. He is now 50 years old.

He speaks with a precise accent, not unlike the British. He began his diplomatic career in Tokio in 1915, but has specialized in South America. He became undersecretary in 1937.

Armour was born in England of American parents Oct. 14, 1887. He also began his diplomatic career in 1915, but in France. Like Welles he served in the state department thruout the last war. He was appointed to his present post in 1939.

PAPA GIRAFFE, PAL OF CHILDREN, DIES AT BROOKFIELD ZOO

Two giraffes in the maternity ward at the Brookfield zoo yesterday mourned the death of their mate, Jack, head man of the Brookfield herd since he was brought here from Tanganyika Territory, East Africa, in 1934.

Jack, whose height was more than 18 feet, was one of the finest of his species in the United States and was a great favorite with children. He became the father of five colts, one of which was shipped to the Memphis, Tenn., zoo yesterday afternoon and another of which was sent to a Los Angeles zoo last week. The two giraffes in the maternity ward are Minnie, whose colt is expected next month, and Sadie, who expects a colt in January. The third female giraffe at the zoo is named Isiolo.

Dr. J. V. Lacroix said Jack died of enteritis and Robert Dean, assistant director of the zoo, said it had not been determined what caused the inflammation. The skin will be sent to the Field museum.

107 YEARS BOOM $1,500 LOOP TRACT TO BID OF $355,000

An offer of $355,000 cash for loop property adjoining the northeast corner of Clark and Madison streets on two sides, which cost $1,500 one hundred and seven years ago, was revealed in a petition filed yesterday in the Circuit court by the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee of the estate of Capt. Edward W. Morrison, asking instructions on acceptance of the bid. Altho the prospective buyer's name was not disclosed, he is understood to be Milton H. Callner, president of Milton H. Callner & Co., Inc., one of Chicago's largest real estate owners.

"Cap" Morrison, at one time reputed to be worth 12 million dollars, died in 1929 at the age of 93. He left a $2,040,000 estate that still includes 90 by 90 feet under the tower section of the Morrison hotel.

The property covered by the $355,000 offer [which is L shaped, fronting 60.34 feet at 70-76 West Madison and 47.5 feet at 3-5 North Clark] is improved with a 60-year-old four story building.

Adds Perils of Motoring: Shell Fire from Blimp

Hammonton, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP).—A sailor aboard a blimp scored a near miss today on Dr. Richard M. Schindler, his wife, and daughter. While driving toward Hammonton, they saw a sailor lean out of a passing blimp and drop an egg [barnyard variety] at them. "He missed," said Dr. Schindler. "Probably wasn't using his bombsight."

Felons Cheat Mailing OPA Ration Books

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 10 [Special].—There were red faces today among local and state officials of the office of price administration when it was discovered that their confidence had been betrayed by some of a group recently entrusted with the task of processing and mailing about 2,300,000 No. 3 ration books.

The group, it was revealed, consisted of an assortment of burglars, forgers, murderers and other felons serving time at the Michigan state prison here.

All of the books were not sent out to the citizens who applied for them, it was disclosed, while in some cases relatives of prisoners got lavish consignments of books with the names of persons to whom they were to have been issued removed with ink eradicator.

Bonuses Recovered.

State police first got an inkling that something was wrong when a woman in northern Michigan mailed police headquarters two extra books she said she received in the mail. Then came an OPA announcement that five extra books had been recovered from Clifford Hurl, 1205 Bateman street, Lansing, and Mrs. Mae Hilse, 558 Tinsdale avenue, Lansing.

Inquiry developed that Hurl and Mrs. Hilse were brother and sister and, what is more, had a brother serving a life term in the Jackson penitentiary as a murderer. Further inquiry revealed that the brother, Floyd Hurl, was one of 265 inmates assigned to the task of processing ration books at the prison.

One Crook in Solitary.

Warden Harry Jackson said today he is convinced Hurl mailed the extra books to his brother and sister. He ordered him placed in solitary confinement while OPA officials took steps to question other relatives of Hurl in places as far distant as California.

"Any irregularities in the mailing must have taken place as the project was getting started at the prison," explained Clarence Day, Detroit district rationing official. "Adequate supervision was established soon after the start. We have no way of knowing how many books actually got away but are sure the number could not have been large."

4 LIBERALS DEFEATED IN CANADA ELECTIONS; REBUFF FOR PREMIER

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 10 [Special].—The Liberal government of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King suffered an unexpected rebuff in four federal by-elections held yesterday. In each case the Liberal was defeated, in western Canada by Canadian Commonwealth Federation candidates; in Stanstead, Quebec, by a Bloc Populaire candidate, and in Montreal-Cartier by a Communist running as a Labor-Progressive.

The new reverse followed on the Liberal party's setback in the recent Ontario provincial election, in which the Progressive-Conservative party [the old Tory party under a new label] gained the largest following, the C. C. F. was second, and the Liberals a poor third.

Progressive-Conservatives remained out of the by-elections in order not to split the old party votes and let in the Socialists, Communists, and Nationalists. Nevertheless, newcomers to the political life of Canada swept the board.

PLANE CRASHES AND BURNS HERE; SIX ABOARD SAFE

A B-26 Martin Marauder bomber that developed engine trouble shortly after leaving Chicago airport for Dodge City, Kas., crashed in a field near 103d street and Lawndale avenue and burned yesterday afternoon, but all six occupants, one a Chicagoan, escaped with scratches and bruises.

The six were: Corp. Peter J. Darby, 23 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Darby, 7940 South Morgan street, Chicago, a mechanic; 2d Lt. Thomas H. Hardin Jr., Tulsa, Okla., pilot; 2d Lt. Joseph W. Glass, Ashland, O.; Staff Sgt. David W. Snow, Dodge City; Technical Sgt. Tearl Tillary, Tulsa, Okla., and Richard H. Bailey, Packinack, N. J., Martin Aircraft company employe.

REDS' ADVANCE PERILS 3 BIG GERMAN BASES

Push Closer to Sumy, Kharkov, Bryansk.

LONDON, Aug. 11 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Red army battered its way into the northeast Ukraine yesterday to within 14 miles of Sumy. It also tightened its flanking grip around Kharkov, where Russian forces were barely 12 miles from the city, and smashed into a railway town 45 miles east of Bryansk, Moscow announced today.

The Russians made general advances along the entire 300 mile active front. Seventy towns and villages were taken in the Kharkov advance and 30 in the Bryansk drive, which was rolling up the main rail line from Orel.

One soviet column, striking west toward Sumy, penetrated to 14 miles southeast of the town. Their last reported positions were 21 miles away.

Sumy is 190 miles due east of Kiev and the Dnieper river, and the last important defense line in Russia, to which the Germans may now be falling back.

Cordon Kharkov on 3 Sides.

Northwest and west of Kharkov the Red troops were "grinding down enemy reserves which have been brought up," said the Moscow midnight war bulletin, recorded by the soviet monitor.

North and northeast of Kharkov a Russian formation dashed 8 miles to seize Liptsi, 12 miles northeast of the industrial center. In another sector Red army men crossed the northern Donetz river and after fierce fighting captured a town 22 miles northeast of Kharkov.

Kharkov was now cordoned on three sides with only the southwest left open for the German withdrawal.

Nazis in Full Rout.

Driving toward Bryansk to the north, the Russians met the enemy near the Khotinets station, 45 miles away from their objective. The Germans had brought up two armored trains with large forces of infantry and tanks, but the Russians broke thru and came in to capture Khotinets from the north and east.

The beaten Germans were in full rout. One of their armored trains was smashed by Russian big guns and an airdrome was captured along with 25 planes.

West of Kromi, 14 villages fell to the advancing Russians. Red airmen brought down 46 German planes during the day.

Bryansk was threatened by Russian forces north, northeast and east of the city. The frontal assault now has driven nearly two-thirds of the way from recaptured Orel and troops to the north were about as close to the rail hub which is 250 miles northwest of Kharkov, Moscow advices indicated.

Five Columns in Drive.

Five Russian columns were bearing down on Kharkov and soviet artillery mounted 12 miles north commanded the city.

The Germans said other Russian armies were attacking with tanks, multiple guns, infantry, planes, and flame throwers in the region west and southwest of Vyazma in yet another offensive aimed at the great base of Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow.

Allies Smash at Randazzo, Sicily Bastion

[A Reuters report said the Americans, advancing from Cesaro, were only two miles from Randazzo.]

The Americans were reported to have captured the western terminus of a long sought, hidden German supply road that had helped the Nazis bring up heavy artillery, ammunition and troops in the rugged terrain between Cesaro in the hills and the north coast.

Dynamite Mountainsides.

As the Sicilian campaign entered its second month, American, Canadian, and British troops were officially reported to be making relentless tho unspectacular progress in forcing the fiercely resisting Germans back into the Sicilian funnel at Messina.

The Germans were dynamiting mountainsides to cover miles of roads as they fell back.

It was reported that the Rome radio announced that all Italian troops had been withdrawn from the Sicilian front because of the overwhelming superiority of allied forces.

Randazzo was still ablaze from ceaseless air raids some of which continued without a break for days. The full power of the allied air forces, which are in complete command of the skies over Sicily and southern Italy, has struck against this highway keypoint.

Nazi Defenses Still Strong.

Thru damage done to roads, the city already has been almost eliminated as a communications junction, but powerful German defenses erected there are considered still capable of presenting strong resistance to attacking infantry.

It has been disclosed that Gen. Schatel heads the German 14th corps, composed of something over three divisions, which has been engaged in Sicily.

Standing off the north and east coasts of Sicily, American and British heavy and light naval units continue to rake the enemy's exposed shore roads and anchor points with shellfire.

Air Supremacy for Allies.

In the air, fleets of Flying Fortresses, medium bombers, Wellingtons, and lighter craft were declared to have enforced "absolute

QUEBEC GREETS PRIME MINISTER AND WAR STAFF

Stalin to Be Absent from Parleys.

He arrived here in Canada's oldest city to talk first with his Canadian ally. He will see Mr. Roosevelt later, for separate Anglo-American war talks, at a time and place which cannot be disclosed.

Into these strategic conferences, carrying obviously ominous connotations to axis nations wondering where the next momentous blows will fall, the three allied leaders are bringing their top naval, air, and military advisers.

Russia Not Present.

Russia will not be represented at any of the parleys. Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that much at a press conference in Washington, adding that this did not mean he would not be awfully glad to have the Russians sit in.

The biggest question mark hanging over the parleys is where and when the often promised invasions of the European continent will be initiated.

Churchill came to Quebec as the guest of the Canadian government. A statement issued by his office in the Chateau Frontenac, high above the picturesque city, said merely:

"The prime minister of Great Britain has arrived in Canada accompanied by Lord Leathers, the minister of war transport for the United Kingdom, and the British chiefs of staff. Mr. Churchill was received on arrival by Mr. Mackenzie King and during his stay in Canada will be the guest of the Canadian government. Mr. Churchill will have discussions with Mr. Mackenzie King and later on will attend a conference with President Roosevelt and the combined chiefs of staff of the United States and the United Kingdom."

Stops at the Citadel.

Contrary to practices followed when the prime minister has visited Washington, the names of his chiefs of staff were withheld, on grounds their duties probably would be known to the enemy and might afford a clew to the directions the parleys were taking.

Later restrictions were lifted to permit announcement of names of some of Churchill's advisers, including Gen. Alan Brooke, chief of the general staff; Adm. of the Fleet Dudley Pound, first sea lord; Chief Marshal Charles Portal, chief of air staff, and Vice Adm. Louis Mountbatten, chief of combined operations.

An official statement from Churchill's office said that "during the eve-

Archie Roosevelt Bears Charmed Life

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES IN SALAMAUA AREA, Aug. 3 [Delayed].—Maj. Archibald Roosevelt, son of the late Teddy Roosevelt, twice has escaped death by very slim margins during the current campaign.

A week ago a Jap mortar shell landed less than six feet ahead of him while he was visiting the front lines. It did not explode. Last night a second mortar exploded 30 feet away and caused some casualties, but again did not harm him. Roosevelt, 51 years old, thrice wounded in the World war, grins and says he is "charmed."

Soft spoken Maj. Roosevelt is exceedingly proud of the showing of his men to date against both the Japs and the terrain.

Tough Spot for War.

"Difficult thing, this country," he said this morning. "In fact, it consists of tremendous mountains, straight up and down walls traversed by mighty canyons, and mountains themselves connected by narrow ridges, all clothed with a heavy tropical jungle, making observation impossible.

"The men must pull themselves up hand over hand, carrying heavy machine guns, ammunition and rations. There's no water on top the ridges except what you can catch with helmets. When we attacked one ridge under fire, it was so steep the Japs actually threw mortar shells down by hand."

Roosevelt said the Japs encountered were better clothed and as well fed as our men but the fire power of an American infantry company is "immense—whoever is responsible for organizing that did a beautiful job."

Finds Morale High.

"The morale of our men is very fine," he said. "I've never seen men go thru so much with such a magnificent spirit. Of course, there's no comparison between the American and Jap as a fighting man. Our men shoot better individually and are more intelligent. All we need is more of them."

He also paid tribute to the artillery and the air force which are doing a fine job of supporting the infantry battering at Salamaua. The Americans have found the enemy anti-aircraft light because, when their anti-aircraft guns open up on our planes, our artillery opens up on the enemy guns. They promptly close shop, permitting unopposed bombing runs.

FIND ITALY AND NAZIS CLOSER NOW THAN EVER

German People Kept in Dark, Say Spanish.

MADRID, Aug. 10 (AP).—Spanish correspondents in Berlin today featured the point that Italian-German collaboration was "closer than ever," and made it plain that activities in high Nazi circles were not being explained to the German people.

A dispatch to the newspaper Madrid said Italian and German military leaders have been in close contact "since the first moment of the Italian political change" which "never changed the axis strategy in the least."

Of developments in Berlin since Benito Mussolini was replaced by Premier Badoglio, the Madrid correspondent reported that "little, very little, of what is going on in high quarters in Berlin has reached the German people."

The Madrid correspondent reported that the atmosphere in Berlin is "saturated with something of transcendental importance" and that there is a strong impression there that the reich soon will take an "extraordinary action."

British Urge: "Bomb Rome."

London, Aug. 10 (AP).—The German radio, in an overseas broadcast, indicated today the Germans still hold Italy bound by the military pact that Benito Mussolini signed and asserted that Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio is continuing talks with the Nazis.

A demand that Rome be bombed again was sounding in the British press today as Badoglio's government showed no sign of heeding allied surrender demands. The London Daily Express declared "we should remind a million Italians in their capital that their need to force a decision from Badoglio is still more pressing than ours."

Last Battle Far Off.

"Mussolini's downfall was a political and not a military event," a Rome broadcast said today. "From the military point of view it enhanced Italy's will to resist. The fact that a great part of Sicily is in the hands of the enemy is no reason for throwing up the sponge. The last battle in this war is a long way away yet."

In the two weeks since Mussolini's fall, according to Spanish correspondents in Italy, the Germans have quietly and carefully moved sufficient troops into the Po and Trieste regions to seize that sector if necessary.

air supremacy," not only over Sicily and Messina strait but well up the toe of Italy, attacking supply trucks on roads and supply boats in the strait.

In the central sector British and American patrols effected a junction in the mountains of the Cesaro-Bronte area, possibly trapping a sizable force of Germans fighting a bitter rearguard action to protect Randazzo, the valley hub north of Mount Etna.

Possession of Randazzo would permit the allies to strike either east toward Taormina on the coast, or north toward Capes Orlando, Calava, or Milazzo.

British Push Ahead.

American infantrymen who splashed ashore from small boats to the rear of the Germans on Sunday night at Torrenova captured 1,500 Germans, it was announced, and the main body of the American 7th army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. has now contacted the raiding force.

Wrapping its columns about Mount Etna, the British 8th army pushed ahead both along the coastal shelf toward Riposto and along the road circling the volcano to the west.

YANKS PRAISE BRADLEY

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN SICILY, Aug. 8 [Delayed].—He might have been—that lanky olive drab clad figure—any doughboy on any night in the Sicilian campaign patting down the earth with a shovel to make his cot rest more evenly. But he was a doughboy at heart if not in rank, for a slim moon this recent night glinted on three stars on his helmet.

It was Lt. Gen. Omer N. Bradley, commander of the American 2d corps, who was thus wielding a shovel. His two young aides, Capt. Lewis Bridge of Lodi, Cal., and Capt. Chester Hansen of Elizabeth, N. J., stood by eager to relieve the general of that task.

"But he wanted to do it himself," Bridge told me. "A few minutes before he had called, 'Lew, bring me a shovel,' and when we begged to do the job he remarked, 'I'm going to sleep here, not you.' He worked for 10 minutes smoothing off the ground.

He's Boss They Revere.

"That's the kind of fellow he is. He is the old man, the boss we revere."

Bridge and Hansen told how the general always likes to do his own work—how he dug foxholes on maneuvers, how before field kitchens and messes were fully set up in Sicily, he stood in line behind junior officers for his C rations, and how he washed out his own mess kit. Bradley types most of his personal mail, pecking away enthusiastically with two fingers.

Several times in the last few days I have seen the general near the front line talking with his divisional commanders, staff officers and just doughboys. Mild mannered, soft spoken and wearing spectacles, he resembles a school teacher—he once taught mathematics at West Point.

The general never rises later than 6:30 a. m. He is the first man at the breakfast table. Frequently he wakes his aides as he goes by their cots, usually with a pleasantry such as, "You want to sleep all day, Chet?" and "How's the bush coming today, Lew?" Bridge, who is working mightily to raise a mustache, says of the old man, "He is another Abe Lincoln to me."

REPORT U. S. AND BRITAIN ACCEPT FRENCH REGIME

ALGIERS, Algeria, Aug. 10 (AP).—The United States and Britain were reported tonight to have agreed to recognize the French committee of national liberation as the de facto, government and trustee of French interests overseas until Gen. Henri Giraud's armies land in France.

It was believed here that a joint Anglo-American statement on French recognition might be forthcoming from the projected meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, returning here from a four day inspection of troops in Morocco, told the committee tonight he had high hopes for the full unity of all French elements in North Africa.

De Gaulle, who with Giraud is co-president of the committee, reported on his tour as well as a conference with the sultan of Morocco.

APPEALS TO DISBAND COMMUNIST PARTY IN CHINA IGNORED

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 10.—It can be said authoritatively today that the national government of China will take no forcible action to dissolve China's Communist party. Various popular cultural organizations in Fukien, Hunan, and Kwangsi provinces recently have been urging Gen. Mao Tse-tung, leader of the Community party, to dissolve the party in the interest of unity.

In a recent issue of Moscow's "The War and the Working Class," Vladimir Rogov said: "The Chinese government is facing serious internal difficulties that could result in a civil war or a Japanese victory." Rogov said he had been living in Shanghai and occupied China for the last three years.

HITLER'S PAPER PLEADS FOR AID ON HOME FRONT

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 10 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, appealed today for loyalty on the home front as the civilian attitude toward the heavy bombings and the military reverses in Russia and Sicily became a cardinal element in axis plans for carrying on the war.

The paper's appeal, addressed to those from the evacuated zones and inserted into its news columns as a small box, said, "You who come from the air raid emergency areas have shown exemplary conduct. Be true to your foster district with your confidence to help maintain the inner front."

The newspaper added in an editorial, "The attitude of the home front is the deciding one." The first Nazi newspaper to do so, it flatly acknowledged that the allied air war was not "calculated with" and "today is the special worry of the German leadership."

CANDY in the "K" Ration

Uncle Sam includes highly nourishing, energy-giving confections in every one of the special army rations to be eaten by our fighting men when away from their field kitchens. In the standard "K" ration, prepared by the Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army, for use in time of emergency and continuous combat, a concentrated form of candy is included. On the home front, too, high grade candies such as Andes are recognized for their exceptional nutritive and energy-building values—a welcome addition to the regular diet, and a delicious treat besides!

CHURCHILL IS IN QUEBEC; TO SEE ROOSEVELT SOON

Will Confer with Canadian Officials First.

ning the two prime ministers discussed the international situation and plans for Mr. Churchill's stay," and that Churchill "expressed his delight at being back in Canada, and spoke particularly of the Canadian participation in the Sicilian campaign."

Arrives by Train.

How the prime minister came across the Atlantic was not revealed, but he arrived in Quebec by train. The Churchill party left the train on the south bank of the St. Lawrence and drove into the city.

The pace of the allied offensive in Sicily, the Russian drives against Kharkov and Bryansk, successes chalked up against the Japanese at widely spaced points in the Pacific, and the stepped-up aerial hammering of Germany had made it apparent for some time that new war conferences and new decisions on the conduct of the war were in the offing.

Churchill is stopping at the Citadel, an old French fort on Quebec's highest eminence, which is the summer home of the governor general of Canada. The two prime ministers dined there tonight.

Wife and Daughter Along.

Before the Britisher arrived in Quebec, Mackenzie King met with members of the war committee of the Canadian cabinet in its first war time session outside Ottawa, the capital.

Mrs. Churchill and her daughter, Subaltern Mary Churchill of the auxiliary territorial service, came to Canada with the prime minister. This is the first time his wife has accompanied him on his trips.

Also in the official party were Wing Comdr. G. P. Gibson, who led the squadron of planes which breached the Moehne and Eder dams in Germany.

Included in Churchill's personal staff were Dr. Moran, president of the Royal College of Physicians; Gen. Hastings Ismay, the prime minister's personal chief of staff; J. M. Martin, chief private secretary; T. L. Rowan, private secretary, and Comdr. C. R. Thompson, personal assistant.

TALK TERMS FOR ITALY

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—President Roosevelt late today announced he will shortly meet with Prime Minister Winston Churchill to shape war strategy to meet the pace of swift moving world-wide developments.

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed his plans for what are expected to be the most momentous conferences of the war to date as the Canadian government officially reported Churchill had arrived in Canada.

The conferences are expected to involve the whole question of allied strategy and the disposition of American and British forces about the world in military operations aimed at knocking Germany and Japan out of the war.

It is also expected they will embrace the imminent fall of Italy and the terms for Italy's unconditional surrender. The drive on Sicily, which led to the downfall of Mussolini, was plotted at their last meeting here in May.

May Meet in Canada.

While there was nothing official on the agenda of the conferences it was considered certain that they would embrace reports that Adolf Hitler had been supplanted by a military tribunal in Germany.

Another big question before the leaders is Russia. The soviets have indicated a willingness to negotiate a separate peace with the Nazis, which would necessitate complete revision of the strategy drawn at previous meetings.

Mr. Roosevelt would not indicate the time or place of the meeting. It was expected that the conferences would probably be held in Canada.

He opened his press conference by saying that he had just received a telephone call from Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada informing him of the safe arrival of "our old friend from Great Britain." It could be assumed, he added, with a grin, they would confer.

It was reported that Churchill's visit was a gesture of gratitude to the dominion's part in the war. There had been some complaint from Canadians that their part in the war effort was being slighted.

President Roosevelt began preparing for the conferences today when he summoned Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff; Adm. King, chief of naval operations; Gen. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, and Adm. Leahy, aide to the commander in chief, for a strategy conference.

At another White House conference were Secretary of State Hull, Undersecretary Welles, Chairman Norman Davis of the Red Cross, Dr. Isaiah Bowman of Johns Hopkins university, and Dr. Leo Pasvolsky, special assistant secretary of state in charge of post-war planning.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that the talks with the state department group concerned post-war planning, and described the meeting as one in a continuing series. Concerning Mr. Churchill's visit he gave no information beyond that disclosed in Quebec.

The impending series of conferences will be the sixth between the leaders.

EMPTY TWO HOTELS

QUEBEC, Aug. 10 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill's arrival at this quaint, hilly capital was the sequel to days of bustle and uncertainty that mystified residents and travelers.

Persons arriving here received official notices that "for reasons beyond our control" the leading hostelry, the Chateau Frontenac, where Churchill has set up an office, would be closed to guests from Aug. 7 to Aug. 27. Guests were asked to check out by Aug. 7.

This week squads of women of the United States services, signal corps members, Canadian and British armed force officers and civilian officials began streaming into the Chateau. Everybody began to "explain" and guess at what was going on—but those who really knew remained mum.

Second Hotel Cleared.

Canadian and American officials moved into the chateau and into the vice regal residence of the Citadel behind the Chateau, while a nearby hotel was cleared to make way for others, including newspapermen.

The Chateau's rooms were transformed into offices and conference chambers, and armed force members took up guard around the structure.

Newspapermen's first hint of what it was about came late Monday at a press conference with Col. O. M. Biggar, Canadian censorship chief, and wartime information board representatives.

NEW SMEAR BOOK DONE BY A HACK OF MANY NAMES

Author Is Unmasked as an Anti-Semite.

The author of a new smear book entitled "Under Cover," purporting to expose fascistic activities in the United States, has been disclosed as Arthur Derounian, a foreign-born hack writer of many aliases.

Derounian hid behind the pseudonym of John Roy Carlson in attempting to escape the blame while collecting royalties for the diatribe against his adopted Americans. But his true identity and his background were brought to light by investigation in various quarters.

By his own admission, Derounian was an editor of the Christian Defender, a violent anti-Semitic publication, and has written anti-Jewish articles in which he referred to the "Yiddish Spittle press" and to "Jew stooges."

Hailed by Red Journals.

His book purports to tell of his several years of snooping into the workings of numerous organizations and his contention that they are plotting to destroy the United States. It has been widely hailed by communist and other left wing publications, but its publishers have been repeatedly warned that it is libelously untrue.

Altho Derounian has admitted that much of his previous writing was untrue, he now asks the public to believe that this time he is writing facts.

According to his own account, Derounian is an Armenian born in Alexandropolis, Greece. He has given his age variously from 27 to 34. To escape conditions from which thousands of Armenians perished, he and his parents emigrated to America in 1921.

In the parlance of his kind, Derounian is known as a "toomler," a person who accepts odd jobs of writing or investigating to make a few dollars. He has had a variety of jobs, including that of a $25 a week snooper, but now is employed as an investigator at $50 a week by the Friends of Democracy.

The organization, a haven for variegated leftists and foreign born vilifiers of Americans, is headed by the Rev. Leon M. Birkhead, the Kansas City cleric who once declared the Bible was unfit for youth, who stated publicly that "we need the shock of sex novels," and who advertised his church for rent and allowed it to be used for Communist meetings.

For a three month period Derounian was employed as a researcher on the staff of Fortune magazine, a connection that brought him across the path of Editor Russell Davenport, who, incidentally, propagandized the ill-fated launching of Wendell Willkie on the national scene.

When Derounian left there he began his double faced career of working both sides of the street insofar as inciting religious prejudice was concerned.

He became associate editor of the Christian Defender, a mimeographed sheet published for a time as the official organ of the Christian Front in New York. From there he moved to the Christian Mobilizers, headed by Joseph McWilliams, where he continued his anti-Jewish activities, particularly smearing the Jewish press.

Says He Spied on Two.

Much of the information concerning these activities came from Derounian himself as he testified last month at the New York police board trial of a patrolman charged with un-American actions.

Derounian endeavored to excuse his anti-Jewish activities by saying that he joined both the Christian Front and the Christian Mobilizers to spy on their memberships.

He also claimed to have worked as a snooper for the department of justice at a salary of $25 a week, but the FBI office in New York denied that he ever was one of its regular employes.

Derounian contended in an interview that he never had been married, but his 3-A status in the draft derives from his claim that he is married and has a son, Robert, born April 2, 1939.

Derounian admitted that he has used seven different names. In addition to his real name he has been known by the aliases of George Pagnanelli, by which he identifies himself as a lead character in his book; his pen name of Roy Carlson, and Thomas L. Decker, George Page, John Correa, and Rudolph Eibers.

P-47 GETS POWER AND SPEED FROM SUPER-CHARGER

Newest Sky Fighter Is On View at Tribune Show.

22,213 More Attend

The day's attendance at the exhibition of American aerial power in Tribune Square reached 22,213 at closing time last night. A total of 98,132 persons have visited the exhibit during its first four days. The show is open from 10 a. m. until 10:30 p. m. daily. There is no admission charge.

BY FRANK STURDY.

Air battle zones shot up into the lower reaches of the stratosphere early in the war, with every country's air force striving to produce airplanes capable of efficient operation above 35,000 feet. The American air forces' latest high altitude fighter, operating for some months in the European theatre, is the P-47 Thunderbolt, the smooth, fast plane exhibited by the army air forces materiel command in the air power show in Tribune Square.

Planes for altitude operation require special engineering. As the atmosphere thins with altitude, engines starve—just as pilots and air crews do—for oxygen. It is the Thunderbolt's super-charger, in essence an air compressor, that makes it fly fast and provides its engine with power at altitudes where many other types are virtually useless.

Speed Exceeds 400 Miles.

"How fast is the Thunderbolt?" is the question most frequently asked by the show visitors. Army officers say the exact speed is a military secret, but the air force has announced it will do more than 400 miles an hour.

A 2,000 horse power engine whirls the plane's four bladed electric propeller. The engine is a Pratt & Whitney, radial air cooled type, made by the Ford company.

Power in Super-Charger.

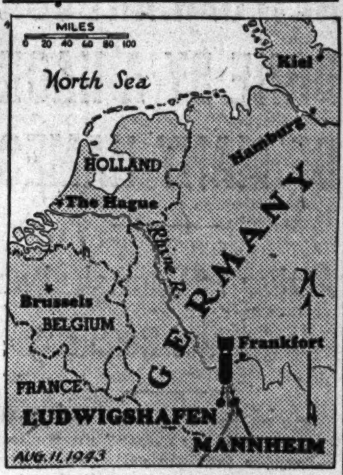
To take this big engine, and the complicated super-charging equipment concealed in the Thunderbolt's belly, the Republic company, which makes the plane, designed a big plane. It is the heaviest pursuit—nearly 13,000 pounds.

There are a few fighters that will outrun the Thunderbolt at low altitude, where the super-charging equipment is not so vital. Airplanes intended for operation at 15,000 feet or lower can fly with engines having lighter types of super-chargers built into the power plants.

From 15,000 feet on up, however, the P-47's heavy power plant delivers in full measure for its pounds. Engine exhaust gases drive a turbine connected to a blower that compresses the air to a density approximating that at sea level, enabling the cylinders to maintain high horse power output.

There are four machine guns of .50 caliber in each of the Thunderbolt's wings.

Bombed



Targets in Germany.

NAZI TARGETS BOMBED AGAIN BY R. A. F. PLANES

LONDON, Aug. 11 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The royal air force, sweeping across the channel in waves that coastal observers said indicated a raid in great force, battered Germany last night for the second successive night, the British announced today.

R. A. F. heavy bombers struck at the big twin Rhineland industrial cities of Mannheim and Ludwigshafen on Monday night and bombed them for the 57th time, after a four months' respite. Only nine of the planes were lost. The German news agency DNB reported "considerable damage" with heavy casualties in the two cities.

R. A. F. Mosquitos bombed the Ruhr at the same time while Intruders over France and Belgium punched away at the Nazi fighter force and railroads.

Clouds obscured detailed reports of the bombing of Mannheim and Ludwigshafen, situated on opposite banks of the Rhine 43 miles southwest of Frankfort, but Canadian pilots who took part in the raid said they could see the fires 100 miles away.

YANKS 2 MILES FROM LAST JAP POST ON GEORGIA

Two Flanks Move In on Bairoko Harbor.

The left flank swept aside enemy resistance to register a substantial advance, and the right flank penetrated to a point only two miles southeast of Bairoko.

Pushing north from the captured Munda air field, where there are from 30 to 40 wrecked enemy planes and a graveyard of still uncounted Japanese dead, American columns deployed around a mangrove swamp north of the 'drome.

Japs Raid Rendova.

The column pushing along the western fringe of the swamps met enemy resistance, but official reports made no mention of enemy attempts to block the advance on the right flank. It joined patrols from the American force which has been hemming in the Bairoko garrison from the northeast since landing near Enogai, July 5.

The Japanese sent a force of 50 bombers and fighters Tuesday over Rendova Island, on which the Americans landed June 30. Fourteen Airacobras, Kittyhawks, and Warhawks waded into the raiders, shooting down two and losing one of our own planes, whose pilot was saved.

Salamaua Bombed Again.

The bulletin from Gen. MacArthur also reported continued heavy aerial bombing of Salamaua, enemy air base in northeastern New Guinea, 85 tons being dropped on the township, the isthmus on which it extends into the Huon gulf, and on near-by villages.

It was disclosed that on Aug. 9 Flying Fortresses and Liberators set a new record for the Salamaua sector by dropping 142 tons.

The bulletin reported the appearance of Japanese planes on reconnaissance over Australia. Two of them, float planes, found over shipping lanes northeast of Millingimbi, were shot down. Millingimbi is an allied aerial outpost 300 miles east of Darwin.

TOKIO "SINKS" 7 CRUISERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Berlin radio broadcast a Tokio dispatch yesterday claiming that seven United States cruisers have been sunk since the beginning of American landing operations June 30 in the central Solomons and that three other cruisers were seriously damaged.

The cruiser Helena was the only American cruiser announced by allied headquarters to have been lost in the operations.

NORMANDIE MAY BE EMPTIED OF WATER IN 2 DAYS

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—The list of the former French liner Normandie was reduced to 40.8 degrees today. Capt. Bernard E. Manseau, the navy's supervisor of salvage, estimated there were 100,000 tons of water in the giant hull when pumping operations began many days ago, and that 30,000 tons still remained.

Capt. John J. Tooker, in charge of the salvage operations, said "We should be able completely to unwater the vessel within two days provided we can treat the minor leaks and adjust our pumps satisfactorily."

When all the water is removed, the ship, renamed the U. S. S. Lafayette after it was taken over from the French by the United States, is expected still to lean over at a 30 degree angle until workmen can remove 150 tons of patches and concrete fillings from the port side of the 79,000 ton ship.

AVOIDS DRAFT BY SUICIDE.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 10 (AP).—John Strong, 18 years old, of Puyallup, Wash., wrote across his army induction certificate, "This is my death warrant," and then hanged himself in his hotel room, Deputy Coroner George Hoffner said.

CHICAGOAN HAS VIVID MEMORIES OF RAMMING SUB

Lt. Parker Bryant.

A small sub chaser, on which Lt. [j. g.] Parker Bryant of Chicago and Florida, was second in command, danced madly and once seemed to stand on end while ramming and sinking a Jap submarine in an Arctic fog off the Aleutians, Lt. Bryant revealed yesterday. The navy department announced yesterday that the 170 foot craft, PC-487, had conquered the sub.

"We were helping escort a convoy thru the Pacific," Lt. Bryant told his mother-in-law, Mrs. Homer Dixon, 417 Barry avenue. "We came to a small hole in the fog. There, almost directly ahead of us, were the periscopes of a Jap sub."

The small craft dropped depth charges to bring the sub to the surface, then circled her, fired all its guns at almost point blank range and twice rammed her to send her to the bottom within 20 minutes.

"The second time we rammed her our little craft seemed to stand on end," Lt. Bryant said. "Our boat shivered and we all thought we were going down, too."

For his part in the ship-sub duel, Lt. Bryant was awarded the silver star. After a brief visit here he has returned to the west coast.

FIND SOUVENIRS THEY SEEK, WITH JAPS ATTACHED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—Two unarmed Seabees went souvenir hunting on a Southwest Pacific island and found two rifles and an ax—with live Japs attached. But they got the souvenirs.

They also left one of the Japanese dying and sent the other fleeing thru the jungle with his own bullets buzzing around his head.

The story was told today by the navy which named the men as O. F. Maly, seaman first class, and A. B. Banji, ship fitter third class.

The two met the Japanese face to face. Both Japs objected to giving up their rifles. When their arguments had been met one was dying from a blow on the head with the butt of his own weapon and the other was fleeing.

Death Toll in Hawaiian Bomber Crash Grows to 8

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Aug. 10 (AP).—The death list in the crash of a navy patrol bomber reached eight today, with the names of five civilian navy yard workers added to those of three crew members killed in the still unexplained accident. The big plane fell yesterday while maneuvering over Pearl Harbor and struck a work shed, starting a fire. In addition, 16 persons were injured.

GRIM REAPERS' AIM: TO BE BEST FLYERS IN NAVY

Squadron Member Tells How It Was Formed.

(This is the fourth article in a series which tells the story of "The Grim Reapers"—the famous Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States navy air force. It was told to Stanley Johnston, noted Tribune war correspondent, by one of the Reapers who prefers to be anonymous. It presents a vivid, personalized account of great sea and air actions in the Pacific.)

BY A GRIM REAPER.
[Member of Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States Navy.]
As told to STANLEY JOHNSTON.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

When Lt. Comdr. James H. [Jimmy] Flatley began organizing the Grim Reapers on a June morning in 1942 he had two principal objectives—to make us the flyingest, fightingest naval air squadron in the Pacific, and to instill into us every ounce of knowledge he had gained as a fighter pilot in the battle of the Coral sea and at Tulagi.

Flatley had been named on May 6 to go to San Diego, Cal., and organize, train, and command fighting squadron VF-10 [our official designation], but had obtained permission to remain and help fight the battle of the Coral sea. In that battle he learned at least one thing that we believe saved many of our lives and cost the Japs many aircraft in the months to come. We will get to that later.

A Name, and a Motto.

On the way over on the transport after the aircraft carrier Lexington had been sunk, Flatley spent most of his waking hours planning our training. He decided during that time that the squadron should have a name as well as a number. This never had been done before in the navy.

Such a thing had not been officially forbidden, however, so Flatley after considerable thought, hit on the name Grim Reapers and tried it out on several of us who had been appointed to VF-10. We thought it was swell, and one of us suggested there ought to be a motto as well. After a minute's consideration, Jimmy said:

"Okay. And there can be only one motto for a bunch of Grim Reapers: 'Mow 'em down!'"

Insignia Is Chosen.

That led to another idea, an insignia for the fuselages of our Grumman Wildcat fighting planes. On the transport was an enlisted man, Joe Wilkes—an artist—who helped design our symbol.

Then he painted it on a large piece of sail cloth—a diving skeleton with wings, wearing goggles and carrying a dripping scythe in his bony hands. That insignia is well known in the Pacific now, tho most of the Japs who have seen it close up are no longer here.

That morning in San Diego when Jimmy Flatley began accepting men for VF-10, Joe Wilkes' banner was hanging behind his desk. To each of the candidates he accepted, Jimmy said:

"This is the Reapers' battle flag. There will be no rest for any one in the squadron until all the blank space on this banner is covered with little Jap flags, each one representing the officially confirmed destruction of a Japanese plane."

26 Fledglings; Six Veterans.

When Flatley had completed the squadron he had 26 fledglings, fresh from navy flying school, and six veterans, including himself, from the southwest Pacific.

Besides Flatley, there were Lieutenants Stanley W. [Swede] Vejtasa and Fritz L. Faulkner from the carrier Yorktown, and Lieutenants T. E. [Bobby] Edwards, A. D. [Dave] Pollock Jr., and John A. Leppla, from the Lexington.

We who had been scout dive bomber pilots, flying Douglas Dauntlesses, will never forget our first experience in a Grumman Wildcat the day Flatley started our training. Those ships almost ran out from under us. Compared to the Dauntless, the Wildcat is as maneuverable as a ballet dancer against a fat comedian.

The first point Jimmy began driving home to us was the difference in merit of the Wildcat and the Japanese Zero fighting plane we were to meet in combat. The Wildcat cockpit is armored to protect the pilot. The Zero's isn't. The Wildcat has self-sealing gasoline tanks as a protection against incendiary bullets. One of these thru a Zero's tanks, means another Jap written off.

Warned of Zero's Speed.

But Flatley warned us again and again against the Zero's speed and maneuverability. These two qualities of the frail Zero often can make a vast difference in air combat.

Most of all, Flatley hammered into us the most important of the lessons he had learned in combat—that there must be no individual starring; that a successful squadron must operate as a team. Because he chose to range alone one day in the battle of the Coral sea, Jimmy had almost lost his life. Luck and the fortunes of war saved him. Over and over he told us:

"The lone wolf becomes the lost sheep. This doesn't mean the squadron cannot separate into groups, but it does mean there always must be at least two of us together, even in combat."

Good Boss, But Tough.

Jimmy Flatley was a good boss but a hard master. He kept us at it from can-see till can't-see. We studied Zero fighter tactics and ways of combating them. We learned to fly the Grummans and to use those six .50 caliber guns mounted in the wings. The devastation wrought upon targets by those six streams of heavy lead was a thrilling sight.

Then, in August, we got our orders to proceed to Pearl Harbor. We were excited and proud to learn that Lt. Comdr. W. R. [Killer] Kane of Adm. W. F. Halsey's staff wanted to join the Reapers. Thru Capt. Miles Browning, he got his release from the admiral and became our executive officer. It gave a great lift to our morale to know that a man privileged to be on Wild Bill Halsey's staff wanted to come with us.

A Cripple Is Rejected.

Here, too, Lt. Gordon Fierbaugh, one of the heroes in the early air fighting off Guadalcanal, applied to Jimmy Flatley for a post with the Reapers. Jimmy wanted him, but since Fierbaugh had been shot up in his last battle, our boss insisted he have a physical examination.

Fierbaugh put this off as long as possible, but eventually had to take it. The X-ray showed his back to be fractured in two places and Jimmy had to turn him down. But again we were flattered because a man of his record had wanted to fly with us.

Then, on a bright day in October we learned the Reapers had been assigned to "the fightingest ship in the navy"—the mighty aircraft carrier U. S. S. Enterprise. And we were within a short time of seeing real action.

BATAAN FATHER DEMANDS NATION HELP PRISONERS

If President Roosevelt and the administration are turning deaf ears to Gen. MacArthur and the boys of Bataan because they fear Gen. MacArthur's political potency, then plenty of trouble is going to develop right here at home, Lt. John Peterson, member of the Maywood police department and president of Maywood Bataan clan, said yesterday. Peterson's son, Robert, was a member of the 192d tank battalion, which served on Bataan, and is now a Japanese prisoner, as are most other men in the battalion.

The Maywood clan will meet Aug. 29 to announce its wholehearted support of Dr. V. H. Spensley of Albuquerque, N. M., president of the National Bataan Relief organization. Dr. Spensley visited Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Washington last week in an attempt to establish a route to send medical supplies and food to the Japanese-held prisoners in the Philippines. Dr. Spensley's son, Homer, died in a Japanese prison camp three weeks ago.

Administration Condemned.

En route home last Thursday, Dr. Spensley told members of the Chicago chapter of Bataan Relief organization and the Maywood clan that the present administration "doesn't give a damn what happens to the boys on Bataan, who are the forgotten men of this war." He said the administration repeatedly had shunned Gen. MacArthur and that, as a result, the Bataan Relief organization would use the next election as a means of attempting to get some one to help Japanese-held prisoners.

The Chicago chapter of Bataan Relief organization will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in room 500 at 537 South Dearborn street to pledge 100 per cent support of Dr. Spensley's program. The chapter plans to get signatures of 25,000 mothers who have sons in the army and navy, and send postal cards to congressmen urging Bataan relief.

Woman Pledges Help.

"Dr. Spensley's boy is dead, but he is willing to take up the torch and continue the fight for relief," said Mrs. Lucy Palermo, chairman of the Chicago chapter. "Our boys, we hope, are alive. We're going back to Bataan!"

"The administration officials have failed," Lt. Peterson said. "They don't want Gen. MacArthur to get too big. Their delay at the war's outbreak was responsible for the Japanese building a ring of steel above Australia. Gen. MacArthur is fighting desperately now to break that ring.

Criticizes Roosevelt.

"Roosevelt has turned his back on Gen. MacArthur, and our boys are the victims. Lt. Col. Carlos Romola of the Philippine constabulary, which was organized by Gen MacArthur, told me that there are between 7,000 and 8,000 Americans and 45,000 to 50,000 Filipinos held by the Japanese. If Dr. Spensley wants to make this thing a political issue, we in Maywood will back him 100 per cent."

Lt. Peterson added the national Bataan Relief organization had heard that negotiations might be begun to send supplies to Bataan thru the Russian embassy. He sent a telegram to President Roosevelt on July 25 urging action in getting the boys transferred to neutral countries and hospitalized there. He received an answer on Aug. 3 from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Blasts Stimson's Reply.

"Stimson might just as well have saved his energy for all the answer amounted to," said Peterson. "He said that until negotiations were completed it would be impossible to send medical supplies and food.

"We're going all-out to send a steady stream of supplies to Europe while our boys rot in Jap prison camps. Why can't we give Gen. MacArthur what he wants and let him go to the rescue of the Philippines? Why can't we save our own flesh and blood, who fought to the last ounce of gunpowder on Bataan and Corregidor? Maywood wants her boys back alive, and she's going to see that nothing stands in her way."

HOLDUP MAN GETS $80.

A gunman forced David Greenberg, clerk in a United Cigar store at 2001 Division street, into a rear room yesterday and robbed the cash register of $80.

This is a Picture of a lady examining a severe case of JEALOUSY

Her husband doesn't know it at the moment, but she is going to demand he read it before he goes to bed . . .

IT ALL began when Sinclair Lewis and a friend started discussing human emotions. Jealousy they agreed has probably caused the greatest amount of trouble.

The editor of Cosmopolitan was talking to Mr. Lewis about a forthcoming story. In the course of the conversation Mr. Lewis sounded off about the interesting information that scientists have been able to dig up about such intangible subjects as the "why" of human emotions. Mr. Lewis was so full of it that our editor suggested that maybe he would prefer to write a story about jealousy rather than the one they had started out to discuss.

"GREEN EYES" is the story, and it starts on page 20 of the September issue of Cosmopolitan which is on the newsstands today.

Mr. Lewis has an unusual knack of being able to translate and make interesting a subject that heretofore has been limited to a small number of scientists.

Cosmopolitan editors are constantly on the lookout for subjects of this kind—and more important, for treatments of this kind. They have found after many years of experience that one of the easiest ways to educate the American people and to hold their attention is to surround the subject with a certain amount of entertainment. Of course, Mr. Lewis is a past master of this difficult art.

The September issue of Cosmopolitan, like all issues, is loaded with stories and articles of interest to both "Mr." and "Mrs." Perhaps on the basis of straight choice the husband in the picture above would prefer to read first Raymond Clapper's story on the possibility of bombing Germany out of the War in 1944.

Our Editors also have a hunch that "The Lady and the Tigers" will join that select circle of best sellers that have been appearing regularly during the past 12 months. The rest of this page is made up of items which are also in the September issue. They will give you some idea of the great variety included in this issue.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

AIR TRANSPORT SERVICE COVERS EARTH IN 2 YEARS

Held Basis for Whole Post-War Network.

BY DONALD MacKENZIE.
[Correspondent of the New York News.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 10.—Within the brief space of two years the United States army has organized and girdled the globe with the greatest air transport organization ever conceived. It is the air transport command and it will be the foundation upon which the world's whole post-war communications network will be built.

Its personnel, headed by Maj. Gen. Harold George in Washington, D. C., approaches the million mark. Its fleet numbers thousands of planes and it operates daily over every country in the world except axis, Russian, and neutral territories, carrying the mails, freight, and war-important personalities of every nationality in the united nations' cause.

Seven wings, headed by high ranking army officers, provide zones of service based on Australia, India, the middle east, Great Britain, Seattle, Wash., Washington, D. C., and Natal, Brazil.

Centers on Middle East.

But nowhere are the accomplishments of ATC more strikingly observed than in this middle east theater where the field is largest, difficulties the greatest and the need for fast, modern communications most urgent.

The nerve center is West Africa, where Brig. Gen. Earle Hoag, chief of wing, has his headquarters. More than a score of air routes radiate from Accra out to the Americas and over the most desolute wastes of Africa. The southern hinge is in the Belgian Congo. Thence planes entirely operated and serviced by Americans fly to every town and city in the vast northern half of the dark continent.

The planes hop to Cyprus, Lebanon, Palestine, Syria, India, and China and there is not a landing field in all that vast territory where there is not an American ground crew, service station and traffic personnel. Nor is there one pertinent fact about flying and maintaining aircraft that the air transport command has failed to catalog and file against the day when post-war air lines will revolutionize world communications.

DC 3 Is Backbone Type.

One fact stands out in bold relief: Tho all types of big four engined craft, including the super-transport plane C 54, are used by the air transport command, the backbone of the service is the American DC 3, so familiar to United States internal air lines.

These big craft shuttle back and forth across all oceans daily, carrying medicines, spare parts for engines, urgent freight and passengers, and tho they have flown more than a million miles, not one has ever had a mishap or casualty over water.

Overall casualties have been so trifling as to be negligible, an important executive officer of command said.

This officer recalled that jeeps, parts for Sherman tanks which had turned the tide at El Alamein; animals, guns, and every conceivable form of urgent war equipment, had been flown right up to operational fronts by ATC pilots and machines. Hundreds of thousands of letters—to give the United States troops the best mail service of any army—have been flown to all corners where our men are serving.

Flying Priest Is Injured When Plane Falls in Field

The Rev. Stanley Lemanowski, 27 years old, a Catholic priest, of 2311 Southport avenue, suffered a possible ankle fracture and bruises and cuts on the head and face yesterday when the plane he was flying crashed in a field at 135th street and 88th avenue, Orland township. Father Lemanowski, a student pilot, was practicing landings and take-offs. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet.

Finds Many Yanks Desire to Remain in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 11 (AP).—Many American soldiers desire to settle in Australia after the war, Erle E. Dickover, retiring United States consul general, said tonight. "The common war has chucked the necessity of Australia-American co-operation into our lap," he added. He spoke at a farewell meeting.

BROOKLYN SICILY CAPTIVES' GOAL, SAYS CHICAGOAN

Italian prisoners captured in Sicily and taken aboard American warships had one common desire—they "wanted to go to Brooklyn," Lt. Comdr. Melvin L. Petersen related in a letter received yesterday by his family at 8043 Ellis avenue. Petersen, for 20 years an engineer with the Commonwealth Edison company, has been in naval service since April, 1941, and is the father of a son, Roger Melvin, 2 years old, whom he never has seen.

The landing of American troops under gunfire at 3 a. m., July 10 at Scoglitti, Sicily from a transport was preceded by tremendous gunfire from the allied fleet, Petersen related.

"Bombing planes tried to bomb us after lighting the skies with flares," he wrote of the action, "and two were shot down 100 yards from our ship."

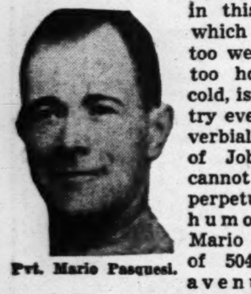
NO JAP CAN TAKE THE GRIN FROM PRIVATE MARIO

North Shore Gardener Is Orderly in Guinea.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Pvt. Mario Pasquesi.

WITH U. S. FORCES IN THE SALAMAUA AREA, Aug. 4 [Delayed]. — Living in this country, which is either too wet, too dry, too hot, or too cold, is enough to try even the proverbial patience of Job. But it cannot ruffle the perpetual good humor of Pvt. Mario Pasquesi of 504 Railway avenue, Highwood, Ill., whose dahlias took first prize in the Garfield park show in 1936.

Mario, born in Italy 31 years ago and a resident of Chicagoland for 14 years, was drafted early last year and sent overseas with an artillery outfit. For a while he was a cook, but he now serves as orderly for Capt. Theodore Helmer of Bonners Ferry, Idaho. Mario and Helmer have a mutual admiration for each other, each claiming the other is perfect.

Mario keeps Helmer's gear in the proper place, as immaculate as New Guinea allows, and performs with dispatch whatever Helmer requests. He still has time to do little things for other persons.

Former Hotel Cook.

Mario is one of the best liked men in the battery; neither rain, nor Jap shells, nor C ration are enough to erase his friendly grin. He worked for six years as one of the cooks for Moraine-on-the-Lake hotel in Highland Park, and as a gardener for various north shore families. His last employer was Edward M. Steele of 100 Linden Park, Highland Park. His wife, Adele, works at the Highland Park hospital.

M. S. Pajonk [left], Julius Orlando, and Jerome Lucich [right].

I asked Mario how he liked America.

"For me it couldn't be better," he said. "At least, you can do what you like. I do not like dictators."

The nearest I have ever heard him come to complaining was last night when every one was sitting around discussing what they would like to do when they return to the United States. Mario was the last to speak, but what he said was the essence of nostalgia which lies beneath all soldiers' banter. He said:

"I think I spend plenty of time in that easy chair in the front room when I get home."

Other Chicagoans There.

Well, lots of other midwesterners are helping to fight the Japs in one way or the other here. There is Pvt. Russel R. Thomas, 25 years old, who won the Indianapolis Amateur golf tournament in 1938 and since has been a small time professional as a medical aid man.

Then there are Pvt. Mike S. Pajonk, 4636 South Honore street, Chicago; Pvt. Jerome J. Lucich, 2496 Blue Island avenue, Chicago, a former laborer; Pvt. Don Kenny, 710 East 90th street, Chicago, formerly employed at the Illinois Central, and Staff Sgt. Julius K. Orlando, 10306 Calhoun avenue, Chicago, formerly with International Harvester, whose captain says he is one of the best men in the countryside.

They are all doing their part, whether as an orderly, in the medical supply corps, a linesman, or anything else. And when an American soldier does his part there is little left to be desired.

The front lines were fairly inactive today, but one of our patrols crawled within 30 yards of a strong Jap position and waited till the closest machine gunner rose to his feet to stretch, then some one put a slug between his eyes and the others tossed grenades into a pillbox. The patrol withdrew without loss.

Yankee marksmen also accounted for six Japs yesterday by accurate shooting. There is no way of telling what killing is done by the artillery and the air corps, but if noise is any criterion there is plenty.

WIFE GETS TWO LETTERS.

Two letters expressing the hope that victory would come soon were received yesterday by Mrs. Adele Pasquesi of 504 Railway avenue, Highwood, Ill., from her husband, Pvt. Mario Pasquesi. Pasquesi came to the United States from Italy in 1929 and was naturalized in 1934. He has one brother in this country and two in Italy.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Margaret O'Day, 900 Clinton place, River Forest.]

THE QUESTION.

What have you brought upon yourself thru stubbornness?

WHERE ASKED.

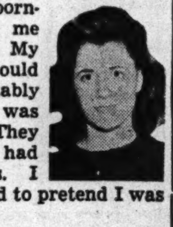
Uptown bank building.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. William Rex, housewife, 4548 North Avers avenue—My husband and I were looking forward to his two weeks' vacation. He wanted to spend it in the country and I wanted to spend it right here in the city. We each stubbornly stuck to our own plans and neither had a good time.

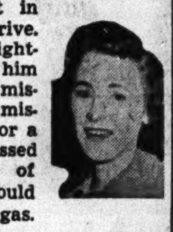
Greta Schmitt, student, 4725 North Hermitage avenue—There was a certain date that my mother didn't want me to keep. I told her that if she wouldn't permit me to go I wouldn't spend the summer with my grandmother in Iowa. It didn't work. I denied myself that trip and pouted all summer.

Mrs. Joseph Persily, housewife, 4425 Hazel avenue—On too many occasions my husband has kept me waiting for appointments he has made with me. I told him that if he didn't meet me promptly at 8 we wouldn't go to the opera. We were anticipating a good time. He was late and I stubbornly refused to go.



Betty Pagano, student, 848 Lakeside place—It was a combination of vanity and stubbornness that caused me much discomfort. My mother told me I could never comfortably wear the shoes I was about to buy. They were too small and had high French heels. I wore them and had to pretend I was enjoying it.

Mrs. Carl Harris, housewife, 843 Dakin street—Several years before we were married I told my fiance I was going to work my way thru college before I'd even consider marriage. Because my friends and my fiance said I'd change my mind I was more determined than ever. Thus I denied myself an extra year of happiness.



Gloria Mae Serlin, student, 4811 North Harding avenue—My father had been patient in teaching me to drive. My mistakes frightened me and I told him if I made one more mistake I'd give up. I mistook a red light for a green one and missed the opportunity of driving when we could still get plenty of gas.

LANZA VISIONS NEW INTRIGUES BY JAPS, NAZIS

Parleys in Berlin Held Highly Significant.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

The resignation of Mussolini took place on July 25. Four days later Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, Japanese ambassador at Berlin, was received by Chancellor Hitler.

To Japan, the collapse of Italy was seen as a prelude to the possible early defeat of Germany. If this happened, Japan's position in the Pacific would appear to be nearly hopeless. She acted quickly.

What Oshima said to Hitler was so important that a meeting of the German high command was immediately called and lasted until Aug. 4. The German press has featured this conference and the presence there of the Jap ambassador. His proposals must have received a sympathetic hearing. What were they?

Nazis Losing Ground.

Germany is in serious trouble—with the Rusisan campaign, the bombing of her industries, and with Italy. It would be to her advantage to settle any one of these. In Russia, Germany is losing territory. According to the Russians, Germany has lost in the first month of the present battle: 12,418 prisoners, 1,623 guns, 4,605 tanks, 2,492 planes.

The Germans say that the Russians in the same period lost: 69,164 prisoners, 3,183 guns, 7,847 tanks, 3,083 planes.

If the figures are correct they indicate that the Russian losses are high, and the Germans may, if they can keep the battle going, ultimately wear the Russians out. But the losses are certainly severe and Germany would like to end this war.

Jap Concessions Possible.

So would Japan; for unless this happens, Germany may be defeated, which would be bad for Japan. So it seems probable that Oshima carried some proposal for a peace. Due to the importance to Japan of keeping Germany in the war, concessions might be made by her to Russia to induce her to accept a separate peace. She might return the south half of Sakhalin, or the north part of Manchukuo. She has an ambassador in Moscow, and is in a good position to act as an intermediary.

Japan does not need the oil in Sakhalin, but it would be valuable to Russia. Sakhalin in Russian hands would relieve Japan from guarding it, and might prevent us from using it for air fields on our march to Tokio.

Germany Looks for Help.

In its manifestos of July 22 and Aug. 1, broadcast in German, Russia called upon Germany to repudiate Naziism and make peace; promised amnesty at least to some, and assured the continued existence of Germany. Japan appears to be trying to bring the two parties together, for her own sake, not theirs.

The single condition made by Russia in its manifestos was that Naziism must be destroyed. As pointed out by this writer, Germany will not hesitate to change its form of government if it would thereby obtain some benefit.

A start seems to have been made in the report that Field Marshal Keitel, Grand Adm. Doenitz, and Reich Marshal Goering have been appointed as some sort of an executive triumvirate to supervise military and foreign affairs, possibly with full powers to negotiate. Gradually Hitler may lose much of his authority, and he may then disappear from the stage

In Bargaining Position.

Germany is in a serious condition, but so far as we know, not desperately so. She is in a position to bargain. Immediately after the conference of the German high command Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop flew to Italy to acquaint that country with what was going on. It must have encouraged Italy; otherwise there would have been no sense in making the visit. Nor would Field Marshal Keitel have arrived later to discuss military matters.

German and Japanese conferences, and intrigues, are not yet over. When they are a new turn may be given to the war. In the meantime, watch should be kept over them. Undoubtedly, the allied governments are doing this.

ENGLAND BUYS TEA SUPPLY OF NON-AXIS WORLD

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP).—Food Minister Woolton announced today he had bought the world's whole non-axis tea supply for next year estimated at 312,500 tons.

He did it as a representative of the combined food board which, under international agreement, will allot tea to the allied and neutral nations on the same basis as last year.

"We lost supplies from the Netherlands and East Indies, but there will be sufficient for everybody," he said.

RESCUE THREE WOMEN IN FIRE.

Three women defense workers were rescued by firemen yesterday when a blaze caused $3,100 damage to a rooming house at 2904 Cermak road. The women were carried down ladders to safety. Firemen said the blaze was started by careless use of exterminating fluid.

ASKS CONGRESS TO DISCONTINUE FSA 'RAINBOW'

Charges Millions Wasted on 'Dream' Farms.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10 (AP).—Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.] declared tonight he hopes congress will discontinue what he called a farm security administration "rainbow" on which millions of dollars have been spent.

The congressman said the "rainbow" was designed by Rexford G. Tugwell, now governor of Puerto Rico, when he was farm security administrator and consisted of thousands of collective farms in the United States patterned on those in Russia.

"They are, almost without exception, devoid of authority of law," the North Carolinian said in an interview. He is chairman of a house committee inquiring into FSA operations.

Congress Blocks Funds.

"Someone had a dream back in 1935 and designed a rainbow," Cooley continued. "We are trying to find its end. But it's so complicated I doubt if we ever will."

He asserted congress has declined to make further appropriations for the FSA until corrective legislation has been enacted.

"The agency, created as a relief measure by executive order, to date has spent more than a billion dollars," Cooley said.

"Much of the expenditure was not authorized by the act, and $10,000,000 of expenditures have been suspended for this reason. We are convinced that many, many more millions will also be found to be unauthorized.

Many Kinds of Schemes.

"We have found the whole 'rainbow' is honeycombed with all kinds of corporate schemes and is a maze of astounding land purchasing, land settlement and land leasing projects.

"For instance, one in Texas was set up as a self-perpetuating 'charity' corporation, with three FSA men on the pay roll as officials. This corporation, which had no provisions for the payment of dividends to the tenant farmers, acquired 26,000 acres of rich farm land, and as a consequence, was enabled to borrow huge sums.

"Without any plans for ultimate tenant ownership, this project would remain a ward of the government forever.

"At Chandler, Ariz., 60 apartments were set up to house workers to develop 300 acres of land, with full dairy equipment and a fine dairy herd. Only four coöperative members remain there. The rest, living rent free in the government apartments, work where they please.

Illinois Solon in Group.

"A farm family can make a living on a $3,800 farm, but in some of the projects we have found the government invested more than $35,000 per farm family.

"We found families making up to $250 a month living in FSA houses rent free and some families making $400 a month paying the government $1.75 or $2 a week rent, with all medical attendance and utilities included. The houses are the kind a congressman would like to find for himself in Washington.

KENNEDY WINS TAMMANY HALL CONTROL FIGHT

New York, Aug. 11 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Unofficial figures early today appeared to indicate that Tammany Leader Michael J. Kennedy emerged from yesterday's primary as possibly the strongest leader of New York City's Democratic organization since the days of the late Charles Murphy.

Kennedy's claim of six victories out of nine contests against his leadership gave him control of 22⅔ votes out of 25 on the Democratic New York county executive committee.

A claim by the left wing of the ALP that it had won control of the party's New York county organization was conceded to be true early today by the opposing right wing. The left wing has dominated the New York county organization in the past.

SAILOR SLASHED BY ZOOT SUITER AFTER REVENGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10 [Special].—Zoot suit warfare was renewed on the Ridge route today when two men picked up a hitchhiking sailor, drove onto a dirt road, and slashed his leg with a springback knife.

Seaman John Horan, attached to the naval personnel center at Pleasanton, Cal., described the attack to sheriff's deputies after he crawled back to the highway and was picked up by another motorist.

One of the "zooters" drew a .38 caliber revolver, Horan said, and ordered him out of the car, explaining that another sailor had kicked him during the zoot suit riots in Los Angeles and that he was going to get revenge. Attempting to sever a tendon, he made a three inch gash and drove away.

TRAFFIC POLICE ADOPT V SIGN UNTIL VICTORY

Chicago traffic police are doing such an excellent job bolstering morale and building courage among citizens by giving every one the V signal with their fingers that they will go on giving the sign until the war is won, Chief of Traffic David Flynn said yesterday.

The signal, made by holding up the hand with only the index and second fingers extended, was ordered a fortnight ago to replace the usual upraised arm.

"The traffic officer is the criterion by which strangers judge a city," Flynn said. "Spirit and moral courage can do great things. Traffic officers are helping build spirit and moral courage."

ORPHANS MADE CIRCUS PROXIES OF BOND BUYERS

Hundreds of orphans are going to see the Ringling Brothers' circus free on Aug. 24 on tickets which war bond purchasers turn back to the State Street council circus war bond drive committee, W. D. Nugent, chairman of the drive committee, said yesterday.

Nugent said that about 5,000 of the 10,500 circus tickets offered to bond purchasers have been claimed. The committee hopes to dispose of $200,000 to $300,000 worth of bonds at State street stores. A bond selling rally will be held at State and Madison streets from noon to 2 p. m. today.

Bonds in any denomination from $25 to $1,000 may be purchased, with the higher bonds commanding the best seats. Nugent said that twelve $1,000 bonds have been sold but that the committee was primarily interested in the widest possible sale of $25 bonds.

INQUIRY BLAMES GLIDER CRASH ON DEFECTIVE PART

Found Much Thinner than Specified.

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP).—An investigator for the house military affairs committee reported today that the St. Louis glider crash which took the lives of 10 persons Aug. 1, was caused by a defective part supporting the glider wing.

Committee Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] released the report, which said:

"The general impression of all the army air force officers, including the air force inspection board, with which I agree, was that a defective part in the lower end of the strut supporting and attaching the right wing to the lower side of the fuselage of the glider gave way, allowing the right wing to fold up and break itself loose from the upper part of the fuselage.

Less Than Required Thickness.

"This defective part was supposed to be, according to specifications, approximately ⅜ of an inch thick at a shoulder in it, but according to information available from all those who carefully examined it after the crash, it was approximately 1/16 of an inch in thickness at this point where it broke and permitted this strut to release the right wing and cause the accident."

Prather said that on visiting the plant where this glider was assembled, he and an army officer obtained a similar part from the plant storeroom and found it "was approximately ninety-one thousandths of an inch under air forces requirements for thickness."

Criticizes Inspection Service.

Upon visiting another plant, the report said, "we found that, according to their records, approximately 25 per cent of parts similar to this had been rejected as defective and not meeting specifications."

The preliminary report added:

"It is my personal opinion and this seemed confirmed by conferences with air forces inspection officers and other technical officers that the inspection service in the small contractor's plants is slack and inefficient.

REPORTS PURSE SNATCHED.

Miss Clara Morgan, 4750½ West Chicago avenue, reported to Wabash avenue police that a Negro boy snatched her purse containing $2, keys and identification, at 40 street and Indiana avenue yesterday.

VOTERS TO CURB BUROCRAT RULE, SENATOR AVERS

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 10 (AP).—Sen. E. H. Moore [R., Okla.] declared in a radio address tonight that the American people "are more concerned about losing their government at home than they are about winning the war."

"The people now know," the Oklahoma senator asserted, "that congress has vested too much power in the President and that congress was remiss in its duties when it allowed the executive branch to become so powerful thru the building up of a burocracy which has become a substitute for constitutional government."

BEFORE THE BIG "FISH" GETS AWAY

BOYS who used to ride the "North Western" home from vacation, complaining about the "big one that got away," are now on PT boats, in submarines, or flying torpedo planes, getting another kind of big "fish" away where it counts most.

But before those torpedoes are launched the shell must be manufactured at one place, the explosive at another, and the assembly completed at a third, and then transported to ocean cargo vessels. All of these operations require extensive rail service. By the same token, foods must be transported from farm to processor, from processor to consumer. And fighting men must be moved from home to camp, from camp to camp, and to ports of embarkation. This transportation is the job the railroads are performing.

Men, munitions, supplies—all are being moved in quantities unheard of before. It's the biggest transportation problem in history—a problem which is being handled swiftly, efficiently, by American railroads.

"North Western's" 32,000 skilled railroaders are proud to share the solving of this problem, and their continued effort will be limited only by the supply of materials obtained to maintain track and equipment adequately.

Rush Hour Loads of 40,000 Predicted.

Assurance that the new State street subway would be ready for operation by Oct. 1 and that the north-south elevated trains using it would handle 40,000 passengers an hour in rush hours was given yesterday at an Illinois commerce commission hearing.

The hearing, before Examiners James R. Clark and Howard West, was started on the petition of the city for the establishment of transfer points, in and near the loop, where passengers could change from the surface and bus lines to the subway, or from the subway to the other transportation agencies, without paying an extra fare.

Harley Johnson, operating chief of the elevated lines, testified that as soon as the tubes were turned over to the lines he could train crews and have all arrangements completed for the subway runs in 30 days. Atty. William H. Sexton, for the city, said that little more construction remained to be done and that the property, built with government funds totaling more than 60 million dollars, would be tendered to the elevated lines by Sept. 1.

Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., city traction engineer, said that the subway had cost about 10 million dollars a mile and that it would benefit all the citizens of Chicago only if passengers could transfer in the loop and near-by areas.

Schedule of Transfers.

The proposed plans call for such transfers at North avenue, Division street, Chicago, and Grand avenues to the north, at Harrison street and Roosevelt road to the South, and at every State street intersection in the loop.

Representatives of the elevated and bus lines said they were willing to go along with the interchange transfers anywhere. Atty. Jacob Grossman wanted to know more about the practical aspect of the plans, which involve intricate technical points. The hearing will continue this afternoon.

AFL ACTION DUE TODAY ON LEWIS' RE-ENTRY MOVE

The executive board of the American Federation of Labor, in session in the Drake hotel yesterday, deferred action on John L. Lewis' application for reëntry into the AFL until today. Lewis is president of the United Mine Workers. His application is opposed by the Progressive Mine Workers' union.

A committee headed by Daniel J. Tobin, teamsters' international president, appointed to study the application, reported its findings to the board. The PMW delegation headed by President Lloyd Thrush argued against the UMW's readmittance.

William Green, president of the AFL, disclosed that 200 federal locals with a membership of 50,000 chemical workers had applied for a charter for the formation of their own international union of chemical workers. Action will be taken by the council on the application during the week, Green said. The board yesterday adopted a resolution to continue opposition to any change in the Chinese exclusion act. Green said that changes should be held up until after the war.

Yulin Hsi, a member of the Chinese People's Political council, has arrived in Chicago to study the city administration. Chicago will be the 34th municipality he has studied since his arrival in the United States last February.

Gun Tragedy

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

MRS. ELEANOR ERKELENS.

Francis J. Erkelens, 39 years old, will be subjected to a second lie detector test today in connection with the death of his wife, Eleanor, 37, who was killed by a blast from a shotgun which he told police he was cleaning. He was submitted to a test yesterday but he displayed such nervousness, police said, that the results were not conclusive.

An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. today in the county morgue.

Mrs. Erkelens was slain as she lay in bed in the Erkelens' home at 7213 South Hoyne avenue about 1 a. m. yesterday.

Slugs from the gun, which Erkelens said he was cleaning while in the living room, penetrated the 4 inch wall of his wife's bedroom and struck her in the neck.

Francis McCurrie, assistant state's attorney, reported that Erkelens, tho emotionally upset, did not change his story of his wife's death.

There are two sons, George, 17, and William, 16. George was asleep in another bedroom when his mother was killed; William, Erkelens said, was in Michigan.

Erkelens said the gun was discharged accidentally when he rose while cleaning it to go to the front door.

500 AFL WORKERS STRIKE IN WAR PLANT IN CICERO

Five hundred members of the AFL United Auto Workers union, local 717, went on strike yesterday at the Chicago Extruded Metals company, 1642 South 54th avenue, Cicero. The strike was called even tho the workers were notified by the regional war labor board that all five points in dispute before the board had been decided, a board official said.

J. E. Kuczma, officer in charge of strikes for the board, sent telegrams to the company and the union in an effort to learn the cause of the strike and to notify the union that the board's order would be withheld indefinitely if the workers did not return to work.

Emmet R. Firchow, secretary-treasurer of the company, said that he knew of no reason for the strike, because the company had no grievance with the union. He said that the company is engaged entirely in war work, manufacturing brass rods and other essential war materials on subcontract.

The United Steel Workers' union, local 1014, which represents 23,000 workers in the Gary works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, was reported yesterday to have taken action to prevent further unauthorized strikes at the plant. The union met Monday night, company officials were informed, and passed a resolution which is said to provide for expulsion of all workers who take part in unauthorized strikes. The union's threat resulted in the return of 180 cranemen and hookers to their jobs yesterday morning. They struck Monday morning after being refused an increase in pay under a wage incentive plan.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF ROBBING MAIL BOXES; ARRESTED

Mrs. Anna Menna, 57 years old, 911 South Racine avenue, was held last night at the central police station at the request of postoffice inspectors, who were informed she had been stealing from apartment house mail boxes. She was arrested by Police Sgt. Francis J. Donohue in the vestibule of the building at 5107 Augusta boulevard, in which he lives. Donohue said that Mrs. Menna admitted opening a letter addressed to him and, later, that she had robbed a number of mail boxes in recent months.

START RETRIAL TODAY IN MELON SLAYING CASE

The retrial of Athon Papas, 59 years old, who was sentenced to 99 years in prison four years ago for the slaying of a girl as she fled from his fruit stand after a watermelon had been smashed, will start today in the Criminal court of Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro. A jury of six men and six women was sworn in yesterday.

Papas' conviction was reversed and the case remanded for trial last December by the Illinois Supreme court on the ground that the trial judge failed to instruct the jurors on a manslaughter finding. Papas killed Miss Murial Campbell, 18, of Berwyn near his store at 5624 North avenue in a quarrel with five young persons he had accused of trying to steal a watermelon. The melon was smashed and Papas fired a revolver at the fleeing youths. The girl was shot.

One of the first trial witnesses, Harry Feigenbaum, formerly of 5547 Congress street, who was in the group of youths, is an army bombardier and has been reported missing in Africa. Two other prosecution witnesses also are in the army.

FACES COURT IN LAKE PLUNGE.

Mrs. Grace Morley, 20 years old, 3709 Fremont street, who plunged into the lake off Waveland avenue last Wednesday after a quarrel with her husband, Jack, an army sergeant, appeared with him in Women's court yesterday. She was placed under court supervision by Judge Cecil C. Smith until Oct. 28.

NEIGHBORS WIN COMPROMISE ON DEFENSE HOMES

Only 10 defense type houses of the 20 planned will be built along Parnell avenue from 105th to 107th streets as the result of a compromise yesterday between Teninga & Co., builders, of 10833 South Michigan avenue, and a group of property owners who claimed the houses were of a type which would "cheapen the neighborhood." Excavation work on the 10 units has started. Atty. John P. Loughnane, representing the property owners, will explain terms of the compromise at a meeting tonight at 10659 Wentworth avenue.

WOMAN BLAMES GRIEF FOR BABY THEFT IMPULSE

Caught After She Makes Two Mistakes.

Albany, Ore., Aug. 10 [Special].—Mrs. Catherine Erline Wright, 26 year old wife of an army sergeant, told authorities today that her kidnaping Aug. 3 of 2 day old Judith Gurney from the Albany hospital was a spur-of-the-moment act which she committed after learning that she was not to have the baby she had expected for months.

Distracted by disappointment, Mrs. Wright said, she wandered into the street a week ago last night and, without any specific plan, walked eight blocks to the hospital. There she entered by the main entrance and went directly to the nursery on the 2d floor without being questioned by any one.

Picking up the baby in the nearest crib, she said, she carried it down the back stairs and returned to the home where she was living with another couple.

Hearing Continued.

County Atty. Harlow Weinrick made public this version of Mrs. Wright's confession following her arraignment on a charge of child stealing. Proceedings were continued when she told Justice of the Peace Victor Oliver that she was without funds and wanted an attorney.

Weinrick revealed that the arrest of Mrs. Wright and the recovery of the baby yesterday resulted from two mistakes made by the woman, each of which brought a tip to police.

One mistake, he said, was for her to do the family washing as usual Aug. 9 and to appear in the sight of neighbors hanging up washing including diapers and baby clothes. A neighbor who doubted that the mother of a 6 day old infant could do the family washing notified police.

Early Arrival Suspicious.

Her other mistake, according to the prosecutor, was the sending of a birth announcement to a woman in Portland to whom she had previously confided she was to have a baby in September. This woman, surprised at the arrival of the baby several weeks early and noticing the proximity of the birth to the hospital kidnaping, also notified police.

Weinrick said he was convinced that Sgt. Jesse Wright, husband of Mrs. Wright, accepted the baby as his own when he came home last week-end for a furlough.

Back with its real mother, Mrs. W. B. Gurney of Albany, the baby was reported in excellent health. Mrs. Gurney, who was near collapse last week after the baby's disappearance, was said to be happy and near recovery.

FAINTING BANDIT MEETS A VICTIM; NEITHER SWOONS

A fainting bandit and a fainting victim renewed acquaintances in the Maxwell street police station yesterday, but there was no special showing of guns and nobody fainted.

Charles Nelson, 5 North Carpenter street, identified John Clark, 20 years old, and John Montregon, 17, as the pair who robbed the "L" station at 14th and Paulina streets, where he is cashier, on Aug. 3.

"They took 30 cents from me," Nelson said. "Then I fainted."

Another "L" station cashier, Miss Mary Tracy, 4929 West Jackson boulevard, employed at the Kilbourne and Harrison streets station, said she surrendered $4.05 to the two youths the same night. She said she didn't faint.

The two youths were arrested Monday when they went to a currency exchange at 1249 Roosevelt road to rob it. At the crucial moment, Clark fainted. The cashier, Miss Juniata Moore, 22, revived him by throwing a glass of cold water in his face and turned the two over to police.

Police said the two would be brought into Felony court today on charges of robbing five "L" stations and a real estate office and attempting to rob the currency exchange.

Smokestack Falls on Car; One Injured by Debris

BODY FOUND IN RIVER.

The body of a man identified by his papers as Edward Zimmerman, 45 years old, Route 1, Grand Haven, Mich., was taken from the Chicago river at Monroe street yesterday.

SOLDIER ADMITS KILLING GIRL, 16, WITH CAR CRANK

Sutton, Neb., Aug. 10 (AP).—Sheriff Lloyd Mengel announced today that Sgt. Joseph MacAvoy, 24 years old, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had confessed slaying Anna Milroy, 16, of Sutton.

The nude and battered body of the girl was found yesterday in the weeds near a gravel road a mile south of Sutton. Police said an autopsy showed she was raped.

Sheriff Mengel said MacAvoy admitted he quarreled with the girl and hammered her head with an automobile crank.

Prosecutor S. W. Moger said he would not file charges against MacAvoy until he confers with authorities from the air base at Harvard, Neb., where MacAvoy is stationed.

ISSUES WARRANT FOR WOMAN WHO KIDNAPED BABY

Judge Pleads for Return of Army Man's Son.

A warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Pat Novak, designated in the warrant as Mrs. Natalie Palmer, for the kidnaping of Howard Nelson Freeman, 2 years old, was issued yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty.

From his bench in Felony court the judge pleaded for the woman, who has been married at least twice, to bring the child safely back to his parents, Pvt. and Mrs. Vern Johnny Freeman, 3538 Monroe street.

Hold Out Clemency.

"It will be to your best interest to return the boy unharmed and immediately," the judge said. "While this court does not have final jurisdiction in the case, it is certain that the trial judge to whom this case is assigned will take into consideration the safe return of the child."

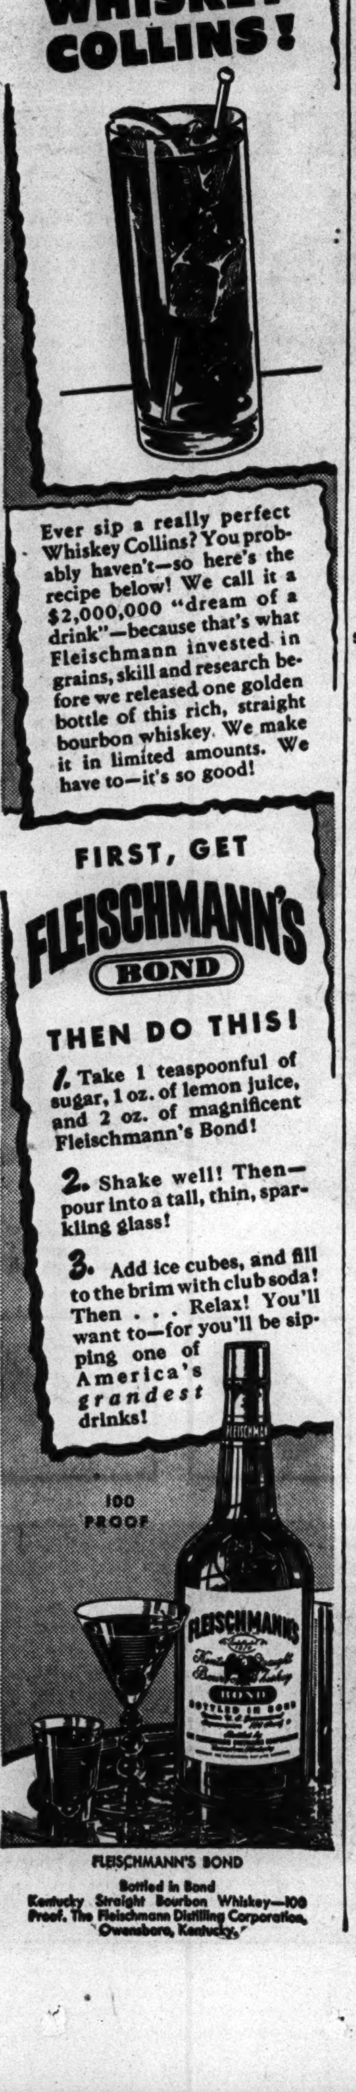
Spokesmen for the state's attorney's office also said the child's early, safe return would be considered in their handling of the case. The charge on which the warrant was issued yesterday—kidnaping without ransom—carries a penalty of from one to five years in the penitentiary.

The child's father, a husky former boxer, was white and quaking when he appeared in court with his wife, Dorothy. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Freeman.

FBI Seeking Her.

Anxious for word of their child, missing since Friday, the couple returned home to jump eagerly every time the phone or door bell rang.

While the FBI is not hunting Mrs. Palmer for the kidnaping, it was pressing a search for her in connection with white slave traffic in La Salle county. Thirty-one persons were arrested Saturday and Sunday in the vice ring probe. Besides Mrs. Palmer, three others are being sought: Iva Green, alias Dogpatch Daisy; Ethel Shippey, and Mario Ranieri. All four were named as material witnesses.



TASTE A $2,000,000 WHISKEY COLLINS!

Ever sip a really perfect Whiskey Collins? You probably haven't—so here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so good!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

THEN DO THIS!

1. Take 1 teaspoonful of sugar, 1 oz. of lemon juice, and 2 oz. of magnificent Fleischmann's Bond!

2. Shake well! Then—pour into a tall, thin, sparkling glass!

3. Add ice cubes, and fill to the brim with club soda! Then . . . Relax! You'll want to—for you'll be sipping one of America's grandest drinks!

LANDLORD FINED $100 FOR DENYING CHILDREN HOME

Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Municipal court yesterday fined George J. Stungis, 46 years old, 6917 South Washtenaw street, $100 and costs for violation of the code forbidding landlords to refuse to rent to persons with children under 14 years of age.

Mrs. Margaret Considine, mother of four children whose ages are 18, 14, 11 and 8, who was evicted from an apartment owned by Stungis at 8158 South Wood street on Aug. 4, testified that the day after she moved into the apartment last May Stungis gave her formal notice to move, saying that she had too many children. Since then, she told Judge Hermes, she has had to buy a house in order to have any place to go with her children. She is a civil service employé at County hospital.

Dennis O'Hare, questioned by Assistant State's Atty. Myron Lewis, testified that he sublet the apartment to Mrs. Considine last May.

Mrs. Considine testified that she paid four months rent in advance to O'Hare, but received an immediate eviction notice from Stungis. The case came up two weeks ago before Municipal Judge Samuel Heller, who ordered her to vacate by Aug. 4. Subsequently she filed suit against the landlord.

Stungis, a teller at Drovers Trust and Savings bank, told Judge Hermes that as landlord he made no discrimination against children, but preferred renting to adults.

Judge Hermes, after fixing the fine, granted a stay until Sept. 9 to permit an appeal.

RIDERS DISCARD KHAKI FOR BLUE AFTER FBI PROBE

Military Order Changed to Blue Dragoons.

Without any marked show of emotion, several hundred Chicagoans, most of them women, resigned from the so-called Military Order of Guards last night and signed up as members of a new riding and drilling association to be called the Blue Dragoons.

Matthew Skarbek, 2212 North Sacramento boulevard, who was a major general in the old setup, said that the change will be virtually painless—all that a Guard has to do to become a Blue Dragoon is to dye his, or her, blouse and cap a dark blue. They are khaki now, and this color will still be permitted in breeches.

Few Embarrass Group.

Admitting that the organization had been investigated by the FBI, and that the Military Order had been embarrassed in a few instances by individual members—an officer said some of them franked themselves on buses with their uniforms and one edified Oak street beach by shedding her uniform to reach her bathing suit—Skarbek said the Order was a worthy one and it was a shame to have it "crucified."

"We have about 4,000 members in Chicago," he said, "and 3,000 are in my division. All but 25 are women. They meet two or three times a week, ride for an hour and a half and then drill without arms. They pay $1 for the use of a horse at each meeting. We had about 600 more members, but they went to war.

"Our object is simply to build up the physique of the members and give them some understanding of discipline, so they can serve better when their country calls them."

Group Formed in 1922.

He added that the severance from the old organization was complete. The Military Order, of which Frank Stewart, a Negro, is commander, has been in existence since 1922. It is alleged that it failed to obey changes in uniform and nomenclature ordered by Adjutant Gen. Leo V. Boyle.

Meetings at which the resignations were accepted and the new association joined were held at 5311 Cottage Grove avenue, the Stalford stables in La Grange, 2223 Cleveland avenue, and the Forest View stables on Harms road in Morton Grove. The change was marked by some disagreement over whether the new name was Dragons or Dragoons, and Skarbek ruled for Dragoons.

AUTO CONTROL BY ELECTRONIC WAVES IS SEEN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP).—Electronics will revolutionize post-war automobile driving to the extent that the driver will "put his car on the beam and let electronic waves take him to his destination," Harvey S. Firestone Jr. predicted tonight.

The rubber company executive, addressing the 50th annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, also said that the future automobile might be equipped with an electronic device enabling the driver to communicate with any other car.

HIGH WAR WAGES SHATTER HOMES, JUDGE ASSERTS

The easy money that husbands and wives are earning in war plants has gone to their heads and is causing an increase in marital discord, Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of Circuit court asserted yesterday in issuing orders in a divorce case in which it was shown that the husband, wife, and their son had been earning a total of $234 a week.

Principals in the case were William A. Witten, 47 years old, 1154 South Wabash avenue, who sued for divorce, and his wife, May, 43, 6336 South May street, who filed a cross-complaint demanding separate maintenance and accusing her husband of associating with other women.

The principal issue yesterday was custody of the family car. Mrs. Witten was allowed to retain it, altho she was enjoined against disposing of it.

"It is a shame that you allow the matter of an automobile to break up a marriage of 23 years," Judge Harrington said. "Your trouble is that you are making too much money, which is the principal cause of marital discord at this time."

Judge Harrington learned from Sol R. Friedman, attorney for Witten, and Norman Becker, attorney for Mrs. Witten, that the wife earned $80 a week, the husband $77, and their son, Kenneth, 19 years old, $77 until he quit his job three weeks ago. All were employed in the same war plant.

STUDENTS URGED TO LEAVE WAR JOBS FOR SCHOOL

The Chicago Industrial Relations association yesterday approved a campaign to persuade 20,000 high school students in full time jobs and 60,000 to 70,000 in part time jobs to renounce the lure of big war time pay and return to their books next month.

The association, composed of employers and headed by H. L. Bills, personnel manager of the Acme Steel company, joined with educational and army and navy authorities concerned over the fact that the working students include a majority of the city's 110,000 high school boys and girls upward of 16 years old.

"The decline in high school enrollment from 141,000 in 1939 to 119,000 in 1943 shows the gravity of the situation," said Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

S. K. D. writes: "I'm 26, married, but have no children. I've done auto mechanic and construction work and some drafting. Is there any place in any of the special units for colored persons like me?"

ANSWER: Indeed there is. The army engineers corps is activating several all-colored battalions, and it is open for voluntary induction to colored men between 18 and 50 who are physically fit and have a skill the engineers can use. For example, men who have had experience as diesel or automotive mechanics, blacksmiths, carpenters, construction foremen, topographical, mechanical, or structural draftsmen, electricians, plumbers, pipefitters, surveyors, tractor drivers, or welders, may obtain immediate assignment.

This is only a sample of a list of more than 100 jobs open to colored men who will apply to the district engineers office, Room 518, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, for preliminary interview and assignment letters. We have a specially prepared data sheet giving a complete list of jobs open, together with instructions and a list of offices where application may be made. The list will be mailed to those who send us a self-addressed stamped envelope. Assignments of these newly activated battalions will be made to March field, Cal.; Geiger field, Wash., and Camp Claiborne, La.

W. N. R. writes: "I am an ex-marine sergeant and served in Guadalcanal and I was rather badly shot up, so I was discharged on a certificate of disability with 70 per cent compensation. When I returned home and reported to my draft board, they put me in 1-C. In about a month they put me in 1-A and sent me to the induction station, and I was of course rejected. But what burns me up is that my board then put me in 4-F! Do I have to be classified with all of the mentally, physically, and morally unfit?"

ANSWER: The regulations were amended July 15 to provide [1] that a man discharged on a C. D. D. after Dec. 8, 1941, may be submitted to reëxamination at the discretion of his board and [2] if he is rejected, he is to be returned to the 1-C classification. It is suggested you ask your board to put you back in 1-C.

R. K. G. writes: "I am registered with a Wisconsin board and have been working out here in California in an airplane plant for two years. I have been classified 3-A because of being married. This morning I received a 1-A. Isn't the draft board supposed to give me a preliminary physical before reclassifying me?"

ANSWER: Amended regulations permit the board to waive physical examination if the registrant is outside his local board area and his return would be inconvenient.

2 SEIZED AFTER GRABBING PURSE OF WAR WORKER

Jesse Lorres, 770 Taylor street, and Paul Reyes, 2047 Roosevelt road, were arrested early yesterday with a purse containing $36 and checks for $64.75 snatched a few minutes earlier from Mrs. Joseph Boksa, 42, of 2209 North Parkside avenue, a war worker at the Republic Drill and Tool company plant, 322 South Green street. Detectives Leonard Kreusler, Melvin Johnson and Peter Kules of the Summerdale station, investigating the fatal slugging of Miss Phyllis Blair, 23, an employe of the Republic plant, on July 31, heard Mrs. Boksa scream and caught the two young men after a four block chase.

ROBBED OF CAR AND $170.

Carroll Kenyon, 48 years old, 321 North Central avenue, an electric appliance service man, was robbed of his automobile and his wallet containing $170 in front of 5812 West End avenue early yesterday, he reported to Austin police.

Q. Why should oil be changed every 2 months or at 1000 miles?

A. Your car produces nearly 1 gallon of water per gallon of gas burned. Short-run driving fails to expel all this water. Some gets into the crankcase and causes contamination of any oil.

NEW DEAL GESTAPO.

Rose Wilder Lane is an American novelist in the best sense of the term. She was born in the Dakota territory and a number of her novels have pictured faithfully the pioneer spirit of our western frontier. She has two sons fighting Germany.

Recently Mrs. Lane listened to a radio program on which a little fellow traveler who writes a newspaper column extolled the social security system. He invited comment from his listeners, and she sent him a post card. She reminded him that Bismarck originated most of the so-called social security measures in force or proposed in this country, that Hitler has retained all of them, and asserted that they were in large measure responsible for the collapse of the Weimar republic. The German people will think it strange, she suggested, if, after we occupy Germany, we send them teachers to preach the benefits of this same system that they have known for several generations.

The columnist, who apparently wants all his mail to be fan mail, turned the post card over to the federal bureau of investigation. He denies this, but there is no doubt that the FBI got the card. The next thing Mrs. Lane knew, a state trooper, assigned to assist the FBI, appeared in the yard of her Connecticut farm and asked if she had written the post card. She has written her account of what followed.

She said, "Yes, I wrote it. What have the state police to do with any opinion that an American citizen wants to express?"

"I do not like your attitude," said the trooper, sternly.

"You do not like my attitude!" exploded Mrs. Lane. "I am an American citizen. I hire you. I pay you. And you have the insolence to question my attitude. The point is that I don't like your attitude. What is this—the Gestapo?"

The conversation ended with the trooper informing her that he considered her message to the columnist—of which most of the statements can be verified in any high school textbook on European history—to be "subversive." Subversive of what? Presumably of the fiction that social security sprang from the minds of the New Deal, instead of having been designed by the hard headed Bismarck to assure German manufacturers a docile working class.

This, of course, is more or less beside the point. The real indignity, as Mrs. Lane says, is that the Roosevelt administration should use the power of an official investigating agency to question, and by questioning, to intimidate, any American citizen because of an opinion that he or she has expressed. Those are, as she says, the tactics of the Gestapo. They have no place in free America, but they are increasingly used by the people who are seeking to destroy the freedom of America.

State and local governments who have assigned enforcement officers to assist the FBI should be warned by this incident. Are their men being used, as they suppose, to combat espionage and sabotage, or are they being used for the oppression of critics of the administration? Congress must, of course, question Atty. Gen. Biddle and his subordinate, J. Edgar Hoover. Who do they think they are? The answer appears to be Himmler.

JUST BOONDOGGLING.

A quarterly publication entitled Thunderbird has been sent to us by the public relations staff at MacDill field in Florida. The young men appear to be proud of their work. They say they did it all in their spare time. They appear to have a good deal of it because the book runs to nearly a hundred pages of expensive printing and illustration.

The publication resembles a college annual in that the reading matter is a bore. "Dentistry plays a major role in the scheme of things at MacDill field." We judge that bad taste also plays a major role. The dirty pictures of which there are a good many disclose a recent awakening to the facts of life and a not too delicate perception that man is a mammal. The book is described as a souvenir, as, indeed, it is of the less engaging aspects of adolescence.

Otherwise it is just boondoggling and expensive boondoggling at that. A lot of good paper, a lot of printers' and engravers' time went into the making of this publication and it was all wasted. That would be bad enough in any circumstances, but it is wholly inexcusable when paper supplies and man power are in as short supply as they are today.

ARMY ORDNANCE AND COMMON SENSE.

The army ordnance department has announced the transfer of several large depots to private corporations to be operated on a cost plus fixed fee basis. The fee will be only a fraction of 1 per cent of the operating costs, according to the announcement.

This move demonstrates the good sense which appears to rule the army ordnance branch. The soldier's job is to fight. It is also his job to decide what weapons he will use and to supervise delivery of those weapons to the places they are needed. But the civilian manufacturer, warehouse man, and transportation man, once he is told what is wanted, can do a far better job of making those weapons, storing, shipping and routing them than the soldier can. The ordnance department recognizes this.

It is time that the idea spread to other branches of the army and to the navy. For example, the army has set up a huge accounting office to handle the purchase of war bonds by soldiers. Despite the size of this organization, soldiers have complained that the bonds they buy thru deductions from their pay aren't reaching them promptly.

This appears to be a job that the army could turn over to one of the large life insurance companies. They have thousands of small accounts in group and industrial life insurance. They have the machines and the personnel trained to do the job. They have the "know how."

The more jobs that the army and navy can turn over to competent civilians, the better and the quicker those jobs will be done and the more soldiers we shall free for the fighting.

OIL DESTROYERS COMPARED.

Germany's supply of oil has been severely reduced as a result of the 2,400 mile round trip flight taken by some 2,000 American soldiess last week. Flying in 175 Liberator bombers [like the one now on display in Tribune Square], they dropped 300 tons of high explosive bombs on the rich Ploesti oil fields in Rumania. Six refineries were knocked out and the main pipe line pumping station was wrecked.

There have been various estimates of the loss inflicted upon the enemy. One report said that 35 per cent of Germany's total petroleum needs were supplied from Ploesti. Another report said that the Rumanian oil center specialized on aviation gasoline, and that 90 per cent of the Luftwaffe's gasoline came from there. If either statement is a reasonable approximation of the truth, it was a highly successful assault.

Germany's loss can be mathematically expressed. In 1939, Rumania produced 42 million barrels of petroleum. Recently the New York Times reported that the flow of crude oil had been reduced so much that the Ploesti refineries were operating at only 50 per cent. If all of Rumania's production was destroyed for a full year, Germany lost 20 million barrels of oil products.

Meanwhile, the American oil supply has been cut, too. The amount of oil pumped in the United States in 1942 was 150 million barrels less than in 1941. It was not because the demand had fallen off, or because there wasn't enough underground to keep production up. The supply was cut by government action. Washington has taken control of every phase of the oil business. The government reduced the production of oil by keeping the price of crude oil so low that the drilling of new wells practically stopped. If production is to be kept up, new wells have to be drilled all the time to replace those pumped out and abandoned.

The boss of the oil business is Harold L. Ickes. Cornered last Thursday at a congressional committee hearing in Chicago, Mr. Ickes admitted that the supply of oil was going down because the government wouldn't permit the oil companies to pay enough for oil to make it worth while for the drillers to carry on their usual activities. He tried to pass the buck to OPA and to the board of economic stabilization. He thought he was a member of that board, but wasn't sure.

As an old experienced burocrat, Ickes passes the buck in burocratic fashion. William Jeffers, who left a high position in business to become federal rubber administrator, didn't know the ropes at Washington and has never resorted to buck passing. He is doing the outstanding job in war, administration, and the contrast with Ickes' record in an analogous job is striking.

One hundred and seventy-five Liberator bombers destroyed 20 million barrels of oil with 300 tons of bombs. Ickes destroyed 7½ times as much without the use of explosives. If Hitler would take Ickes off our hands and make him his oil administrator, we would win the war in no time.

Editorial of the Day

PIGS AND BUROCRATS.

[New York Daily News.]

The latest food distribution administration ruling on "victory pigs," as reported by Robert Conway in yesterday's paper, is that you practically have to live with a pig while raising it in order to slaughter it and eat it without giving up ration coupons.

This contradicts a ruling made two weeks ago that all you had to do was own the pig to have full nonration rights in its hams, pork chops, knuckles, etc. That ruling contradicted a previous one similar to the ruling described in paragraph 1 of this editorial.

So at this writing "victory pig" raisers are back where they started. Under the current ruling, it is not enough for them to buy pigs and pay all the expense of having some experienced hired man or caretaker raise them, thus adding to the nation's total pork supply, which was thought to be the object of all the official urging of people to raise more pigs. The pig has to have that personal touch, or else you have to give up ration coupons when it is butchered.

The net result, unless the ruling is again reversed, will most likely be that a lot of people will quit the "victory pig" game in rage and disgust—which to that extent will cut down the national pork supply.

This ridiculous mixup throws some more light on what is the trouble with the home front in this war.

More than 3,000,000 persons [exclusive of the armed forces] are now working for the federal government, most of them in appointive jobs dependent on the administration's whims instead of on the voters' votes.

Large numbers of these persons feel that they have the power to order us around like so many slaves. A lot of these orders stick, at least for a while. The result is that totalitarianism is creeping up on a country which claims to be fighting to rub totalitarianism out of the world [except in Russia].

It is no wonder that the home front grows more befuddled all the time under the orders, counterorders and double orders of our burocratic government.

For the first time in his career Mussolini is in a spot where loud talking, wild gestures, and a sour puss avail him nothing.

A SOUTH SEAS MYSTERY.

The authorship of "White Shadows in the South Seas," attributed in the news columns to Rose Wilder Lane, who has had a slight argument with the FBI regarding her opinions on the slogan, "social security," is a matter that needs clarification. In the first place this book, published in 1919 but easily remembered among the elder literati, was not a novel, as stated in dispatches, but a work of travel. In the second place it was signed by Frederick O'Brien, who had a prosperous career as a travel writer.

* * *

Mrs. Lane lists "White Shadows" among her titles in "Who's Who," indicating that it was a collaboration by adding "with Frederick O'Brien" in parenthesis. She has claimed that she was O'Brien's ghost writer; he has answered that she was merely his secretary and that its phrasing is entirely his own. He died in 1932 and the argument may never be decided. Moreover, nobody cares, for "White Shadows" is not a book of literary importance.

* * *

It had some fame, nevertheless, and deserves a place in American folklore. It made the movies aware of a new environment for glamor girls. It put sarongs and hula skirts upon a thousand Dorothy Lamours. Decades after such first-class writing men as Herman Melville, Robert Louis Stevenson, and Louis Becke had described the South Seas in admirable prose, the magnates of Hollywood learned of this region of romance thru the sexy chronicle of a travel-writing hack.

* * *

O'Brien followed "White Shadows," unaided by Rose Wilder Lane as secretary or otherwise, with "Mystic Isles of the South Seas," in 1921, and "Atolls of the Sun," in 1922. His background included youthful adventures as a sailor before the mast and as a tramp in South America. He served as a "general" in Coxey's hobo army when it marched to Washington. Then he became a newspaper reporter, editor, and owner. During 1918 he had an executive job in Herbert Hoover's food administration.

* * *

OUT OF THE ALBUM.

Little old fashioned lady
Under the pepper tree,
Your sweeping skirts and wide-brimmed hat
I long again to see.

Dearly remembered figure
Twirling a parasol demure,
There's a longing ache within my heart
That only you can cure.

Come from the whispering shadows,
Step from my album's page,
Little old fashioned lady
Of another day and age,

Tell me once more the stories
Forgotten by childish ears;
Take me in your gentle arms
And hush my foolish fears.

Little mother of yesterday,
Come take my hand tonight.
The way is dark and strange ahead;
Lend me your wisdom's light.

Corn Silk Smokin' Time.

How familiar the claims of the present day tobacco companies with ours of yesterday. The "finer, firmer, milder leaf" was corn beards or tassels! Altho July gave us coarse, seedy, weedy "Injun tobacco," August rewarded us with rich, fragrant corn silk smokin'.

We consumed great quantities of golden bantam corn so as to obtain this aromatic boyhood treat. The moist, silky green shreds were sundried to a tobacco brown. Our calumets were penny clay and corncob pipes. Into these we stuffed our corn silk from old Bull Durham tobacco sacks. Behind the barn we congregated to enjoy this pre-manhood indulgence. If we sensed being spied upon, we roamed to a favorite rendezvous in the prairies. Here giant sunflowers and weeds obscured vision and at times shut out the sunlight.

We were counting the time until Labor day. After that no more barefooted paradise in tattered overalls and dirty faces. At twilight we often went to our river—the Calumet. Here we sat on the clay banks, puffing away in he-man fashion. Tug captains often waved at us. I can still hear the soft, whispering waves as they soothingly lapped the shores in the boat's wake.

The tiger swallow tail is drifting down
The dusty, gusty airways of the town;
A golden tasselated basswood sways
Its cherry-drops of jade before our gaze;
While ever since the glimmerings of dawn
The starlings have patroled the squares of lawn.
And slender pods have fringed catalpa trees.
When warblers search thru jewel boxes, where

TEMPERATURE CHANGES AND SUMMER COLDS.

AUGUST is the open season for summer colds. We expect these episodes when we are unprepared for the cool breezes that may spring up in the night, after a torrid day. Then, too, we may be below par because a temperature much above 80 is exhausting to most of us. Viruses lurking in the nasal passages will start to grow and produce their toxins on the first sign of congestion.

Why do they appear? Whenever tissues become engorged with blood, the cells swell, serum escapes from the capillaries, and this fluid becomes nectar for noxious invaders. Only a short interval need elapse before typical symptoms will develop.

It would be helpful if nasal and throat infections were sufficiently prostrating to force every one to remain in bed. If such were the case, millions of victims would be spared later complications. Instead, the sufferer feels the call to duty, journeys to his work, and spreads the causative "bugs" en route. So generous is he with his pets that a fair proportion of those in his office will share his blessings.

The warm weather session can be just as harmful as the type which comes during the colder season. Inflammation within the airways can travel to the pharynx, the trachea, the bronchi, and the lungs. Every doctor recalls that some of his most ferocious battles with pneumonia have followed a heat wave. There is equal risk of extension to the middle ear spaces and to those bony rooms within the skull—the sinuses.

The least we can do is to maintain reserve at top efficiency. We can make certain that elimination is increased through drinking large quantities of water, slightly salted. We can use discretion about overloading the digestive tract. The daily bath must not be forgotten and over-exertion certainly can be shunned—even in the pursuit of fun.

Should one of these attacks be encountered, we may decrease the danger by remaining in bed. This permits the storage of enough energy to discourage the visiting organisms. Unfortunately there is no remedy which will abort or neutralize one of these seizures. We must wait until our own powers of resistance can be built to such a level that no self-respecting germ can flourish.

Why is it desirable to avoid these bouts? It has been estimated, and with justice, that the one who is subject to reasonably frequent sieges, wastes about five years of his life in getting well. This may sound preposterous but when one considers that the complete recovery period may require two or three weeks or longer—and that many will fall victim to six or eight colds a year—the statement does not seem so extreme.

Thousands of cases always accompany every hot "spell"—not alone because the mercury may drop but because stamina has been so lowered that we are more susceptible. But without microbes, we would be spared these uncomfortable visitations. They come from our own airways or from those of our friends.

INFLAMED NOSTRILS.

M. M. writes: What causes redness about the nostrils, not due to a cold?

REPLY.

Slight swelling and soreness of the tissues in this region may follow infection. The source of the trouble is usually within the sinuses. Protecting the parts with a bland, sterile ointment, such as lanolin, should bring relief.

LUMP ON WRIST.

P. A. L. writes: What is the best method of removal of a ganglion on the wrist?

REPLY.

This is a watery tumor, occurring on or near a tendon. A single, sharp bump will rupture the sac. Thereafter, absorption can take place. Another method is to withdraw the liquid by means of a hypodermic needle.

ARE BLONDES ANEMIC?

M. S. writes: I have heard that blondes are more susceptible to anemia than brunettes. Why?

REPLY.

Not so. Pallor shows up quicker—that's all.

PINKEYE.

Mrs. D. writes: How do babies get pinkeye?

REPLY.

This is a contagious malady and is spread by means of soiled fingers, washcloths, etc. Infants seem to delight in massaging the eyes with their fists.

THE SAME.

M. B. writes: Is neuritis on the left side more serious than on the right?

REPLY.

No—not even if you are lefthanded.

SOLDIERS AND STRIKES.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The following is taken from a letter from my brother, a former Illinois coal miner, now somewhere in the Pacific: "The soldiers' opinion of the miners' dispute would be about as useful as sun lamps on the Sahara desert for the simple reason they don't know a damn thing about it. We have no possible way of keeping up with current events. The men in my outfit are either college students or young farmers from the northwest who never worked a day in an industrial plant or a mine in their lives and who look upon organized labor as some vague sort of menace whose members are a gang of bewhiskered bolshevists, and think that John L. is a combination of Al Capone, Leon Trotsky, and the devil himself.

"These men have suffered terrible hardships and have had to live and die like animals and they are naturally very bitter toward any one who is dissatisfied with conditions in civilization, where people can always have all the water they want to drink or even bathe in, and can lay down to rest without a horde of insects and vermin tramping each other to death trying to get the first bite. They think the civilian population should live under the same conditions we do, work for the same wages and be tickled to death to get a handful of rice and a fish head for Sunday dinner, for the duration.

"I left a darn good job when I came into the army, safe and healthy working conditions, good wages. I am accumulating seniority every day I am away and a job guaranteed when this is over. That is what I hope to come back to and these are the things that John L. Lewis and other leaders are trying to hold for us and the things that greedy, labor hating groups are trying to destroy under the guise of patriotism."

WAR CRIMINALS.

Riverside, Ill., Aug. 8.—The press is full of suggestions for adequate punishment for war criminals. Why not arrest them and put them on an island like Alcatraz, feed them scientifically, provide plenty of vitamins, sunshine, and exercise to prolong life as long as possible, but compel them to remain in each other's presence constantly until death closes the scene. That would be the worst punishment possible.

When building this refuge we can make it large enough to accommodate a few additional inmates. Then all delegates to the peace conference can be told that if they do not give us a just treaty providing for equal opportunity for all nations, thus removing the causes for future wars, they themselves will be added to the colony.

WHY THE BALLYHOO?

Franksville, Wis., Aug. 8.—Why are we constantly being fed propaganda to idealize the Russian state? It is one of the most autocratic dictatorships on earth; its workers are paid less in comparison with the cost of necessities than they were under the czars; instruction in the principles of Christianity is forbidden all children under 18 years of age; favored groups receive salaries as great as our own capitalists; it is high treason for laborers to attempt a strike.

PATENT.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am interested in purchasing a patent which is partly outmoded and expires in 1945. It is my intention to apply for a reissue or a new patent embodying the old design plus a number of improvements. Before getting in touch with the present owner, I should like to have your opinion on the following: 1. If I succeed in purchasing the old patent, may I apply immediately for a new patent as outlined above or must I wait until 1945? 2. If a reissue is granted, will it protect me from the general public's using the patent on the expiration date in 1945? 3. If I do not succeed in the purchase, may I apply for a patent in 1945 utilizing the old design plus the improvements or [4] can I start proceedings now?

R. N.

1. You may immediately apply for a patent on your improvements, but there is no procedure for extending the original patent beyond the 17 years.

2. The chances of preserving your monopoly depends largely on the importance of your improvements. 3. Yes. 4. You can apply for a patent on your improvements now but you will have no right to make the complete device unless you obtain a license from the holder of the unexpired patent. SYNOPSIS: Before escaping into a craft, after the siege of Dunkirk, from which he comes thru without a scratch, Ronnie Banks rifles the person of a lifeless figure. On his arrival in London he evades his comrades, visits a tea shop, and goes thru the notecases taken from the unknown man left on the beach. He finds money, a card with an intriguing address, and letters.

INSTALMENT III.

ROMANTIC MEETING.

One evening when it was Ronnie's intention to have a sandwich with a glass of ale in the buttery instead of further reducing his rapidly dwindling capital in the expensive restaurant, he happened to open his door at the same moment that a beautiful woman from No. 141 opened hers.

They smiled at each other as he hastened to press the lift button, and something went all over him, like an electric shock—a sensation with which he was well acquainted.

Obviously the woman was on her way down to dinner; obviously she was rich, for by now Ronnie knew the sizes of the various flats and what they rented for. No. 141 was a big one and had not merely a balcony, but a terrace.

She was slim and dark and languorous looking, with a skin like ivory velvet. She was reasonably young; not more than five years older than he, anyway. She was expensively dressed and wore some impressive jewelry, and he took her for a foreigner, not merely from her appearance, but from her slight accent.

"We are neighbors—eh?" she said. "It's nice to have good neighbors in these bad times. Maybe there will be raids soon. You think so?"

"Pretty well bound to be," said Ronnie.

"You are Mr. Conyers, aren't you?"

"That's me," said Ronnie, trying an American accent.

"I come from the Argentine, and my name is Mrs. de Santos." As an afterthought she added: "Unfortunately, I am a widow."

The lift reached the ground floor at this point, and Ronnie Banks changed his mind about dining off a sandwich in the buttery.

He trailed along with Mrs. de Santos to the restaurant, opening doors for her and making her feel that while he might be approachable he was also a little cautious. They sat at separate tables, of course, but while Ronnie appeared to be careless about timing the end of his meal, it happened that they both finished at the same moment, and found themselves leaving the restaurant together.

He had intended to go out to the pictures that evening, but quick to catch the importance of every new opportunity, he changed his mind. He knew himself pretty well. If he was going to fall in love with this woman, he would make it suit his purpose, and he could fall out of love with the greatest of ease if that also suited him. The only woman who had ever caused him trouble was Goldie, and he never expected or wanted to see her again.

When they reached their floor Mrs. de Santos said, in her pretty drawling voice: "It seems so silly to have one's coffee alone—don't you think so? I make very good coffee."

"Do I take that for an invitation, lady?"

"Perhaps [illegible] think I am forward?"

"I think you're wonderful," said Ronnie.

Well within the hour he spent with her that evening, he knew that she had fallen hard for him.

The next night they dined together in Maria de Santos' flat, and Ronnie wore Alan Conyers' white tie and tails regalia, looking like a waiter but being unaccustomed to this rig-out, he was far less comfortable. Mrs. de Santos offered to re-tie his tie for him, and it was then that he took her in his arms and kissed her.

It took him no time at all to learn that her fortune was her own to handle as she chose, and that amongst other things she owned a delightful ranch in South America, to which she was thinking about returning.

"You know my country?" she asked.

Ronnie was forced to admit that his travels had not yet taken him so far afield.

"I think you would love it," she said. "You must come . . . sometime."

From then on, they were practically inseparable.

But Ronnie Banks was no fool. He knew he was living on the ragged edge of danger, that trouble lurked around every corner.

One night, shortly after he returned from Mrs. de Santos' flat where he was now in the habit of spending his evenings, there came a ring at the bell and when he went to the door he found himself confronted by a policeman. Perhaps he turned pale, and certainly his heart leaped into his throat, but he managed a curt inquiry as to what was wanted.

"Sorry to trouble you, sir, but may I come in? There's a light showing from one of the flats on this floor."

"I don't think it's here," he said, "but come in, of course."

They found a streak in the bathroom window, where the blackout curtain had been imperfectly drawn.

Ronnie opened a bottle of Mr. Alan Conyer's stock of brandy and revived himself with a large dose. This incident started him thinking and he decided that after all he had better go down to Leytonstone and find out how things were with his mother.

This was so much on his mind that he completely forgot he was to dine out and go to a theater with Mrs. de Santos the following evening—she having already acquired the tickets. Safety before love, every time!

He packed one of Mr. Conyers' bags, helping himself freely to whatever he wanted, and that evening, as his new love was happily arranging a tray for cocktails in the expectancy that he would arrive any moment, he was off and away on top of bus to Leytonstone.

He looked the part that rumor at Emberley Court had assigned to him—something semi-military, probably something in the intelligence office. It was a role he had by now definitely adopted.

By the time he reached his destination it was dark and for a moment he stood in front of the house, filled with dismay. It looked to be deserted. But when he played his torch about he discovered the little garden was in no wise neglected, and that the steps and brass door knocker looked as tho they had been cleaned not half an hour ago.

He gave the knocker the series of rat-a-tat-tats she would recognize, and sure enough almost immediately he heard her hurried footfalls.

"Ronnie—my boy, my boy!"

NEGRO EDITOR OF RED PAPER DEFERRED AGAIN

30 Year Old Communist Essential to War.

New York, Aug. 10 [Special].—Continuance of draft deferment has been granted Angelo Herndon, 30 year old Negro and former member of the Communist party central committee, on the grounds that his editorship of "The Negro Quarterly" is essential to the war, it was announced today by Col. Arthur McDermott, New York draft director.

Herndon's draft board took this action at a special meeting Monday, McDermott said, asserting that he opposed the deferment personally on the ground Herndon's record did not contain enough evidence to qualify him for deferred status. The new ruling extends a 6 months deferment given Herndon last May.

Signed Own Application.

The quarterly publication edited by Herndon has published only three known issues since March, 1942, and its telephone service has been reported discontinued. Draft board records revealed Herndon signed his own application for deferment, using the form on which an employer files for a key employe.

"My work is essential in the sense that we are concerned with many of the problems confronting Negroes as a result of the war, such as morale in the service and among civilians," Herndon explained. "My contribution is as important as a military victory, especially after what happened in Harlem a week ago."

He described the publication as a review of Negro life and culture dealing with problems of Negro education, employment, and housing as well as art, literature, and drama.

Herndon has been president of the Young Communist league and was a Presidential elector for Earl Browder in 1940. His conviction in Georgia in 1933 as a potential revolutionary was reversed in 1937 by a 5 to 4 decision of the United States Supreme court.

Knifing Causes Dance Riot; Sailor's Arrest Angers Mob

Welder Slashed

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 10 [Special].—A quarrel on the Oakland auditorium dance floor, to which 7,500 dancers had been drawn by the boogie-woogie music of a popular orchestra, flared early today into a riot involving more than 500 Negroes, most of whom were service men.

Sergeants Leo Raschdorf and Guy Skelton of the Oakland police said the riot began when Albert Fisher, 28 year old, a Negro shipyard welder, had a dispute with a Negro sailor and was slashed on the face.

The crowd surged toward the dressing rooms and began smashing doors, windows, and transoms. It also beat up a policeman.

Officers Pursued

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 10 (AP). — Some 700 persons rioted in the uptown business district last night after a shore patrol chief petty officer attempted to arrest a sailor for appearing in public with his sleeves rolled up and carrying a liquor bottle.

City police and naval shore patrolmen cornered the sailor, but the crowd attempted to free him from a patrol wagon and pursued it to the jail, threatening to storm the jail unless the sailor was released.

They jeered the officers when the sailor, booked as Alfred De Angeles, 31 years old, held up his manacled hands and yelled, "This is what I get for joining the service!"

Believes She Is Nation's First 18 Year Old Voter

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 10 (AP).—Mary Annabelle Greer thinks she is the nation's first qualified 18-year-old voter. She celebrated her 18th birthday today by registering for future elections soon after Gov. Ellis Arnall announced results of the recent election in which a constitutional amendment lowered Georgia's voting age from 21 to 18. Georgia, first state to give 18 year olds the right to vote, passed the amendment, 42,284 to 19,682.

2 BANDITS POSE AS POLICE; STEAL TAVERN LIQUOR

Two bandits posing as police officers removed 11 cases of liquor valued at $500 from the tavern at 6734 Stony Island avenue and took $175 from the cash register yesterday, after locking the porter, Esper Flowers, 37 years old, Negro, in a washroom.

Flowers told police the two men had visited the tavern Monday, displayed policemen's stars and announced they were going to search the place because they had heard it was a "bookie joint."

Yesterday they returned and said they wanted to make another search. One produced a revolver while the other proceeded to carry out the loot.

LOSES WATCH IN HOTEL.

Miss Anna Bobitt of East Chicago, Ind., a switchboard operator at a north side hotel, reported to Summerdale police that her wristwatch valued at $500 was lost yesterday in the hotel.

YOUNG MOTHER MENACED WITH KNIFE AND RAPED

A Negro, who broke into her bedroom by removing a screen, raped a 23 year old expectant mother Monday night and threatened to kill her with a knife if she screamed or resisted, she reported to Hyde Park police. She was taken to Michael Reese hospital.

The woman said the intruder awakened her by prodding her with the knife. When her year old child cried he demanded that the mother quiet her or he would kill the child. Before leaving he took the woman's purse from a dresser. The husband, an interstate truck driver, was at work.

Hyde Park police said the Negro is probably the same one who Friday raped another woman, who was sleeping in a first floor apartment.

TOWN IN INDIANA MOBILIZES FOR TOMATO CANNING

50,000 Sought; Citizens Sign Up for Work.

BY GAIL COMPTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 10. — The greatest agricultural manhunt in history was begun here today by the war man power comission in a drive to obtain 50,000 workers to pack the harvest of the second largest tomato producing center in the world.

Jeeps and other army equipment paraded the streets, planes of the civilian air patrol "bombed" the town with leaflets urging coöperation, and 100 girls patroled the sidewalks signing up volunteers.

Housewives and Bankers Join.

Housewives, store clerks, Boy Scouts, and bankers promised their help in packing the produce of more than 10,000 acres of tomatoes in Tipton and Madison counties. More than 2 million cases of tomatoes are expected to be packed by the 34 processing plants dotting the heart of this tomato belt.

Supervising the recruitment, the United States employment service conducted a house to house canvass in every hamlet in the two counties. Schools, churches, lodges, and clubs were visited to sign up every available worker.

Every One Needed, Says WMC.

The harvest already is under way and officials of the WMC indicated that every man, woman, and child in the area would be needed to handle the fruit as it reached canneries. Officials said the town of Anderson, already swollen with war workers, would supply thousands of helpers.

Dean William H. Spencer, regional director of the WMC in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, assisted in the drive by visiting the tomato fields and canneries and talking before local civic leaders. He told canning company officials soldiers would be put at work in the plants if necessary.

Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana urged townspeople to volunteer for work and started the registration of more than 500 people from a reviewing stand.

The volunteers will work either full or part time at canneries and will receive prevailing wages. Local union leaders promised coöperation in getting union members to spend their spare time packing the crop.

BOARD REBUKES POLICEMAN WHO SHOT NEGRO BOY

Policeman Patrick J. Rynne of the Morgan Park police station, who fatally shot Elmo Vasser, 16 year old Negro boy, last May 13, yesterday was found guilty of conduct unbecoming a police officer by the civil service commission, which recommended that he be reprimanded. Similar charges against Policeman Charles J. Schwertfeger, who was with Rynne, were dismissed.

The majority opinion was filed by Walter L. Gregory, president of the commission, and Commissioner Walter F. Clarke, who is dean of the De Paul law school. James B. Cashin, Negro member of the commission, dissented and will file an opinion later, he said.

Rynne and Schwertfeger were sent to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at 113d place the day of the shooting to investigate a report that a man's body was near the tracks. According to Rynne's testimony before the commission July 30, the Vasser boy started to throw rocks at the policemen and refused to stop when ordered to.

Rynne declared he was hit on the left hand, the knee, and finally on the temple. He fired warning shots in the air, he said, and when he was hit on the head with a stone he stumbled forward "and everything went black." The gun went off at the time, he said, but he stated that he had not intended to kill the Vasser boy.

GUEST TELLS OF FINDING OAKES IN BURNED BED

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 10 (AP).—Harry Oakes may have been bludgeoned and burned to death last month while a fierce rainstorm beat down upon his ocean-side villa, Westbourne, and the crash of thunder and roar of the wind drowned out any outcries or sounds of scuffling.

Harold G. Christie, who spent the night of July 7-8 in a bedroom adjoining that of the 68 year old multimillionaire, testified today that the noise of the terrific storm awakened him, but he told of hearing no sounds at any time to indicate that his host was being attacked. In the morning, when he went to arouse Oakes for breakfast, he discovered his hosts's still warm body on a charred bed.

Paul K. Richter Leaves Widow and Son $200,000

Paul K. Richter, who headed the Chicago Bolt and Nut company before he sold his interest in the concern in 1925, left an estate of $200,000, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was filed for probate before Judge John F. O'Connell. The will directed that income from the estate be divided equally between his widow, Anna, and his son, J. Edward Richter, both of whom reside in California. Richter, who was 81 years old, lived in San Marino, Cal., and died July 18 at Pasadena.

Found Guilty

MRS. AGNES PEELE.

Mrs. Agnes Peele, operator of the Aristocrat Home for Aged Persons at 566 Stratford place, was found guilty yesterday on five charges of operating a convalescent home without a license and refusing to allow inspection of the home by board of health and license bureau inspectors. Judge Stephen Adamowski fined her $100 and costs on each count, a total of $550.

Motions by James Byrne, attorney for Mrs. Peele, to quash the charges and to arrest judgment were overruled, as was his petition to appeal directly to the Supreme court without an intervening trial. Irwin Kowohl was the city prosecutor. The court room was jammed with spectators, many of them elderly. Charges against Mrs. Peele were placed after Bert Harris, blind and undernourished, was removed to County hospital from the home two weeks ago.

Following court adjournment, 300 pound Mrs. Peele, seeking to elude photographers, fled into Judge Adamowski's wash room and slammed the door so heavily that the glass pane shattered, showering glass all over the room.

5,100 SOLDIERS SENT TO DAKOTA HARVEST FIELDS

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 10 (AP).—A total of 5,100 soldiers from army installation in seven states are being sent to North Dakota to work in harvest fields, headquarters of the 7th service command announced today.

The troops, under the command of Col. J. J. Schmidt, commander of district No. 1 of the 7th service command, represent four branches of the army.

There are 1,750 from the air forces, 3,250 from the ground forces, and 100 from the service forces. Camp Maxey, Tex., is providing a medical detachment of 100 men.

Farmers will pay the troops prevailing wage rates. The department of agriculture will be responsible for collection of the money, which headquarters said would be turned over to the treasury.

The troops will not be allowed to stay longer than 20 days after they arrive at work locations. They will be lodged in camp sites near towns and will be under military control.

KRUTCKOFF JR. ARREST ASKED IN ALIMONY CASE

An attachment for the arrest of Charles H. Krutckoff Jr. was issued by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Circuit court yesterday on the complaint of his divorced wife, Elsa Johnson Krutckoff, 7427 South Shore drive, that he was $1,900 in arrears in alimony payments.

Atty. Norman Becker, lawyer for Mrs. Krutckoff, told the judge that when the divorce was granted in 1942 alimony of $400 a month was allowed, and that altho the amount had been reduced to $125 a month Krutckoff, a wholesale coal dealer, still was failing to comply.

Atty. Hugh Johnson, representing Krutckoff, told Judge Harrington he had expected his client to appear in court and that his absence probably indicated that he did not have the money to clear up the arrearage.

FOUR MORE CARS OF FOOD SPOIL; DUMPED IN CITY

ODT Blamed for Ban on Re-Icing.

Two carloads of potatoes, one of lettuce and one of cantaloupes were dumped in the Alton railroad yards at 49th street and Merrimac avenue within the last week after the contents had rotted from lack of refrigeration, railroad employes said yesterday.

The potatoes first entered the yards last Thursday. They were grown in North Carolina, yard employes said, and were consigned to the South Water market. The cars were a part of shipments originating in the eastern state which became unfit for use thru lack of icing due to conflicting orders by government agencies.

ODT Acts too Late.

The office of price administration first guaranteed the Carolina growers a minimum price of $2.25 per hundred pounds so the potato raisers could dig them and ship them without a loss. Buyers refused to take them after the office of defense transportation would not allow ice for shipping. When growers protested, the ODT permitted half the usual amount of ice, but by that time spoilage had started.

The government made good on its promise and paid the growers the guaranteed price, then shipped the potatoes to various cities in the middle west. It was too late to save them, however, and carloads were dumped in Vincennes, Ind., last week.

The two carloads arriving here last week could not be sold on the market, railroad employes said, and the government ordered them destroyed. They were taken to the Alton yards on Sunday and dumped yesterday. It was said not a single potato was edible.

Spoil for Lack of Ice.

The carload of lettuce, a high grade iceberg variety, from Salinas, Cal., arrived on the market here a week ago. It too, was so badly spoiled that buyers refused to bid on it and it was taken out to the yards and dumped. It was consigned by a California coöperative concern to the market here for auction.

The carload of cantaloupes, with a retail value of several thousand dollars, was shipped on consignment by a group of Texas growers. Railroad employes said they believed the car was insufficiently iced when it was shipped and that government regulations probihited re-icing en route. Buyers also refused to bid on any of the contents and they were added to the rotting masses in the railroad yard.

NEW STATE AID GRANTS TO BLIND TO START OCT. 1

Applications for relief under the new Illinois blind assistance act have been mailed to 2,178 blind relief recipients in Cook county by the bureau of public welfare, Clayton F. Smith, president of the county commissioners, said yesterday. Payments under the new act will start Oct. 1.

The new law has no citizenship requirement and only one year's residence in the state is required, compared with 10 years previously. Grants shall not exceed $40 a month, compared with a flat annual grant of $365 under the old law. The county bureau of public welfare, under supervision of the Illinois public aid commission, will administer the law.

The blind assistance office is at 739 South Winchester avenue. Applications from needy blind persons are being received but priority in investigations will be given to present recipients, the bureau announced.

RATION COUPONS REMAIN; TOKENS WILL BE CHANGE

Retailers See Added Woes Under Plan.

Food rationing officials are preparing to turn the clock back more than 200 years to the time when American pioneers carried pockets full of colored beads to barter with the Indians.

Louis Kroeger, executive officer of the office of price administration rationing division in Washington, disclosed yesterday in Chicago that beginning early next year housewives will carry a new type of ration currency in their purses—red or blue colored glass or plastic coins the size of nickels and quarters.

The tokens will be used to make change from ration book coupons, Kroeger explained. Ration books, he emphasized, will not be disturbed.

Change in Two Colors.

The housewife will take a stamp from her ration book worth 16 points a week for meat or 48 points a month for canned goods [under current ration point allotments]. She will surrender the stamp to her grocer or butcher after making a purchase. After deducting the points consumed in the purchase, the merchant will give her change in tokens—red coins for meat and blue coins for canned goods.

The quarter size tokens will be worth 5 points and the nickel size, 1 point. Thus, if she buys a pound of meat for 12 points she will receive 4 points change from her stamp worth 16 points.

Can Save Her Tokens.

Stamps and tokens under the new plan will not expire, Kroeger said. Housewives will be able to accumulate unused stamps or tokens for single large purchases.

Advantages of the tokens, Kroger said, are the extension of the life of the ration book and the availability of "change" currency.

Spokesmen for the National Retailer-Owned Groceries, Inc., in Chicago said complete abandonment of ration coupons would have simplified the handling of ration currency, but the use of both coupons and tokens would be "a terrific pain in the neck."

George R. Dressler, president of the Chicago Retail Meat Dealers' association and former chief of the OPA retail meat rationing section in Washington, asserted the tokens would load added burdens on butchers already hampered by OPA bookkeeping procedures. Elimination of expiration dates for ration stamps will result in a disorderly demand for meat, he predicted.

Arden Shore Benefit Party Set for Oct. 9

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE hundreds who have danced annually at the gay benefit parties given by the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association will be glad to hear that there is to be another party this fall. It will be a Yankee Doodle party on Saturday night, Oct. 9, at the Drake hotel.

The committee always seeks a sponsor to underwrite the expenses of the dances, and appropriately has found a war plant as sponsor this year, the Stewart Warner company. Many children of war workers are spending the summer at the Arden Shore camp in Lake Bluff.

Mrs. Maynard G. Fessenden is acting chairman of the benefit, assisted by Mrs. Robert S. Berghoff and Mrs. Walter Gramm. Mrs. Kenneth K. Duvall is ticket chairman, with Mrs. Harold Dalton as her assistant. Mrs. Stanley O'Connell, Mrs. George H. Williamson, Miss Marie Barnes, Mrs. Grier D. Patterson, and Mrs. George L. Plamondon are others on the committee. Mrs. Plamondon will be in charge of the debutantes who will assist at the ball.

Peacock Camp Backers Plan Outing for Sunday.

Another organization that gives children a summer holiday in the country, the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children, is giving "A Day in the Country" on Sunday to which members of the camp board, associate members, and friends are invited. Guests are asked to bring their own box luncheons and to dine picnic style.

Sunday will be the first opportunity for the camp's friends to see its daily routine in its new home, formerly the estate of the late Miss Augusta Lehmann. During the afternoon there will be a sale, with an auction of a few impressive items, among them a steer donated by Philip Reddy. In case of rain the festivities will be moved indoors to the large amusement building that is part of the estate.

Mrs. Reddy, Mrs. Frank G. Reynolds, Mrs. H. Foster Straw, Mrs. Richard G. Gunthorp, and Mrs. John L. Clarkson are on the committee of arrangements. The chairman is Mrs. Harry N. King.

N. U. Settlement Board Juniors to Visit Camp.

The junior board of the Northwestern University settlement will hold an open board meeting next Monday at the House in the Woods, the summer camp which the board helps to maintain. Members will take their own picnic luncheons to the camp at noon and remain to take a tour of the grounds and to hear the annual reports called for by Mrs. James L. Peirce, president of the junior board.

Many of those who have reservations for the Knollwood club's popular Thursday barbecue dinner tomorrow night will go to the club early for a bit of golf practice in preparation for the annual Darby and Joan event on Sunday. This popular competition was started by a former president of Knollwood, David A. Molloy, and Mrs. Molloy, and is being carried on by the current president, George W. Rossetter, and his wife. Contestants must be husband and wife, and the shots

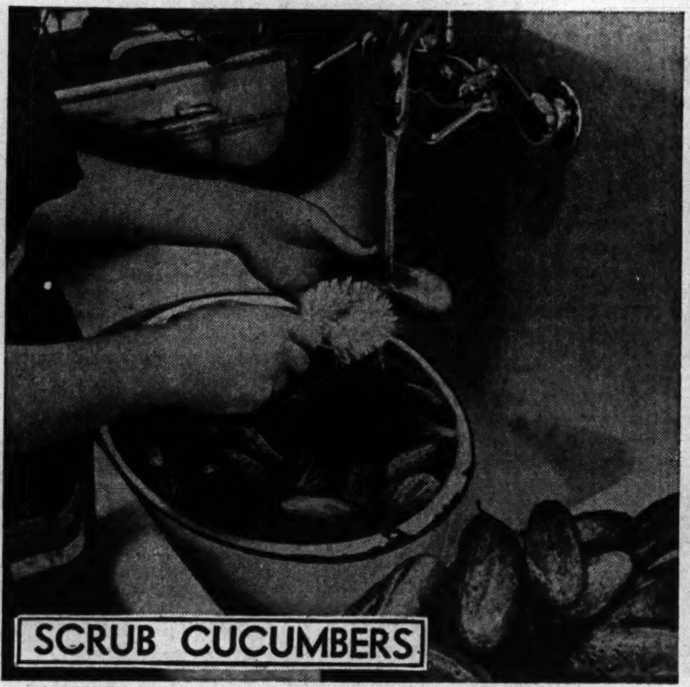
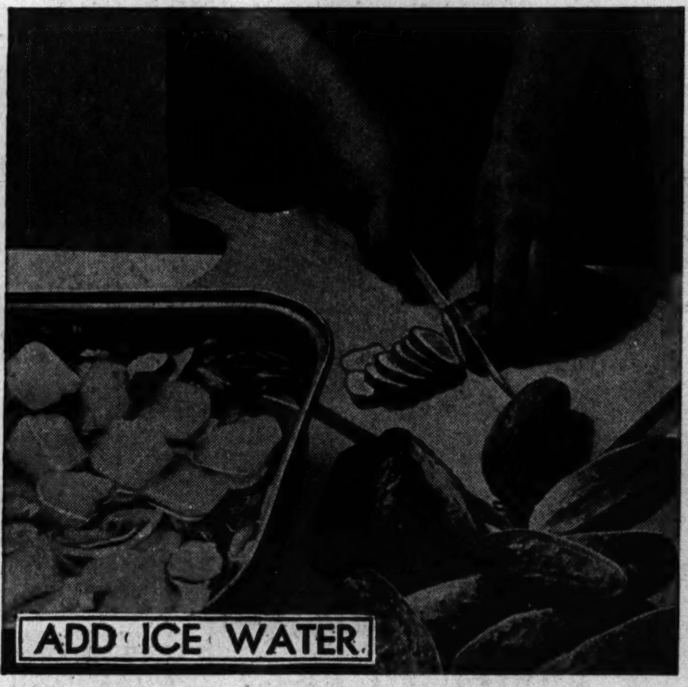
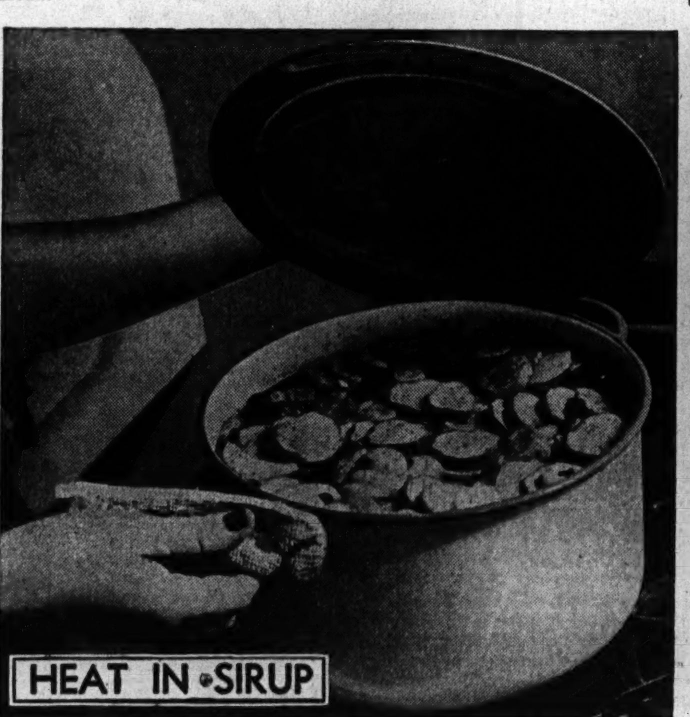
Picture Instructions for Making Bread and Butter Pickles



1. The first step in making any kind of pickles is to scrub fresh, firm cucumbers with a brush until they are entirely clean.

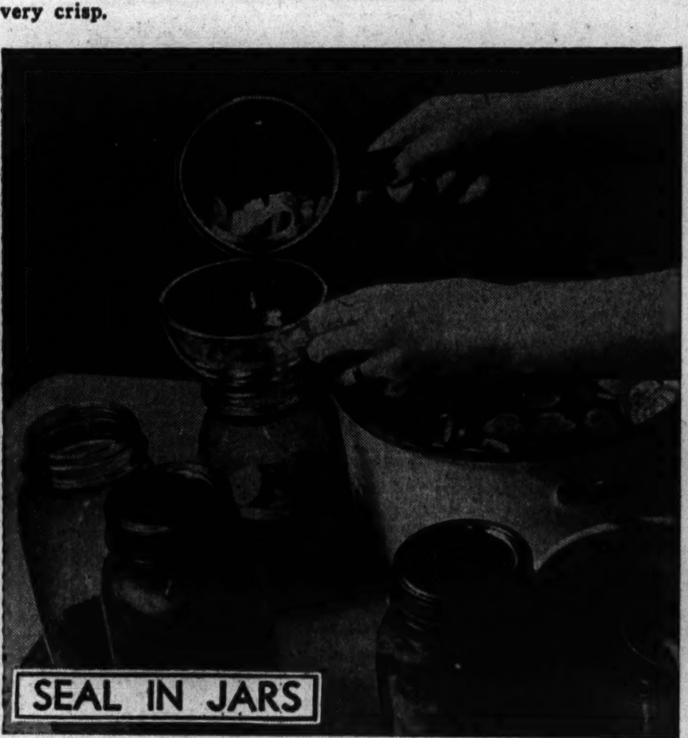


2. Slice 25 medium cucumbers and 12 onions. Add ½ cup salt and ice water to cover. Soak 3 hours in order to make pickles very crisp.



3. Drain; heat 2 minutes in sirup made of 2 quarts vinegar, 4 cups sugar, 4 teaspoons each mustard seed, celery seed, turmeric.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]



4. Pickles must not boil. Fill thoroly washed, scalded jars with hot pickles and sirup, seal, and store away for use next winter.

Saugatuck Church's Summer Fair to Be Presented on Friday

"Friday the 13th" will be a lucky day this year for those who go to the summer fair at Saugatuck, Mich., just across the lake from Chicago, a quaint town with a yacht club and many schools of painting, among them Oxbow, the summer school for the Chicago Art institute.

On Friday the women of All Saints church are presenting their summer fair at the big pavilion overlooking the Kalamazoo river. Episcopal church women of Chicago who are summering in Saugatuck, among them Mrs. Carleton B. Hutchins and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Ransom; Mrs. Harry Murfey, all of the Church of the Mediator, and Mrs. Fred Sanford of St. Paul's are busy helping the women of All Saints church to plan and carry out their big summer money-making project.

Parent-Teacher Congress Board Opens Its Sessions

The board of managers of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers yesterday opened a three day meeting in the Hotel Sherman which takes the place of the annual convention, canceled this year because of the war. With Mrs. Theodore Gleichman of Moline presiding, the leaders will wind up the year's business and review annual reports. For the first time in the history of the congress, election of officers is being conducted by a mail ballot, and yesterday the elections committee began the tabulations.

Crowd of 2,000 Is Thrilled by String Quartet

Concert by the Budapest String Quartet; George Szell, pianist. Presented at Ravinia Tuesday evening, Aug. 10, 1943. The program:
String Quartet, G minor, Op. 74, No. 3 ["The Horseman"]........Haydn
String Quartet, C major, Op. 59, No. 3....................Beethoven

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

No other booking of the music season shares quite the intimate charm of the Budapest string quartet at Ravinia, where it opened its third annual engagement of four concerts last night to an audience of about 2,000 people. Perhaps that seems a small crowd after the 8,000 or more who turned out to hear Artur Rubinstein and the Chicago Symphony orchestra last week, but chamber music is music in miniature, with a specialized, tho steadily increasing audience. A devoted audience, too. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, 12 people had claimed their favorite unreserved seats. At 5 o'clock, 100 sat firmly in their places, and by concert time the place was crowded to overflowing.

Meanwhile, Ravinia had made its own arrangements for the visitors, decking the stage in the drawing room from "Traviata" days, and planting it with phlox straight from the gardens, a lilac bush from the storehouse, some unlighted candles, and a handsome clock that pointed steadfastly to the wrong hour. In this ornamental setting, the quartet played superb Haydn and Beethoven, and dropped the second violin in favor of George Szell's visiting piano for Mozart's quartet for piano and strings, in E flat major.

It had been quite plainly explained that Mr. Szell was playing for fun, and without pay, having long ago relinquished his career as professional pianist for his chosen field of conducting. But he shared his fun with the audience, playing meticuously in pure ensemble style, and occasionally warming up to the wayward grace and witty elegance without which Mozart is no more than half realized. This was particularly true in the gay dialogue of the allegretto, so persuasively played the audience demanded and received an encore.

It goes without saying, however, that any group as closely and richly integrated as the Budapest string quartet does its finest work in its own hard won niche of brilliance. Here are ideally balanced tone, superb instrumental texture, sensitive virtuosity in performance, and that extra edge of verve and warmth which is the difference between something good and something magnificent.

These qualities bloomed in the luxuriant darkness of Beethoven's third Rasoumowsky quartet, one of the most beautiful in the repertory, and in Haydn's deeply satisfying work nicknamed "The Horseman," by some lively imagination that heard trotting in the first movement. I never heard a horse trot that way myself, but if you want to say that the largo is one of the most compassionate passages in music, I doubt that any one would argue with you after last night's perfect performance.

Urges Teachers Be Trained to Evaluate Children's Behavior

When a school child has a tantrum or steals, his action may result from one or more of 50 causes and most teachers are not equipped to decide which cause is present, Dr. Daniel Prescott, University of Chicago professor of education, said yesterday. He spoke at the opening session of the conference on human development for administrative and supervisory teachers and officers.

The study of child development has been regarded as the province of biologists, psychologists, social anthropologists, sociologists, and a dozen other fields, Dr. Prescott said. He urged training which would enable teachers to make valid judgments on each child.

College and high school teachers from nine states are attending the conference, which will continue thru Aug. 21. Reading matter on child development is available to those attending the meeting.

Good Morning!

He COULD be so objectionable—and he never is!

People who think they know everything usually don't, and they give you a pain. Sgt. Doubleday, who remembers everything he reads or hears and is invariably able to put superiors and colleagues right, never makes you mad. This, I figure, is because William Tracy has the ability to make his character project a genuine underlying simplicity, sincerity, and sweetness of nature. . . . A unique and interesting young man.

In "Yanks Ahoy" the half pint size soldier is about to be severed from his outgoing company and kept in this country. Which makes him feel just terrible. . . . His ability, at a psychological moment, to quote correctly to a harried officer certain rules from a missing manual causes the order to be rescinded. . . . He embarks with his buddies and a company of nurses under sealed orders for ports unknown. . . . Also aboard, of course, is Sgt. Ames, the hero's bete noire and closest friend. . . He and Ames, you know, if you follow the series, engage in a sort of perpetual Laurel and Hardy act. . . .

Doubleday's adventures aboard ship are many and rib tickling, concluding with his fishing for a whale and landing an enemy submarine. Romance the darling has, too, with one of the pretty nurses. . . .

It's all clean, amusing, simple, incredible, and well acted stuff which, temporarily, transports you out of this world of sin and ration points.

See you soon.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

It goes against the grain to throw away several tricks rather than allow the declarer to make one trick in that suit, but under certain circumstances this philosophy pays good dividends. It is, of course, entirely a question of the "objective"—whether the one trick declarer would have to be given would be more valuable to him than the several tricks would be to the defenders. There is also the consideration that in giving declarer his one trick, he is simultaneously given an entry, and this may be fatal to the defenders' cause. For example:

East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A Q 8 7
♥ Q 10 8 6 3
♦ J 9 4
♣ K

WEST
♠ K J 2
♥ A J 9 5
♦ 5
♣ J 10 8 7 6

EAST
♠ 10 9 4 3
♥ 7 2
♦ A K Q 6 2
♣ Q 5

SOUTH
♠ 6 5
♥ K 4
♦ 10 8 7 3
♣ A 9 4 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

North's third hand bid was pretty light, but at match-point duplicate, not to be censured. When the double of one no trump was left in by West, North was far from happy, but he decided to gamble it out rather than increase the contract to two hearts. This was a decision that is hard to fathom, in view of North's distribution.

West opened the club jack. Dummy's king won and a low heart was led to the king. West won, and recognizing that his partner must have a very good diamond suit, since he could have little else, shifted to his singleton. East took the queen and king, then despite his disappointment over the break of the suit, cashed the ace also. Meanwhile West hastily rid himself of two clubs, thereby directing East to abandon the club suit.

East read the situation correctly and returned a low spade. The king forced the ace, and on the play of the spade queen, West carefully unblocked his jack. Another spade lead lost to East, who cashed the fourth round of the suit, and then still shutting declarer out of his own hand, returned a heart right up to dummy's tenace position. Since West had the J-9-5, he was assured of another heart trick. This defeated the contract and gave East-West a good score on the board.

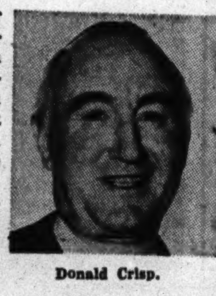
Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10.—If Spencer Tracy goes into "The Seventh Cross," I wonder what happens with his co-starring deal in "Without Love" with Katharine Hepburn. . . . Lon McAllister, before joining the army, plays the lead in "Home in Indiana" with Henry Hathaway. . . . Metro bought "The Last Express," which is a sequel to "Eyes of the Night," for Edward Arnold. . . . Joe Schenck engaged Grace Poggi to do a dance in "Tampico." . . . Both Zorina and Donald Crisp will play in "Bridge of San Luis Rey." . . . Lt. Comdr. Robert Montgomery is stationed at San Pedro, which is good news for his family and host of friends. . . . The reason Lum is missing from Lum and Abner's program this week is because Chet [Lum] Lauck has gone back to Pine Ridge, Ark., to present the treasury "T" to the home town folks while Abner carries on without him.



Donald Crisp.

Fancy Nazi.

Most unhappy actor in town is Walter Slezak, who submits to the curling tongs daily for his part in "Life Boat." Can you imagine 250 pounds with a curly top? If we keep on treating him like that, he'll go right back to Broadway and stay there. . . . Jess Barker made a fast switch. Finished with "Government Girl" in the morning, then played a love scene with Rita Hayworth in "Cover Girl" in the afternoon. Speaking of Rita, it seems mighty shortsighted of Harry Cohn not to let her appear in Orson Welles' tent show, where she'd finish her stint at 9:30. After all, you can't go to bed before that hour anyway. And think how many service men she'd make happy in the meantime. She wants to do it, soldiers want her, Orson wants her—so come on, Harry, be a nice guy.

Welcome.

Ben Lyon arrives here on leave from England in a couple of weeks to see his children. Bebe Daniels can't come. She's tied up in a play over there. They're doing a great job. Everybody loves them. Elsa Maxwell, here for five weeks, is deep in the heart of politics—but good. She sure gave Bill Bullitt his comeuppance in one of her columns, but did right well in another by Paulette Goddard. . . . Bill Howard, who directed "Johnny Come Lately," has two more to do with Jimmy Cagney. Jimmy's next may be "The Life of Billy Sunday" or "Life of O. Henry." It definitely won't be "Life of Jack L. Warner"! Kim Hunter, young actress picked up at Pasadena Playhouse, gets next feminine part to Ginger Rogers in "Tender Comrade." Jennifer Jones will be graduated from Hollywood hospital in three weeks as a nurses' aid . . . Shirley Temple, in her spare time, is directing a play sponsored by the Red Cross, written by Mary McCall Jr. 'Twill be seen at Beverly Vista school with a cast of school girls.

Wrong Way.

Tommy Dorsey's making himself no friends fast by failing to appear when promised on a command performance show, also at Canteen . . . Congressman Costello stopped in at Hollywood Canteen Saturday night after the Masquers club and sure got an eye and earful—what with Merle Oberon, Louise Rainer, Hedy Lamarr, Edgar Bergen, Lynn Bari, Roy Rogers, Sons of the Pioneers, Joan Leslie, Patricia Morison, Gail Russell, June Havoc, Phil Regan, 16 year old Elaine Nelson, Kay Kyser and band, and Bunny Waters on hand .

Checking on Old Man.

Carol Ann Beery, watching Pappy Wallace play in "Rationing," was overheard to say, "He may be only a butcher, but he has his points!" . . . She always burns a candle beside her bed. When Wally comes home, he blows it out. He said to her, "That's pretty dangerous, darling. Why do you do it?" "Because I can tell by the length of the candle how late you stayed out," she answered. . . . Grace Moore is off to the wilds of Colorado, where she and her husband will spend their 12th wedding anniversary, then come back here at end of September when Rex St. Cyr will throw a party for them.

Stage Note

Another play from the west coast invades Chicago when "Easy for Zee-Zee," described as a farce by Eugene Brieux, opens Monday evening at Foresters theater on North Dearborn street. Credited with 58 weeks in San Francisco and more than seven months in Hollywood, the play will be presented here by Warren B. Irons, once owner of the old Haymarket theater and operator of a stock company at the National.

Arden Shore Benefit Party Set for Oct. 9

are made alternately by "Darby" and "Joan."

Among the previous winners are the junior Adelor J. Pettits, who have been victors twice; the Donald S. Hoffmans, and the John A. Marzalls. Others who have entered the competition Sunday are the Wilson Spielmanns, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills, the Donald F. Boweys, and the Joseph F. Condons. There will be dancing after dinner tomorrow night.

Another Exhibit Added to Garden Show List.

An invitation class, "Supper on the Farm," has been added to the list of exhibits that will be on view at the Victory Garden show sponsored by the American Gardeners' association on Saturday and Sunday at the Winnetka community house. Some of the women who will be showing tables, representing various garden clubs on the north shore, are Mrs. Harold Kimbrough, Mrs. Spencer Beman, Mrs. David Kimball, Miss Judith Walsh, Mrs. Lee Fetcher, Mrs. Rush Brisbine, and Mrs. Fred Vandercook.

The show is being centered on a simulated small farm, complete with live chickens, picket fence, and corn. The association gardeners who are helping with the show will be dressed in overalls and will wear goatees. A number of young women who belong to the girls' service organization will be on hand to sell refreshments, dressed in dirndls. On their committee are Miss Nancy Lee, Miss Annette Williams, Miss Margaret French, Miss Jane Parker, Miss Rae Merrifield, and Miss Betty Barton.

Mrs. Montague Ferry Chairman of Judges.

Mrs. Montague Ferry, chairman of judges, is entertaining for her committee at luncheon at the Indian Hill club following the awarding of prizes on Saturday. Judges will be Mrs. G. McStay Jackson, Mrs. J. Wilson McAllister, and Mrs. Stanley Grace. The show is open to the public and all war gardeners are urged to exhibit. Mrs. Stephen S. Gregory, Mrs. Arthur Moulding, and Thomas Simpson, president of the association, are general chairmen of the show.

The 90 women who are members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra kept secret a surprise dinner they gave for members of the board last Saturday to say farewell to the retiring president, Mrs. James G. Shakman. At the party the orchestra presented a silver lyre on a wood base to Mrs. Shakman, made by Ernest Naquayouma, a full blood Hopi Indian, who works days in a defense plant and goes to night school to learn aircraft metal work. The board of the orchestra, now headed by Mrs. Albert H. Ullrich, is giving a benefit party next Wednesday night at the Sarong restaurant.

Baton Twirlers of 14 States to Compete Here

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

One hundred and eighty-nine young men and young women living in 70 cities located in 14 states are entered in the baton twirling contest of the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival, reports Fred Miller, who is in charge of the competitions.

Zane Miller, Joliet baton twirler entrant.

The Cook county preliminary competition for 80 contestants will be held at 5 p. m. next Tuesday in Soldiers' field. Winners there then will compete with out of the county contestants in the festival Saturday morning, Aug. 21, also in Soldiers' field. Win or lose, all the participants will take part in the grand entry parade near the opening of the festival concert that night.

No other baton twirling contest draws from such a large territory. The drum majors of high school, college, and other types of bands will come from states ranging from Texas to Massachusetts. In their attractive costumes they will twirl to music, and the night of the festival concert they will form a ring around more than 2,000 bandsmen. There will be contests for senior girls and boys, junior girls and boys, and juvenile girls and boys. Handsome festival gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded 18 winners in the six divisions.

Typical of war time replacement, the chief judge of this year's contest will be Mrs. Bernice Gaedke, wife of Ray Gaedke, who enlisted several weeks ago in the army engineer corps. Both he and his wife are excellent baton twirlers, he having won national honors.

Mr. Miller has had charge of all festival baton twirling contests, serving also as field supervisor of the evening performance in Soldiers' field. He has written numerous books on baton twirling and played with the champion Kankakee, Ill., American Legion drum and bugle corps when it attended the 10th annual convention of the Legion in Paris, France, in 1927.

Picnics Provide an Easy Way to Delight Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Talking about mother getting some vacation spirit and then putting it into action, is what we were doing in yesterday's column. Today let's go on with simple vacation suggestions.

Every child, big or little, dearly loves a picnic. Food by no other name tastes so sweet! Just putting the usual lunch in a basket [for atmosphere] and carrying it outdoors to eat creates a glamor. Even a sandwich, eaten under the sky [on the roof or in the park if you're a city dweller] makes a picnic. Getting away from the same four walls to eat is refreshing.

On the matter of picnics, especially if the carrying of your food is easily managed, the younger children's meals need not run to indigestibles. With lots of jam glasses, mayonnaise jars, or heavy paper containers, warm vegetables can be packed, butter for spreading on the spot, and whatever else makes a nourishing meal. Newspapers wrapped around bottles or jars containing cold or hot foods act almost like a vacuum container.

Sometimes you will go far afield with the children, perhaps have a camp picnic where you cook all or just one big part of your lunch or supper. This is just the grandest kind of outdoor pleasure. And if you're keen about it and are a city dweller you'll find an increasing number of places where fires are permitted. If you want to thrill the children, buy some simple camp equipment which can be divided up among the young adventurers to be carried. A grill, long forks, camp cups, and knives and spoons give an added zip to broiling or boiling or frying in the open. And when this is preceded by wood gathering, time can't hang heavy.

The other thing that children and most grownups share is a veritable universal enthusiasm for water. So when summer come, let them wallow and splash and frisk and squeal and swim and dive to their heart's content as you take your pleasure more sedately.

Water, like sand and sky and the green soft grass, is a child's own element. His joy in it is a delight to see, and is shared by many grownups. So include water in your play plans with your children.

Fashion Shows Keep College Shopper Busy

BY REA SEEGER.

Dog-day heat is to test the ardor of the college bound shopper, since the next couple of weeks will be filled with honest to goodness fashion shows and swanky openings of college shops. Interest isn't all focused on day time or date dresses, as every show will feature all kinds of sleeping and lounging outfits—typically young this year and designed for comfort as well as eye appeal.

New arrivals are the two-piece sleepers, a tuck-in or out top, with long sleeves and a pair of slacks, both units of soft, blush pink flannelette. Some are trimmed with cotton fringe braid, some have frog fasteners and some are tailored, minus any clutter and fuss. Also in the candlelight are the nightshirt type nightgowns, likewise of flannelette. They're cut along the uncompromising lines of the masculine nightshirt, but there the resemblance stops. True, they are short, ending just a few inches above the ankle, but the flannelette is effective floral printed material.

The crowd headed for college this year is going to be either a bunch of sissies because of the coddling assured by fleece lined slippers, padded robes, flannels and flannelettes, long sleeves, high, round collars and necklines, or else be the hardiest veterans of a first year on record. For, college clothes are of two extreme varieties, the woolens, tweeds and fleeces, and the streamlined wardrobes with emphasis on the day time clothes and necessary lingerie and lounging clothes without benefit of extra padding.

Take a Problem.

"Take a problem. Any problem. You have many, but take only one.

"Sit down with it in your office or in your living room. Take it with you on your strolls. But above all, stay with it. Stay with it until you work out a solution . . . the right solution.

"It may take only a few moments. It may take a week . . . a month . . . a year. It may take longer. But don't let it get away. Live with it by day . . . sleep with it at night. Get up with it each morning.

"Other problems will clamor for your attention. They will say, 'We are important!' They are not. The important problem is the one at hand. It is always the one at hand. You are under test. Give up this problem, inconsequential tho it be, and you will give up other problems. You are under test of your ability to think . . . to concentrate . . . to persevere.

"Once solved, this problem will give you new power. You will come up to the next problem with more enthusiasm . . . greater confidence. All problems will be easier because you have solved this one.

"Take a problem. One problem. Stay with it. Think . . . concentrate . . . persevere . . . carry thru." HIG.

Answers to Adposter.

"When the boss said 'Take a letter to Smith and Brown. Use the ampersand,' he meant the 'and' sign. Tell Adposter he should be proud of his boss—an ultra-modern business man." ALICE MORE.

"That's an easy one. I haven't been a white collar girl for almost three years since I promised to love and honor my husband and he promised to obey me. The 'ampersand' is the 'and' sign."

KOBINA OF KENOSHA.

"It doesn't take a white collar girl to answer your 'Adposter.' Our daughter, just turned five years of age, answered it perfectly. You see, she knows her 'Sunbonnet Babies A-B-C Book,' where you will find the sign called 'ampersand' on the next to the last page."

Minute Mysteries.

"Why your husband looks so undistinguishable from a half dozen other men when you view the back of his head in a bus or train.

"Why the dessert you choose is always 'off' the menu.

"Why, when the soft answer turneth away wrath, we so seldom use it." KAYDEE.

Marine Teams Will Drill at Music Festival

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The flashing, breath-taking precision drill for which the United States Marine corps is famous will be a part of the military and naval contribution to the 14th Annual Chicago Music Festival in Soldiers' field the evening of Aug. 21.

Two marine drill teams have been promised by Lt. Col. Carlton Hill, commanding officer of the marine aviation detachment at Navy pier. One team will be composed entirely of drill masters—men who have trained other men to perform miracles of coördination on the drill field and who will be eager to show their subordinates—and, incidentally, the expected festival audience of 90,000—that they can drill rings around everybody else.

These post-graduates of the precision drill will number 15 to 18 and will be headed by Corp. Wallace R. Klingle of Yakima, Wash. They will perform a fancy manual of arms which is as different from the ordinary, run of the mill manual of arms as the piano playing of Vladimir Horowitz is from that of Sadie Glutz next door.

Another team of 40 to 45 marines, trained so every response is automatic and instantaneous, will be commanded by Sgt. Robert F. Winkler. Col. Hill himself will give the commentary and will keep the audience posted on what his men are doing. As the marines come on the field they will be saluted by a rousing performance of "The Marines Hymn" ["From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli"] by the Festival Symphony orchestra under Henry Weber's direction.

Col. Hill explained yesterday that even marines destined for technical jobs receive training which will protect them in actual combat. Military science has yet to find a better way of teaching automatic and instantaneous obedience than by close order drill.

The marines use the familiar close order drill of the infantry, but dress it up with innumerable touches of their own. Not satisfied with a simple right to left shoulder arms, for instance, they will give the rifle a few twirls which add immeasurably both to the maneuver's difficulty and to its spectator interest. Also, they are prepared to do much of the manual of arms while marching at quick tempo.

Speaking of quick tempo, the two teams who are to appear in Soldiers' field have stepped up the march cadence from 120 to 135 steps to the minute. This, plus the many non-regulation movements which have been added, will make their exhibition one of the most stirring ever to be seen in Chicago.

Another contribution of the marine corps that evening will be a color guard of four men in full marine dress for the Royal Canadian Air Force units which are to appear at the festival.

Music Festival Film to Be Presented on Loop Movie Screen

"Music for Americans," a melody and action packed 22 minute movie short which was made at the 13th Chicago Music Festival last Aug. 15 at Soldiers' field, will be shown at the Grand theater, Clark street near Randolph, today in conjunction with two longer pictures, "They Got Me Covered," featuring Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, and "The Falcon Strikes Back."

"Music for Americans" was made by Wilding Picture Productions, Inc. It contains several of the highlights of the 1942 festival, including the music of the Great Lakes Naval Training station choir and band, the banjo playing of Lt. Comdr. Eddie Peabody, the appearances of the winning man and woman soloist [Robert McFerrin and Harriet O'Rourke] with the festival symphony orchestra under Henry Weber's direction, a part of the talk of Stanley Johnston, Tribune war correspondent and author of "Queen of the Flat Tops"; the brilliant war industry spectacle, "March of the Steel Men," and the agile piano playing of Lt. Eddie Duchin.

"Music for Americans" will remain at the Grand thru next Tuesday, with no showings Sunday. This is the start of the film's general distribution in the middle west.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Several hundred directors of nursing schools in the midwest convened yesterday morning in the John B. Murphy auditorium of the American College of Surgeons to hear Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, and Miss Lucille Petry, on leave from Cornell university as national director of nursing education, announce plans for launching the recruitment program for the recently created cadet nurse corps.

CADET
NURSE
Sleeve insignia for cadet nurse corps.

Dr. Parran described the Bolton-Bailey act, which created the corps and which he described as the most important piece of health legislation ever passed by congress. He warned of the fast diminishing number of nurses available for civilian service and said a further drain on nursing ranks would result in a calamity comparable to a major military catastrophe.

In outlining the program, Dr. Parran said that its basic principle is decentralization. To assure its success, he said, the state public health services, in coöperation with their nursing councils for war service, will set up recruiting stations in community hospitals. Of the 65,000 nurses needed for the coming year, he added, 5,082 of that number must be recruited in Illinois.

Miss Petry described the program as a two point one—increased recruiting and acceleration of curriculum. She praised the new law, asserting that it provides young women not only with recognition and a sense of responsibility while they're still student nurses but also pays their tuition and maintenance and provides uniforms with distinctive insignia.

Young women interested in enrolling in the cadet nurse corps should get in touch with Miss June A. Ramsey, Illinois Council for War Service, 8 South Michigan avenue.

Two supervisors of stewardess employment for American Airlines, Miss Ruth Anderson and Miss Marcella Rheaume, will be at the Palmer House today and tomorrow to interview prospective stewardesses from the middle western area. The new class, to be limited to 35 members, will open late in September and will cover subjects such as theory of flight, elementary radio, and meteorology, air line procedure, and stewardess duties.

Qualifying applicants must have completed four years of college work, or two years of college plus two years of business experience; must be American citizens, 21 to 28 years old, and unmarried, and have good health and vision. Their weight must not exceed 125 pounds, and the maximum height is five feet six inches.

Two young women, following in their respective families' marine tradition, celebrated their 20th birthdays yesterday by enlisting in the women's reserve of the marine corps. They are Alice Marie Jura, 5253 South California avenue, and Ruth Nelrose Hoene of Milwaukee.

Miss Jura's father, Michael, served as a marine private in the first World war. He is now a foreman in the International Harvester company tractor works, where his daughter was a file clerk and typist. Miss Hoene's father, Grover, a former marine recruiting sergeant, is now in defense work.

Both girls are waiting assignment to report for training at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C.

Woman's City Club to Present Forum on Racial Question

The Woman's City club has invited members of the citizens' interracial committee recently appointed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, librarians, the presidents of other women's organizations, the OCD morale division, and the Chicago park district recreation division to attend a forum at 8 o'clock tonight in its suite in the Fine Arts building for the discussion of racial tension and means for promoting better understanding between races in Chicago.

Tonight's forum grew out of a recent meeting at the club for the study of a growing movement thruout the country toward community meetings for public discussion of vital questions. Ralph McCallister, executive secretary of the Adult Education council, who presided at that assembly, will lead the racial forum.

Mrs. Harry M. Mulberry will preside at the meeting.

Amy R., Chicago—We have never had a special table at our house for the family typewriter, and as no screws anchored the machine in conventional style, it always did quite a bit of creeping or sliding around—that is, until my oldest brother tacked some sandpaper, rough side up, to the table on which the typewriter stands. Now we aren't afraid the machine will work its way to the floor when any of the younger crowd get to it.

Cello Soloist Gives Concert Needed Spark

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra—augmented by two mere males, one in the oboes and one in the basses—gave the Grant park concert last night under the direction of Nicolai Malko. Sgt. Ennio Bolognini lent his enlivening influence as cello soloist.

The concert was somewhat in need of such an influence, for tho the audience was large and disposed to be friendly, the orchestral portion of the program teetered dangerously to the dull side of things. Mendelssohn's "Fingal's Cave" overture came first, and the waves that splashed around the Hebrides were very small waves with scarcely any foam on them. Nor did Schubert's "Unfinished" symphony, which followed, provide the needed shot in the arm. Mr. Malko's interpretation veered between the patiently poetic and the sheerly laborious, which still might have been of interest had his ladies observed more of the proprieties of good orchestral playing. Faulty intonation was rife among the woodwinds and brasses, and wrong notes were frequent.

Things picked up with Felix Borowski's tone poem, "The Passionate Springtime," said to be receiving its initial Grant park performance. This early work of the versatile Chicagoan abounds in lush melody and colorful orchestration. The orchestra played it with enthusiasm, and the public received it in like manner.

The pace of course became still livelier with the appearance of Sgt. Bolognini to play the Saint-Saens cello concerto. Tho his fingers are now more accustomed to plane controls than to the finger board—he is a civil air patrol instructor—his zest for making music remains unabated and irresistible. It was bold and forthright playing of music sometimes termed effeminate and the public was delighted when he returned for another session with the orchestra—this time Popper's "Tarantella."

Navy to Recruit Women Doctors on Mass Basis

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 [Special].—Breaking down the bars against women doctors in the services, the navy today announced it is seeking an initial contingent of 600 feminine physicians to be commissioned as lieutenant commanders, lieutenants, and junior grade lieutenants.

While the navy already has eight women doctors serving with the WAVES and the army has 10 commissioned in the medical corps, this is the first action to take any sizeable group of women doctors into the medical corps of any branch.

The new navy contingent will be limited to service in the continental United States under the present program. To be eligible, applicants must have no children under 18, and cannot be married to navy men.

Women doctors must meet the same professional requirements as men and must be approved also for military service by the procurement and assignment service for physicians. General medical officers must be between 21 and 35 and specialists between 27 and 50.

Except for those enlisting immediately on graduation from medical school, the applicants must be members of a state or local medical society, be licensed to practice medicine and have on year's internship in an approved hospital.

The new group of women doctors will be commissioned under a law passed last spring giving them the same status as men doctors in the services. An amendment to restrict the women to home duty was turned down, but under the language of the bill the services were allowed to make their own regulations regarding their "duties and assignments."

There is some question whether the navy will be able to fill its "initial request" for 600 women physicians. Leaders of the profession at the hearings on the women doctors' bill estimated that no more than 800 out of the 4,000 women doctors in the country would be eligible for service with the forces.

Thru the Looking Glass

The more we see of those new type colognes that have emerged from the fascinating laboratory of war time necessity the more we like them.

There are, for example, four pastel tinted colognes in exquisite hobnail bottles. These are among the most charming and the most inexpensive finds on the cosmetic counters today. They make good gifts—perfect for the week-end hostess or the bridge party—and even better possessions. The only thing nicer than one bottle would be a pair, which constitutes one of the prettiest bath or boudoir ornaments we've seen anywhere.

These don't contain a smidge of alcohol, but they have all the nice attributes of the old time colognes; they dry instantaneously on the skin, they help to make it feel cooler and fresher, and they carry perfume beautifully. If anything, we find the "cream" colognes a little better as the carrying agent for the perfume than the old alcohol type. Ordinarily the scent lasts longer. And of course, if you're extremely dry skinned and have found alcohol rather trying in that it is drying, this new type base has plenty to be said for it.

The new lovelies in the round, slender neck hobnail bottles are in four fragrances. The gardenia is tinted a bud green, the carnation a soft hepatica pink, the apple blossom a pale, dreamy pink, and the honeysuckle a daffodil yellow. They're quite beautiful to look at and the scents themselves are true as truth. How it is all done at such a small price we don't know. But it suits us fine!

HERO OF ROSE BOWL GAME JOINS ALL-STARS

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

MAJOR league teams are said to be making cautious plans to train in Florida, Texas, and California next spring, with the ODT's blessing, of course. . . . The appreciation service men have shown for camp exhibition games is said to be the basis of the hopefulness. . . . Wallace Butts of Georgia, who is helping Harry Stuhldreher get the College All-Stars ready for their game with the Washington Redskins the night of Aug. 25, admires the stand the Big Ten conference has taken on the continuation of football. . . . Some of the schools in other sections which have abandoned the game are more interested in protecting their gridiron reputations and the prestige of their coaches than they are in the benefits the sport holds for participants, he believes. . . . Georgia will play a schedule with only freshmen available for material. . . . Even tho the home canning season is reported to be livelier now than at any time in many years, the last two ladies' day crowds at Wrigley field have been the largest in several seasons. . . . The New York Herald Tribune has abandoned its All-Star football game. . . . It couldn't find player material. . . . The New York contest always has been a second rate affair competitively and financially, which usually is the fate of imitations. . . .

Ben Engram, known as a race track regular, is authority for the following anecdote of the variety classed as "Those things never happen to me." . . . A policeman who always wants to know how the owners are betting before he places his own wagers followed a well known horseman up to the $10 window before a recent race at Washington Park. . . . The horseman held up one finger and told the mutuel clerk: "I want one on No. 11." . . . The eavesdropper saw the one finger and heard the "one," whereupon he hustled away to tell his friends that this well informed owner was betting on No. 1. . . . No. 1 happened to be Silver B, a 60 to 1 shot which seemed better fitted for pulling a brewery wagon. . . . The conspirators shook their heads with foreboding but nevertheless got loaded on Silver B. . . . The aftermath, of course, was inevitable. . . . Silver B came in and paid $123.40. . . . We still say those things never happen to us.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox were sort of slow about stepping out under the Comiskey park lights last night, but once under way they made short work of Joe Cronin's Boston boys in the series opened before 20,336. Subjected to indignities for five innings by Heber Newsome, they took after him with a three run sixth, added another in the seventh against Rescuer Mace Brown, and thus fitted Little Eddie Smith with the necessary ingredients for his season's seventh success. The score was 4 to 2 and it gave the Dykes' gang a clear title to third place.

Smitty fell into an early two run deficit because of leaks in his defense and he would have remained in that unhappy state if Jimmy Webb and Vince Castino hadn't decided an adjustment had to be made. They peeled off singles in the productive sixth, Joe Kuhel did his bit with a pass and Smitty himself took a hand by singling in the tying run, the hit setting the stage for a bad throw that let the galloping Castino untie the knot.

Specialists Good and Bad.

Mr. Dykes' individual specialists in the hitting and running arts experienced both good and bad evenings. League leading Luke Appling exploded only one hit but increased his mark by one point to .334, two passes holding down his times at bat. Guy Curtright, the Sox other Big Six enrolee, accomplishing nothing, his average dropping to .315. And Wally Moses, who was anxious to entertain with his base stealing, didn't have a chance to add to his pace setting total of 35. He didn't get to base in five appearances and to round out the profitless evening he was dazed when Thurman Tucker barged into him in the seventh while he was busy catching a fly ball. As proof that no damage was done Wally sprinted about a city block to grab a fly hoisted by Manager Cronin when he pinch batted for Brown in the ninth.

Culberson Scores on Error.

The Bostons' second inning started with a single by Doerr but this didn't figure in the subsequent run. Doerr stole second and this seemed so simple that he tried to get to third the same way after one was out. Smitty nailed him with a toss to Hodgin. Then Culberson walked and Partee singled. Appling smothered H. Newsome's hit in deep short and in an attempt to force Partee at second, heaved the ball into right field, Culberson scoring on the error. Curtright cleaned up this situation by capturing L. Newsome's fly.

The third inning run that gave the enemy its 2 to 0 edge was 100 per cent charity. Smitty's big

FOX, BYRNE PACE WOMEN GOLFERS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Catherine Fox and Kay Byrne, the two eastern gals who shared the qualifying medal Monday in the 43d annual amateur tournament of the Women's Western Golf association, will still be very much in evidence for this morning's second round of match play at the Evanston Golf club as a result of first round victories yesterday.

But from here on, the Misses Fox and Byrne anticipate rough going, particularly the latter. The 25 year old New York radio singer, temporarily registered from Tam o' Shanter, will tee off this morning against Mary Agnes Wall from Menominee, Mich. While Miss Byrne was moving along with a 6 and 5 decision over Mrs. F. W. Zimmerman of Edgewater, Mary Agnes was traveling at an even faster pace. For the 11 holes she required to eliminate Dolly Schildmiller of Cincinnati, 8 and 7, Miss Wall was two under par, and then played out the bye holes for a full 75, one under Evanston's figures.

Miss Fox Wins, 4 Up.

Miss Fox, the Glen Ridge, N. J., professional's daughter whose tournament address is Chicago's Glen Oak club, experienced little trouble in disposing of Marion Schuster of La Grange, 6 and 4, doing the first nine in even par of 38 for a 4 up advantage. Today, Miss Fox draws Mrs. L. H. Selz of Northmoor, who, as Jane Weiller, won the W. W. G. A. open in 1932. Mrs. Selz put out one of Ohio's better swingers, Naomi Copic of Toledo, 2 and 1.

Another promising second round bout is that between two former holders of the W. W. G. A. junior—Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., and Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D. Miss Cline defeated Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, O., 5 and 3, while Miss Tainter ran into considerable trouble before winning, 2 and 1, from Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

Redskins Revive Lost Art for All-Star Game—Kicking

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10 [Special].—Field goal kicking and points after touchdowns, which have been only incidental in the College All-Star pattern since 1940, may take on the importance they enjoyed in the earlier games of the big series when the 10th game is played Aug. 25 in Evanston between the Washington Redskins and the Collegians.

The Redskins were kicking that ball around today, just as they have been for the last 10 days. The pro champions' board of strategy is agreed a kick after touchdown, or a field goal, well may settle the issue in what appears to be the most evenly matched game since 1939. That was the year the New York Giants triumphed, 9 to 0, on two placements by Ken Strong and one by Ward Cuff, the Marquette star.

Came 1940 and a 45 to 28 triumph for Green Bay. In 1941, the Chicago Bears won, 37 to 13, and followed this up last August with a 21 to 0 victory.

Five Polish Kicking.

Five Redskins are taking part in the daily kicking fiesta. They are Bob Masterson, Joe Aguirre, Leroy Zimmerman, Joe Pasqua, and Jack Jenkins. They start 30 yards away from the posts, then move back to the 40. Jenkins, the all-purpose rookie from Vanderbilt, supplied a mild sensation this afternoon by kicking five in a row from the 40.

Aguirre, a 6 foot 4 inch end, was the Redskins' best kicker in 1941. But last year he had no chance to show his skill. Joe shipped on a merchant vessel as a purser. The ship was delayed and when Joe finally returned to the United States, the football season was over. Masterson kicked a field goal in the final minute last year to beat Philadelphia, 30 to 27. Pasqua, a tackle from the immobilized Cleveland club, did some fancy work for the Rams. Jenkins, in addition to his blocking and running duties at Vanderbilt, was a kicking expert.

The champions boast they have the best ball holder in the business. This specialist is Sammy Baugh, who rested again today from the effects of a cold which settled in his back. Sammy applies the same effort and concentration in holding the ball for kickers he does in everything else.

Sho' Is Important.

Holding the ball, he tells you, sho' is important. First, you must line it up squarely. Some like to have

All-Star Luncheon

THE entire personnel of the All-Star football squad will be guests at a luncheon in the Morrison hotel Monday in their only off campus appearance. Donald Williamson is in charge of the program which will be conducted under the auspices of the Junior Association of Commerce. Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained at the headquarters of the Junior Association of Commerce, 1 North La Salle street, and in The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Charley Trippi, the Georgia half back who gained more ground in the Rose bowl game Jan. 1 than the entire U. C. L. A. team, joined the All-Star football men yesterday at Northwestern. With Trippi answering present at morning roll call, the collegians now are ready for top speed in their offensive drills by which they hope to whip the Washington Redskins decisively on the night of Aug. 25.

Trippi reported from his army base in Greensboro, N. C., and was greeted by Georgia's coach, Wally Butts, who is one of the assistants to Harry Stuhldreher. Even Babe Horrell, who directed the U. C. L. A. eleven when Trippi carried the Bulldogs to their Rose bowl triumph, had a special word of welcome, altho Trippi personified memories Babe would just as soon forget.

Form Record Group.

Trippi completes a quartet of half backs which has no parellel in the history of the All-Star games sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities. The others are Paul Governali of Columbia, Bob Steuber of Missouri, and Otto Graham of Northwestern.

In any year any one of these stars would have been most welcome. But the four of them, because of their all around talents, established a record for material at the left half back post.

Trippi was a sophomore last season at Georgia and, naturally, Frankie Sinkwich, a senior, received more publicity. The fact is Trippi supplanted Sinkwich at tail back for the last five games of the regular season and Sinkwich was moved to full back. Trippi scored five touchdowns on runs of 50 yards or more and completed more than half of his 53 forward passes. Against U. C. L. A., Trippi gained 110 yards and carried the ball 27 times.

Ideal Type of Player.

"Trippi is the ideal type of player for the All-Stars," Coach Butts told his colleagues yesterday. "Sinkwich is a great player, but he always needed two weeks to get down to weight. Charley's ready now and he'll make those Washington players hustle to stop him."

Since most of the All-Stars came from the services, conditioning is less of a problem than in other years. Lt. Tony Hinkle of Great Lakes, an assistant All-Star coach, believes this All-Star squad is ready now for contact work.

"We may have our first scrimmage tomorrow," Coach Stuhldreher told his men after practice. "It's full equipment for both the morning and afternoon drills."

The emphasis is on speed. No practice passes without the series of sprints. This information of comparative speed will be translated into the formations of the first, second, and third teams. The lineups will be integrated on speed which will make the timing of the attack easier.

THE FOES SQUARE OFF

The Washington Redskins are scrimmaging on the west coast in preparation for their game with the college football All-Stars in Dyche stadium Aug. 25. The All-Stars are limbering up on the north shore field.

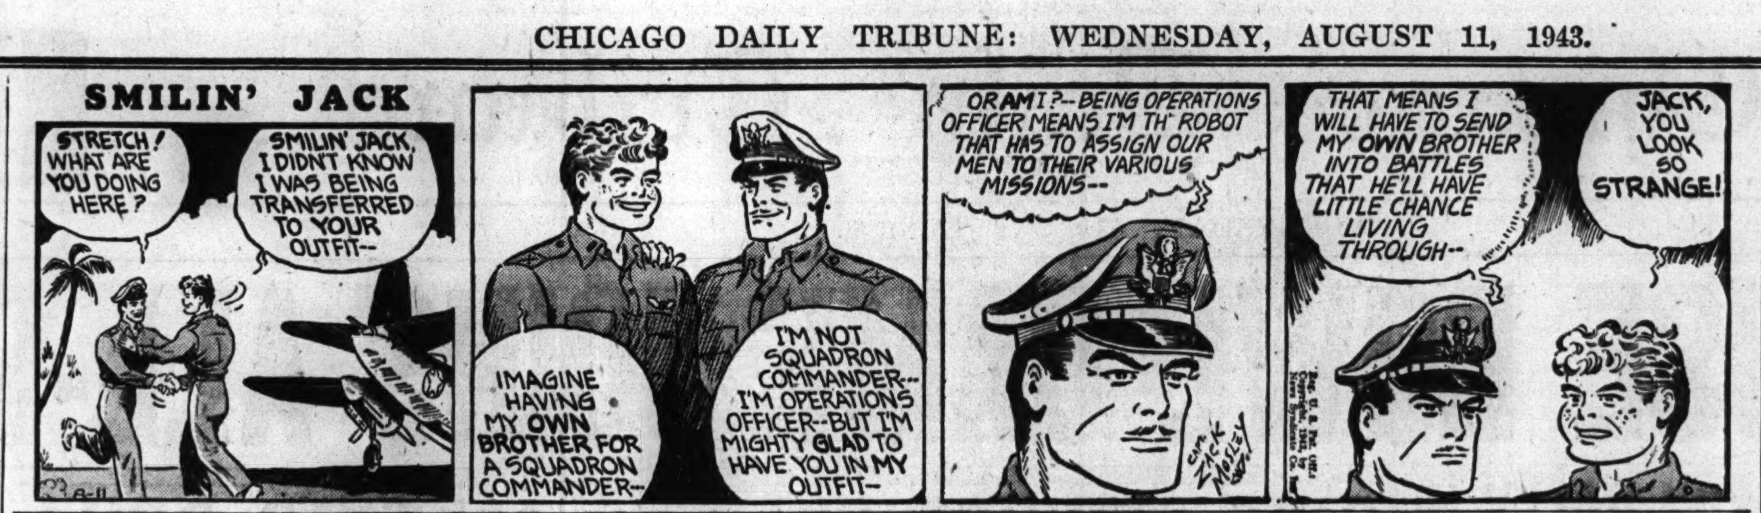
WOTTA YA MEAN, I CAN'T TAKE YOUR SAFE HOME TO WORK ON IT? DON'T YOU THINK I'M HONEST?
YES, INDEED, BUT IT WILL JUST HELP TO KEEP YOU HONEST.



SMILIN' JACK
STRETCH! WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?
SMILIN' JACK I DIDN'T KNOW I WAS BEING TRANSFERRED TO YOUR OUTFIT—
IMAGINE HAVING MY OWN BROTHER FOR A SQUADRON COMMANDER—
I'M NOT SQUADRON COMMANDER—I'M OPERATIONS OFFICER—BUT I'M MIGHTY GLAD TO HAVE YOU IN MY OUTFIT—
OR AM I?—BEING OPERATIONS OFFICER MEANS I'M TH' ROBOT THAT HAS TO ASSIGN OUR MEN TO THEIR VARIOUS MISSIONS—
THAT MEANS I WILL HAVE TO SEND MY OWN BROTHER INTO BATTLES THAT HE'LL HAVE LITTLE CHANCE LIVING THROUGH—JACK, YOU LOOK SO STRANGE!

†Bull's Eye	111	No boy	6-1

*A. C. Ernst entry.
†H. P. Headley entry.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Occupation and Burnt Cork will drop back into their own age class this afternoon to run in the $5,000 Dick Welles handicap at Washington Park.

Here they'll find plenty of competition in the field of 10 over a distance that suits them less than the one they tackled so unsuccessfully against older horses last Saturday.

Both of them had their ears pinned back in the week-end feature when they tried to carry their early speed against Signator. As a result they finished far out of it even at six furlongs. Today, at a mile, they'll encounter a field which includes Alforay, Alquest, Cabin Creek, All Hoss, Bull's Eye, Marchon, Valdina Foe, and Beau Ary.

Derby Eligibles Run Today.

This was the stake in which Alsab last year demonstrated that he was serious about his comeback. Subsequently he went on to take the American Derby. There are a number of Derby eligibles in today's field — Alquest, All Hoss, Burnt Cork, and Occupation — but Slide Rule, which is the current boss man of this field of endeavor because of his victory in the Classic, is down east just at present. He'll be back in time for the big race, however.

Brownell Combs sent out a daughter of Bull Lea and Myrtle Wood to win the first race yesterday. This filly, Durazna, scored by three and a half lengths over Brown Flame. Ya-Man won the second, the two paying $209.40 for the daily double.

Shut Out Surprises.

Shot Put, which had been dormant for quite a while, woke up unexpectedly to win the feature event of yesterday's program, a gallop of a mile and an eighth. After the favorite, Parasang, and the second choice, Cherry Trifle, had engaged in an early duel under moderate pressure, Shot Put just rolled in thru the stretch. At odds of better than 7 to 1, the longest shot in the field of five, he finished a length and a quarter ahead of Pirate while Parasang took third.

It was Shot Put's first victory since the Churchill Downs meeting last spring. His payoff was $16.80, $10 and $3.40 across the board.

ROUND ROBIN PIN TOURNAMENT TO START TONIGHT

Sixteen topflight bowlers start their pre-season activities tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Dearborn-Jackson recreation when the first squad in the second annual Masters Round Robin tournament opens competition. The tourney will continue every night, except Sunday, until Aug. 21.

The squads and nights on which they bowl, with all matches starting at 8:30 p. m.:

HAGG TO HAVE STOPWATCH IN MIND TONIGHT

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Bill Hulse and Gil Dodds are listed as Gunder Hagg's opponents when the galloping Swede makes the farewell appearance of his American tour in a special mile race at Randall's Island stadium tomorrow night, but his real opponent will be a stop watch.

Hagg has his heart set on bettering the time of 4:02.6 recently made by his fellow countryman, Arne Andersson.

12 Go to Post Today in Rich Hambletonian

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Shorn of its county fair atmosphere by war time transportation problems, light harness horse racing brings its most famous race, the Hambletonian, to the metropolitan area for the first time tomorrow when 12 3 year old trotters battle over Empire City's oval for $42,298.

Volo Song, unbeaten in three starts this season after being crowned the champion of the 1942 2 year olds, is expected to rule the 3-2 choice. He'll be coupled in the betting with two more White trained horses, W. N. Reynolds' Barbara Babcock and Gordon Gray. And for the first time it'll be father against son, for Gibson White will drive the diminutive Gordon Gray.

Phonograph, boasting of the year's best mark with a 2:02 3-5 clocking, and Worthy Boy probably will go postward at 3:15 p. m., eastern war time for the first of the two-out-of-three heats, pretty near co-second choices at 3 to 1.

Prep Star Gets $10,000 for Signing with Giants

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—The New York Giants announced today they had signed Dick Lajeskie, Passaic, N. J., high school junior, to a contract and that the youthful shortstop would report to the Jersey City club of the International league at Montreal tomorrow. Lajeskie, who has been playing recently with a Glen Rock, N. J., semi-pro team, received a $10,000 bonus for signing.

Two Upset in Metropolitan Tennis Meet

Semi-finals were reached in all divisions in the second annual Metropolitan tennis tournament on the River Forest courts yesterday.

Two upsets occurred during the day's competition. In one, Louis Gross, unseeded, eliminated his fellow Chicagoan, Bob Gilmeister, seeded No. 4, 6-3, 6-0, in the second round of the boys under 16 class. In the other, Johnny Wenrich, Chicago, beat Jim Grossnickle, Columbus, Miss., seeded No. 4, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3 in the quarter-finals of the boys under 14 division.

Howe Atwater beat James Kemper, both of Chicago, 6-2, 6-3, in the junior quarter-finals, and Dick Randall upset Charles Smeeth, both of River Forest, 6-2, 6-4, in another juniors engagement.

In his two second round engagements, playing in two divisions of the tournament, Rodrigo De Llano, Laredo, Tex., beat George Frischke, Hinsdale, Ill., 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, in his junior match and eliminated Bob Norman, River Forest, 6-2, 6-4, in the boys under 16 class.

Two of the pre-tourney favorites in the girls under 18 class won their matches, Joan Dunn, Des Moines, Ia., beating Dolly Birkhead, Milwaukee, 6-4, 6-2, and Elaine Passow, River Forest, defeating Harriett Stowe, Kalamazoo, Mich., 6-2, 6-4.

Lill Coals Break Even in Windy City Softball

The Lill Coals divided an American division double header in the Windy City softball league last night in Hilburn stadium by defeating the Owl Club, 12 to 4, after losing the opener, 10 to 7, to Eddie's Service.

Redskins Have Kicking Plans for All-Stars

the ball straight up as they kick it. Others want it at this or that angle. A sloppy ball holder can ruin the kick. Some turn their finger loose from the top of the ball before the kicker's impact. Not Sam. He keeps that finger there until contact has been made.

Likewise, Baugh's punting figures to be a terrific factor in the game, just as it was last December when he booted three quick kicks from which the Bears never recovered. Baugh can kick a ball almost as accurately as he throws it. He whams low liners, always away from the safety man.

When the Texan's not in there slanting those line drives it will be Zimmerman or Jack Akins, the freshman from Washington State. So the Redskins shape up strong in the kicking department.

Plan Second Scrimmage.

Today the players bounced off against the tackling and blocking dummies and continued their work on passing and running plays. A scrimmage is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, which will involve only members of the squad. In Sunday's scrimmage several members of the San Diego Bombers participated.

The pro champions will visit Camp Pendleton Thursday. The marine base, largest in the west, is 35 miles north of San Diego. Their host will be Maj. Gen. Joseph Fegan, former director of athletics at Quantico. Marines will put on a combat conditioning demonstration for the visitors that morning. In the afternoon the Redskins will return the compliment by working out at the base.

Don't be surprised if the Redskins sign Jim Youel, the Iowan who will play against them in the All-Star game.

Gen. John V. Clinnin in Critical Condition

Gen. John V. Clinnin, former chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, is in critical condition at Alexian Brothers hospital from injuries incurred in a fall off a ladder at his home in Glencoe a few days ago.

BOB PENALUNA PLANS ALL-STAR VICTORY AS GIFT

Iowa Guard Would Make It Wedding Present.

Bob Penaluna, Iowa guard, has good reason for desiring a victory for the College All-Stars over the Washington Redskins in Dyche stadium Aug. 25. The former Hawkeye star, now in the coast guard, will be married three days after the game to Jeanne Huston of Waterloo, Ia., culminating a romance which began in high school and continued thru their college days at Iowa.

Bob wants to present his bride-to-be with a victory as a wedding present and for that reason he is one of the hardest working linemen on the All-Star squad. The husky Hawkeye guard enlisted in the coast guard back in February and after boot training in St. Augustine, Fla., was assigned to Port Everglades, Fla., where he now is stationed.

Like all former Iowa stars, Penaluna can't get over the loss of his athletic idol, Nile Kinnick, who met an aviator's death at sea while serving on a carrier. Bob was a freshman at Iowa when Kinnick rose to the gridiron heights with his brilliant exploits in 1939.

"He was, bar none, the greatest athlete of his day and every one who knew him at Iowa never will forget him or how he made the supreme sacrifice in the service of his country," said Penaluna.

Otto Graham of Northwestern and Creighton Miller of Notre Dame rank as the outstanding ping-pong players on the All-Star squad. The two have defeated allcomers and are expected to engage in a match for the team championship in the near future.

Three of the four former Washington State players on the All-Star team are members of the 316th army air base squad, at Fort George Wright near Spokane. They are Bill Remington, center; Nick Susoeff, end, and Bob Kennedy, half back. Dick Renfro, the fourth member of the Cougar squad, expects to be in the service next month.

hearted attitude induced him to slip a pass to Lupien who led off. Metkovich sacrificed, then Tabor popped out, whereupon Smitty issued another gratuity, Doerr being the recipient. Fox turned loose a rakish liner to right and Moses clutched it, but unfortunately couldn't hang on, Lupien scoring.

Castino Launches Parade.

When Webb singled in the sixth it didn't cause much of a ripple, because of the two outs and the fact that H. Newsome had performed almost flawlessly in the five previous innings. Kuhel walked and that stirred up a little spectator interest. Then Castino launched the real parade with his single to right, Webb scoring and Kuhel going to third. Smitty didn't wait. He thumped a single into center on the first pitch, Kuhel counting and Castino streaking for third. Before he arrived there he was plunked in the back by Metkovich's throw and the ball squirted away to one side so Castino just kept on moving until he reached the plate.

Brown started his relief job in the seventh by walking Tucker who went to second on Curtright's infield out. The Bostons paid their respects to Appling by giving him an intentional ride to base. Webb followed with a single too hot for Tabor to handle, Tucker carrying in the fourth Sox run.

SOX HIT PARADE

Fitzsimmons and Klein Sign with Phils for '44

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP).—Fred Fitzsimmons, Bucky Harris' successor as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, has signed a 1944 contract, Phillies' President William D. Cox announced today. Coach Chuck Klein also has signed for next season, Cox said.

Browns Beat Yanks, 10 to 2; Gordon Hurt

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns snapped to life today to overpower the New York Yankees, 10 to 2, after their star shortstop, Vernon Stephens, had been benched because of a batting slump and an ankle injury.

Adding to the Yankees' troubles as they opened their last western swing of the season, Joe Gordon hurt his back when Don Gutteridge slid into him on a force play in the first inning and had to retire from the game at the start of the fifth. George Stirnweiss, who lost his shortstop job some time ago to Frank Crosetti, replaced Gordon at second. Score:

Atley Donald of Yankees Classified 4-F in Draft

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10 (AP).—Pitcher Atley Donald of the New York Yankees was classified 4-F at his induction examination in New York yesterday and will rejoin the American league leaders here tomorrow, Road Secretary Rex Weyant announced today.

WPB to Allow Ammunition for Hunters

Hunting enthusiasts were encouraged yesterday by reports from Washington that the War Production board was ready to allocate enough steel and other materials to make 100,000,000 shotgun shells to be sold this fall and winter.

The announcement came from the office of Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] but did not state that the WPB had made a definite commitment to release the materials.

It is probable that about 75 per cent of the shells to be manufactured will be for .12 gauge guns and have steel jackets. The remaining 25 per cent probably will be for .16 and .20 gauge guns and have brass jackets.

WPB authorities several weeks ago said there would be "some ammunition" for hunting but emphasized at that time it would be held to a minimum.

The new plan was said to provide for allocation of shells to the states according to the estimated game populations and the number of hunting licenses sold in normal years.

Bithorn, Cubs Face Braves in Boston Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—The Cubs will open their final eastern invasion tomorrow afternoon in Boston, with Hi Bithorn seeking to get back on the track after being derailed by the Cincinnati Reds.

The lads will be rather busy on their six city jaunt, but have no such weather made schedule congestion as that which complicates the affairs of American league teams now foraging in the west.

The Cubs' first game in Boston will be their 100th of the season. Thus they have 55 games in which to correct some of the grievous shortcomings they have displayed in their first 99 matches.

The Cubs squad checked in at La Salle street station in Chicago in fair physical condition. There was some complaining, of course, but a team that has pust lost six out of seven must be granted a little alibiing.

SAVOLD BOUT IN CHICAGO IS SEEN FOR SEPTEMBER

Bivins, Mauriello Among Likely Opponents.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Lee Savold's next appearance may be against Jimmy Bivins or Tami Mauriello in Wrigley field in mid-September following his second round knockout of Lou Nova in the north side park on Monday, it was announced yesterday by Co-Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun.

30 Per Cent for Savold.

Lee collected 30 per cent of the net receipts of $39,733 for his 4 minutes and 40 seconds work against Nova. Lou was paid 25 per cent, or $9,933.

Nova left yesterday to visit with his friend, Lt. Larry Wolz of the navy, in Madison, Wis. He will depart Saturday for Van Nuys, Cal., where he probably will spend his remaining days tending his farm. According to Ray Carlen, the big fellow's manager, it probably was Nova's last ring appearance.

Nova Was Trying.

Much of yesterday's comment on the bout was whether or not Nova had quit when floored in that dramatic second round. There are some who contend he could have regained his feet if he had tried. Since these backers of Lou lost money on the encounter and are peeved because their judgment happened to be wrong, this talk may be discounted.

Nova held Lee on even terms in the first round and seconds before he was blasted out of the picture he was dealing Savold a beating.

Tonight in Borchert field, Milwaukee, Doll Rafferty, Milwaukee Negro lightweight, will take on Joey Archibald, Pawtucket, R. I., in a ten round bout. Mickey Hayes, Cudahy, Wis., and Johnny Denson, Indianapolis, heavyweights, will meet in a preliminary. Wee Willie Russell, middleweight from Columbus, O., and Johnny Roszina, South Milwaukee, will battle in another. Each is scheduled for eight rounds.

All the essential B Vitamins give You a full day's work

If you would be active, productive and of good morale, a new shift of wonder workers must report each day for duty in your diet. These wonder workers are the mighty B vitamins and there are more than a dozen besides the well-known B1. Whether obtained from your food or from other sources, they spend the day improving your efficiency and keeping your wits sharp. Then they vanish mysteriously... and must be replaced.

Nature is none too generous with these essential vitamins in the food that comes to your table. Besides, the best of cooks can easily destroy them. That is why more and more people are supplementing their daily diet with the B Complex vitamins in concentrated form.

* * *

The Home of Budweiser is one of the world's biggest sources of natural B Complex Vitamins. They are produced from brewer's yeast. We supply food and pharmaceutical manufacturers with a huge volume of this vitamin yeast each year. They in turn supply our armed forces and civilian population with millions of vitamin units. This contribution to your welfare resulted from years of research, laboratory and clinical work in quest of better methods and facilities for brewing the world's most popular beer.

Lightens the Toughest Job

EL PRODUCTO CIGARS

CHEERFULNESS is the answer to why the boys in the Armed Forces call so much for fine tobacco.

It is the answer to why hard-working civilians depend so much on good cigars for the real enjoyment that can make any task cheerful.

IT IS the answer to why, in these days of shortages and restrictions, the demand for El Producto so often exceeds the supply.

Don't let it get you down if you cannot always get the shape of El Producto you want at the next cigar counter. Remember, you are sharing El Producto's cheerful mildness with the boys in uniform.

But whenever you smoke El Producto, you'll realize that it is as economical as it is cheerful—real enjoyment in every puff, down to the fingertips.

CROPS IMPROVE IN MONTH, BUT SAG FROM 1942

U. S. Corn Forecast Raised Sharply.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—The department of agriculture reported today that crop prospects improved about 3 per cent during July as a result of generally favorable growing conditions, but it forecast that production of all food, feed, and fibre crops would be about 6 per cent below last year's record level.

Further improvement in prospects appeared to have occurred during the first week of August, said the department, but conditions after Aug. 1 were not taken into account in making today's estimates.

The July improvement was attributed chiefly to an exceptionally favorable start given the cotton crop, the rapid growth of late planted corn in northern states, and a continuation of favorable conditions in the wheat belt from Nebraska northward.

Gain Is 168 Million Bushels.

July brought a 168 million bushel improvement in the important corn crop. The estimate on this live stock feed grain was 2,874,711,000 bushels compared with 2,706,552,000 forecast a month ago. A crop of this size, however, would remain short of last year's record of 3,175,154,000 bushels and below live stock and industrial requirements for the year ahead.

The forecast for wheat, much of which is already harvested, was 834,894,000 bushels, compared with 790,823,000 predicted a month ago and with 981,327,000 bushels harvested last year.

The combined production of the four feed grains—corn, oats, rye, and barley—was expected to total more than 111,000,000 tons, a total which has been exceeded only twice, but which would be below last year's production.

Soybean Total Drops.

A soybean crop of 200,328,000 bushels from 11,527,000 acres was indicated, compared with the estimate last December of 209,559,000 bushels from 10,762,000 acres. Figures by states, of which Illinois is

Major Changes in OPA Meat Policies Urged by Retailers

Resolutions calling for major changes in office of price administration regulations were adopted yesterday by delegates to the war emergency conference of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers in the Hotel LaSalle. The association asked more equitable distribution of meat to retailers and price ceilings that would permit a fair profit margin.

The keynote of dissatisfaction with OPA rules covering meat production and distribution was contained in a unanimously adopted resolution urging that men with years of practical business experience act not only as government advisers, but be named as "full fledged" OPA staff members.

Burdened by Foolhardy Rules.

"Since the inception of OPA, the meat trade has been burdened with a great number of impractical rules and regulations, most of which are foolhardy and unworkable," the resolution declared. "All were conceived in the minds of theorists who have no practical knowledge of business methods."

Another resolution asked for a more equitable allocation of meat between retailers and hotels and restaurants. It asserted that OPA ceilings gave an advantage to public eating establishments that had resulted in large scale diversion of supplies from stores.

Delegates also urged the OPA to permit the return to former methods of cutting meat on the ground that new, standardized methods required by regulation result in waste, loss thru shrinkage, and unnecessary labor.

Roasts and Steaks Are Lost.

The resolution came after disclosures by delegates that millions of pounds of roasts and steaks were being lost each month because of "impractical" cutting methods introduced by the OPA.

Butchers said much choice meat was transferred to less desirable cuts when beef carcasses were cut along lines dictated by OPA. It was charged that some of this meat went into hamburger and sausage.

George Dressler, president of the Retail Meat Dealers Association of Chicago and formerly with OPA, suggested that the national organization call for the return to cutting carcasses along the "natural break." He also criticized standardized OPA cuts on the ground that meat cutting formerly was governed by such factors as local demand, the location of the butcher shop and the nationalities of customers.

R. C. Pollock, managing director of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago, warned that the public must be on guard against attempts by certain government officials to force a radical change in diet by substituting cereals and vegetables for meat.

New License Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10—The war food administration today announced details of its program of licensing live stock slaughterers effective Sunday. Class 1 will include those who slaughter under federal inspection; class 2 those not under federal inspection, except farm slaughterers, who will be in class 3. Instructions for obtaining licenses were being mailed "to all persons concerned," said WFA. Farm slaughterers will continue under the permit system.

PRODUCERS TOLD TO MARKET HOGS WHEN FINISHED

The war meat board at its weekly meeting in Chicago yesterday requested producers to market hogs as soon as they attain adequate finish for slaughter to conserve feed grains and promote more uniform distribution. The board reported that total meat production in federally inspected plants last week was estimated at 321 million pounds, 5 per cent smaller than in the preceding week, but 10 per cent above a year ago.

Beef production of 116 million pounds was about the same as a week earlier, but 17 per cent less than in the 1942 period. Pork production totaled 175 million pounds, a rise of 42 per cent over last year, but 10 per cent below the preceding week. Veal output of 9 million pounds was the same as the week before and 31 per cent smaller than in 1942.

Goldblatt 'Thriftmart' Is Opened for Preview

A new thrift department in its State street store is open for preview pending formal opening next week, Goldblatt Brothers announced yesterday. The new department, called the "Thriftmart," occupies the seventh floor. It will handle economy priced items of all types of merchandise.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

Aug. 10, 1943.

THE oat harvest is over and the results have been disappointing. Before the combine entered the fields a good crop was expected because the grain seemed well filled and the stands were clean and thick.

A tally from several of the fields revealed that the yields ran as low as 25 bushels to the acre. The total average yield for the farm was slightly below 50 bushels to the acre. The farm fields should have produced close to 70 bushels per acre.

Blame Spring Rains.

Conditions under which the grain was seeded this spring were blamed for the lower yields. The ground at that time was water soaked from continuous rains. As a result, the seed was mudded into the ground. A low germination resulted and in places where water had been standing none of the seed sprouted.

The manager believes, however, that the weight of the oats will prove to be satisfactory. He thinks it will average at least 32 pounds to the bushel, and in some instances more. Last year the oats weighed 32 to 38 pounds to the bushel.

Even this fact offers little solace when feed crops are so scarce. The farm has been counting heavily on its oat crop to stretch the corn supply. Surrounding farmers are reporting the same conditions and are predicting a much smaller state yield this year.

Aside from less grain, there also is less straw. The stalks were smaller this year and consequently furnished less straw. The pickup baler has been busy packaging the straw dropped by the combine, and the bales, tho standard size, are light in weight.

Wish for Rain Now.

Now that the oats are out of the way, the men are wishing for a few days of good, soaking rains. The farm hasn't had a satisfactory rain for almost a month. Showers have happened along, but none has done more than moisten the top of the ground. In the corn fields a small amount of firing is noticeable and will continue to increase if the drouth is not broken.

Aside from firing, the corn is in good shape. It was planted late enough to escape the borer, and the chinch bugs are not numerous. Because of the late planting, however, the stalks will be almost a foot shorter than they were last year. In nature's effort to rush the stalk to maturity, less time is spent on developing height and more is devoted to bringing about the period of pollination and development of the ears.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GROWERS of sweet corn are noticing small black beetles in the tassels, ears and stalks of many plants. According to Dr. C. C. Compton, associate entomologist of the Illinois Natural History survey, these beetles are abundant this season. They have been found in both field and sweet corn on the Wheaton farm.

The beetles range from less than 1-32d of an inch to about ⅛ of an inch in length. There are several species, the most common having orange spots near the front of the shells and yellow spots at the base of the shells. They are sap-feeding beetles, and usually enter the corn plants thru channels opened by corn borers. They also may attack other vegetables and fruit which have been damaged by other insects.

A common error among gardeners and farmers is to assume that the sap-sucking beetles are causing plant damage because they are seen in injured plants, whereas in all cases their appearance is a secondary phase of attacks started by other insects. Dr. Compton states that control of the beetles is difficult if not impossible because of their habit of feeding in protected places.

SALES OF CASH CORN SET NEW ONE-DAY PEAK

Ceiling 'Guarantee' Causes Rush.

Farmers sold 3,600,000 bushels of cash corn yesterday for deferred shipment to Chicago. Large grain handlers said this was a new record for a single day's business, running the total so far in August to an estimated 7 million bushels.

A Commodity Credit corporation guarantee that corn sold up to last night would share in any increase in the ceiling price that may be announced prior to Oct. 31 brought a last minute rush of selling by producers. The improved outlook for the new corn crop also was said to have been a factor in creating a desire to sell.

CCC Steps Into Market.

Industries which were threatened with being forced to close their plants 10 days ago owing to a shortage of corn reported they had purchased enough grain to keep them grinding at maximum capacity for a month or more.

So large were the offerings of corn that the CCC was forced to step into the market and purchase heavily, thru elevator interests. Corn processing companies were forced to cease buying the corn for a short time because they had accumulated a 30 day supply, the maximum premitted them, but later the CCC lifted all restrictions on inventory and grind, and buying was resumed. Purchases had been so heavy in the last few days that a large part of the late business was for shipment between Sept. 10 and 25 to permit prompt unloading of grain brought previously and prevent congestion at elevators.

Futures Trade Is Active.

Industries located at points outside the Chicago area also were said to have purchased large quantities of corn. Brokers expressed the belief that some industries probably had bought sufficient grain to assure full time operations until the new crop is available for use.

A CCC meeting in Chicago yesterday was said to have canvassed the corn situation. It was understood that the ban on purchases of corn by feed manufacturers would remain.

Trading in grain futures was fairly active on the Chicago Board of Trade. Liquidation developed in rye early, but good buying arose in all pits later despite the large purchases of cash corn.

Wheat closed ⅝ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower, the decline being in July. Rye finished ⅜ to ¾ cent higher and oats gained ⅛ to ¼ cent. Shipping sales of oats totaled 155,000 bushels.

WALKOUT HALTS WORK ON 12 U. S. SHIPS AT LORAIN

Lorain, O., Aug. 10 (AP).—A walkout by several thousand AFL employes today halted work for the maritime commission on a dozen vessels at the yards of the American Ship Building company here. The company said the walkout came after John Steinman of Cleveland was named acting superintendent to speed production.

Three Roads Tied Up.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP).—Carload shipments of three railroads were tied up today on both sides of the straits of Mackinac by a strike of 35 unlicensed personnel of car-ferry crews. Lines affected are the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic, the Pennsylvania railroad, and the New York Central Lines. The crew men, members of the AFL Seafarers International union, were said to be demanding wage increases to the lake carrier rate.

Armour Earns 6.4 Million in 1st Half Year

Armour & Co. of Illinois and subsidiaries, including Armour & Co. of Delaware and its subsidiaries, yesterday reported earnings in the six months ended May 1 amounting to $6,488,874. The parent company had a net loss of $2,605,415 in the period and Armour of Delaware reported net profit of $9,094,289.

The company said that it does not normally report interim earnings figures but because of a special stockholders' meeting, called for Aug. 31 to approve final steps in a proposed merger with Armour of Delaware, the report was given in compliance with securities and exchange commission regulations. For this reason, no comparable figures are available.

10 Million in Taxes.

Armour's consolidated balance sheet on May 1 showed current assets were $221,740,245 and current liabilities $91,017,873. Cash amounted to $29,139,641, and inventories were $133,201,537. Provision for federal taxes in the half year amounted to $10,149,258 after deducting a $727,000 refund on excess profits taxes.

The Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, producer of gears, transmissions, and clutches for military vehicles, had consolidated net profit of $4,665,477, equal to $1.99 a common share in the six months ended June 30, against $3,986,366, or $1.70 a share a year earlier. The company set aside $25,606,758 for federal and Canadian income and excess profits taxes, compared with $13,956,414 in 1942.

Earnings Nearly Double.

Consolidated earnings of the American Locomotive company in the first half of 1943 amounted to $4,618,125, or $13.12 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock, compared with $2,551,732, or $7.25 a share.

The company made provision of $20,730,000 for federal income and excess profits taxes, after deducting a $2,400,000 post-war credit. The company also provided a post-war reserve of $2,400,000. In the first half of 1942 income tax provision of $11,945,000 was made.

HARVESTER PLAN CUTS 16 MILLION OFF U. S. COSTS

International Harvester company has saved the government 16 million dollars on three war contracts thru price reductions made voluntarily under a company policy formulated before the price renegotiation law was enacted, J. L. McCaffrey, second vice president of the company, reported yesterday. Part of the saving represented actual refunds, and part the future savings to be realized during the remainder of the contracts.

The price reductions covered contracts for manufacture of aircraft cannon at St. Paul, Minn., gun carriages at Milwaukee, and Oerlikon anti-aircraft gun mounts at Indianapolis.

"These voluntary price reductions are in accordance with a pledge made officially by the company that we would handle all war work at no more than a moderate profit, and that we would give the government the benefit of all maufacturing savings," said McCaffrey.

VULTEE GETS LARGEST 'V' LOAN, 200 MILLION FROM 125 BIG BANKS

A group of 125 large banks have provided the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation with a 200 million dollar credit, largest secured loan yet made under the wartime "V" loan regulations, the magazine Finance reported yesterday.

The huge loan is in the nature of a revolving credit, carries a 3 per cent rate, runs until 1946, and is guaranteed by the government to the extent of 90 per cent, Finance said. Chase National Bank of New York is acting as clearing agent for the banks participating in the loan. Part of the credit was said to be already in use, 40 million dollars having been borrowed by the company under the terms of the agreement.

Stock Prices Recover with Broad Upturn

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—The stock market today had one of its best recoveries since the break on the fall of Mussolini in late July. Steels, motors, rails, and most other pivotal groups recorded gains of fractions to around 2 points.

The advance attained fair momentum after a slow start, but turnover failed to show much expansion.

Relative Stability Indicated.

Some stocks moved up with good earnings reports. A factor in the general improvement in buying was the relative stability in prices the last few sessions, indicating a drying up of selling.

Stocks that carry the label of "peace issues" were popular, but the advance was sufficiently broad to blur distinctions as between this type and the so-called war shares.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 0.6 to close at 49.6. In its short rebound last week from the lows of the Italian selloff the index gained 0.7 on Tuesday and 0.4 on Wednesday.

CHICAGO PRICES TURN UP.

Prices turned upward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, and trading volume rose to 29,000 shares from 23,000 on Monday. Chicago corporation topped the list with a turnover of 8,950 shares and rose ⅛ point to 5¼. Cities Service climbed 1¼ to 13⅛ on a volume of 1,250 shares.

RAIL BONDS RECOVER.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Advances of fractions to more than a point were registered by a large group of railroad issues, while minor changes ruled for other major groups in the bond market today.

SCHREIBER FIRM PLANS REPLY TO WFA TOMORROW

City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber, president of a Chicago produce commission company, announced yesterday the firm tomorrow will file an answer showing cause why the war food administration should not issue a suspension order against the firm on charges of violating the government's butter set-aside order. A hearing will be requested.

Last Thursday the WFA charged that L. D. Schreiber & Co., Inc., failed to set aside 1,223,139 pounds of butter from February thru June under a federal order requiring that certain percentages of production be reserved for use of military and other government agencies. The company, an authorized receiver for the set-aside butter, denied willful violation and asserted the matter involved was one of technical interpretation of the order.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—The war food administration today ordered the entire 1943-'44 pack of seven dried fruits to be set aside for government purchase. Fruits affected are raisins, prunes, apples, apricots, peaches, pears, and currants.

July War Bond Redemptions Rise

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Figures were made public today showing the amount of war bonds being cashed in to meet staggering federal tax bills and the rising cost of living.

With the first month of pay roll deductions under the pay-as-you-go tax program causing a sharp increase in bond redemptions over other nontaxpaying months this year, many indicators point to an even higher rate of redemption with the advent of the new September and December income tax returns.

In the first seven months of 1943 approximately 4.49 per cent of all series E, F, and G bonds outstanding had been redeemed. This would indicate that even if redemptions do not increase noticeably, possibly 7 to 8 per cent or more of the war bonds will be redeemed this year.

In January 0.44 per cent of the bonds outstanding were redeemed; February, 0.52 per cent; March, 0.87 per cent; April, 0.61 per cent; May, 0.58 per cent; June, 0.76 per cent, and July, 0.71 per cent.

The treasury's report on redemptions by series last month showed:

Ser.	Amount redeemed.	Pct. of bonds outstanding.	Amount outstanding.
E	$120,136,000	1.01	$11,857,753,000
F	2,836,000	.22	1,277,721,000
G	8,452,000	.16	5,280,020,000
Tot.	$131,424,000	.71	$18,415,494,000

Treasury war bond officials report that when redemptions of 1942 are included, 5 per cent of the bonds sold have been redeemed. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has stated that redemptions are not alarming when contrasted with the rising war bond sales.

Holders Vote for Telegraph Firm Merger

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Decisive steps toward creation of a single national telegraph system were taken today as stockholders of Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies voted overwhelmingly to merge the communication agencies. The merger has been formally approved by congress, the army, and navy, and the department of commerce. The federal communications commission, which has long urged the consolidation, now has the working plan before it for final authorization.

Albert N. Williams, president of Western Union, said that when the deal is finally completed, Western Union will be in a far stronger position to meet competition of the telephone, air mail, and post-war developments in radio.

Held "Benefit to All."

"Western Union will be able to offer more for less," Williams said. "The merger will be of benefit to all concerned."

A total of 12,815 Postal employes will be affected by the consolidation, and all have been promised equal terms with the 55,600 Western Union employes. Williams said Western Union was determined to give reasonable protection to all Postal employes without impairing the position of its own.

"I believe that this principle has been observed in the merger plan," Williams said. "Indeed, in its provisions regarding continued employment pension protection and the like, the congressional statute approving the merger goes further than any previous enactment of congress.

Employment for Both.

"The law requires that employes hired on or before March 1, 1941, must not be dismissed as a result of the merger, but must be retained at least as long as the prior period of employment, not exceeding four years. This provision might normally be too difficult to fulfill but now that there has been an actual shortage of workers, Western Union should be able to take over the Postal employes at useful work while continuing to employ its own."

Representatives of the CIO American Communications' association opposed the merger on the grounds that pensions of its members might be jeopardized in the event the venture was unprofitable.

In approving the merger agreement, Western Union stockholders also approved the change of authorized capital stock from 1,050,000 shares of $100 par value to 1,543,124 shares without par value, divided into 1,235,000 shares of class A stock and 308,124 shares of class B stock.

HIGHLAND FIRM SEEKS TO SELL COLORADO UNIT

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP).—Highland Utilities company, a wholly owned subsidiary of North Continent Utilities corporation of Chicago, today applied for securities and exchange commission approval of a plan to sell its "Mesa Verde Division" electric transmission and distribution system, located in Montezuma county, Colorado, to Empire Electric association for $150,000.

The SEC authorized Federal Water and Gas corporation and its subsidiary, Alabama Water Service company, to sell water properties owned by Alabama to five municipalities and apply the $998,000 proceeds toward partial redemption of the subsidiary's $4,158,000 bonded debt.

Harvester, Sears Sign Arms Depot Contracts

The war department announced yesterday that contracts have been signed with the International Harvester company and Sears Roebuck & Co. for the operation of two ordnance depots. THE TRIBUNE last week disclosed that the war department was negotiating with the two companies to operate the depots under civilian control. International Harvester will operate the Rossford depot, near Toledo, O., and Sears Roebuck will operate the Lordstown, O., depot.

PLEDGES DRIVE TO MAKE MORE CIVILIAN GOODS

SWPC Chief Quits Army Position.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Brig. Gen. Robert W. Johnson, chairman of the Smaller War Plants corporation, said today his agency will concentrate in the future primarily on boosting the production of essential civilian goods by small companies to meet increasing shortages of needed items.

Gen. R. W. Johnson.

Gen. Johnson, who officially confirmed reports that he has been honorably discharged from the army and returned to civilian status, told a press conference the SWPC will continue to seek war contracts for small plants, but that this field is now less important to SWPC than that of civilian goods output.

Thousands Are Idle.

Most of the smaller war plants that can feasibly be converted to war work have been converted, but there are thousands of companies with idle facilities capable of turning out products needed by consumers, he explained.

The SWPC chairman told reporters he asked to be relieved of his army commission to avoid "embarrassment" in his dealings with the army. Gen. Johnson reportedly has run into difficulties in his efforts to get the army to allot an increasing share of business to small plants and to agree to more civilian goods output, because he has frequently been in the position of dealing with officers of superior rank.

Using Regional Boards.

"I find that a large portion of the small plants in the United States can best be used in the production of essential civilian needs and it will, therefore, become necessary for this corporation to take a strong position in the support of the production of such products," Gen. Johnson said. "Under these circumstances it would seem to be inappropriate for me to attempt to carry out these responsibilities as an officer of the army."

In seeking to channel more civilian output to small business, Johnson explained, regional SWPC boards in 14 cities, including Chicago, will locate idle facilities in their communities and report on severe consumer shortages. The SWPC in Washington will then attempt to arrange for increased production by the small businesses involved. The boards making the surveys include on their membership executives of small and large manufacturing companies, banks, and mercantile establishments.

War Plants Unit Opens 2 More District Offices

Arthur P. Murphy, regional loan agent for the Smaller War Plants corporation, announced yesterday that district offices have been opened in Milwaukee and in Indianapolis to assist war and essential civilian manufacturers. Loans totaling more than $1,500,000 have been approved for about 50 manufacturers in the SWPC area supervised from Chicago offices, Murphy said.

PRESENT DAY CONSIDERATIONS in the Choice of Municipal Bonds
THIS Informative BOOKLET★ TELLS

. . .WHAT THE INVESTOR SHOULD LOOK FOR IN MUNICIPAL BONDS

Under the higher Federal income tax rates of the 1942 Revenue Act, many investors find it advantageous for the first time to consider municipal bonds, the income from which, under present laws, is exempt from all Federal income taxes. . . .The booklet illustrated above provides a brief introduction to municipal bonds. Ten factors for judging "municipals" are concisely covered, among them: Debt Restrictions; Balanced Budget; Overlapping Debt; Tax Collections. Valuable to experienced buyers as a compact review; to beginners, as a guide.

★ This booklet, together with Ready-Reckoning Chart showing whether taxable or tax-exempt bonds yield more at your level of income (under new Federal income tax rates) will be sent upon request. No obligation. Ask for booklet CT-90.

INDICTED MINERS OPEN ATTACK ON ANTI-STRIKE LAW

30 Plead Not Guilty, Seek to Quash Case.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP).—Thirty coal miners, indicted two weeks ago for alleged violations of the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act, today pleaded innocent and asked the charges be quashed on grounds the measure is unconstitutional.

The miners were indicted after a federal grand jury investigation of insurgent strikes at government operated mines in southwestern Pennsylvania coal fields in June and July. It was the first government action under the law.

Today's motions raising the constitutionality question came less than seven weeks after passage of the law over a Presidential veto June 25.

Judge Sets Hearing Date.

The motions were filed by the miners' counsel, former United States Rep. Harry A. Estep, at the same time he entered the pleas for the men, many of whom are officers of United Mine Workers local unions.

Federal District Judge F. P. Schoonmaker immediately set Aug. 18 for hearing on the motions.

The motions charged "that the war labor disputes act is unconstitutional and void in that it violates the 1st amendment to the Constitution [freedom of speech]" and "the 13th amendment to the Constitution [involuntary servitude]."

Assail U. S. Operation.

The motions also charged that the coal mines were illegally operated by the government, because "the authority to take possession and the executive order of the President was sanctioned neither by the Constitution of the United States, nor by any act of congress and was, therefore, illegal and void."

The law applies only to strikes in industries operated by the government.

Another of the allegations stated that among the violations of the act listed in the indictments was a count consisting of "urging the formation of picket lines" at mines. The motion asserted "the act specifically omits the term 'picket lines.'"

United States District Attorney Charles F. Uhl said if the motions are sustained the government will appeal the case to the United States Circuit court.

Trial of the miners has been scheduled to start Sept. 1.

PAID AT SOURCE.

At one time some corporations paid taxes "at the source." Is this procedure still in effect, or must the individual owner of stocks pay this tax?—E. A.

Answer: Corporations do not pay their stockholders' income tax on dividends, but some corporations pay a portion of the federal income tax on the interest received by holders of their bonds. Usually the issuing corporation limits its tax liability to 2 per cent of the interest on the bonds. The bondholder receives his interest in full, and is entitled to credit against his income tax the 2 per cent paid by the issuing corporation.

Some bond indentures provide for refunding to the holder any personal property or income taxes levied on the bonds by states.

THE SEPT. 15 ESTIMATE.

In filing a declaration of my estimated income and estimated tax for 1943, should I take into account the 25 per cent of my 1942 tax that was not canceled?

Answer: The uncanceled 25 per cent of the 1942 tax bill should not be considered when estimating 1943 tax liability. The 25 per cent is not payable in 1943, but must be paid one-half on March 15, 1944, and the other half on March 15, 1945.

the leading producer, were not available. The condition of the crop was not quite as good as a year ago, owing to late plantings.

The department said prospects for flaxseed, peas, potatoes, dry beans, sugar beets, pears, grapes, and tobacco improved during July, but the forecasts for oats, barley, rye, hay, sweet potatoes, sugar cane, and peaches declined from 1 to 5 per cent.

Present conditions pointed to a total supply of all fruits for the 1943-'44 marketing season about 11 per cent smaller than last season but 7 per cent larger than the 10 year average. Citrus production was expected to be about the same as last year but a 17 per cent drop was predicted for other fruit.

Truck Crops Make Progress.

Commercial truck crops again made good progress in most sections during the last half of July, the department said. However, estimated production in areas from which most of the fresh market supplies will come during the next few weeks is 5 per cent less than last year. Total tonnage of truck crops for processing was expected to be about the same as for 1942.

Milk production held close to production at this time last year, and egg production was said to be at peak levels except in the west.

With only light abandonment in prospect, the acreage of crops harvested probably will be larger than in any year since 1932, said the report. The volume of production on the basis of indicated yields would be 18 per cent larger than the 1923-'32 pre-drouth average, compared with 26 per cent last year.

Yield Per Acre Dips.

Altho few important crops except cotton were expected to show yields per acre equal to the high yield obtained last year, few crops appeared likely to show yields as low as the average during the preceding 10 years. The chief exceptions were said to be rice and peanuts, which have been planted on greatly increased acreages, and some fruits and vegetables which were damaged by late frosts last spring.

The department said rapid development of late planted corn had largely eliminated the danger that it would not mature before frost. The danger of loss from drouth remained, it was said, tho most parts of the corn belt had adequate moisture for the present.

DIVERS CHOSEN NHA CHIEF IN CHICAGO REGION

William K. Divers.

Several changes in federal housing bureaus were reported yesterday. William K. Divers, regional representative of national housing agency in Cleveland, O., has been appointed to that position in Chicago, and will supervise region 6, which has its headquarters here and covers seven states: Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, North and South Dakota. He will continue also to manage region 5, which has its office in Cleveland and covers Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky. He succeeds Joseph P. Tufts here, who has taken over the Kansas City regional office.

L. R. MacDonald has been appointed head of the war housing center, succeeding Waldemar Weichbrodt, who today will become chief underwriter for the federal housing administration. Lowell Baker, former manager of the office of decentralization service, will become assistant director of WHC.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

NEW TAX FORMS OFFER TABLE TO FIGURE RETURNS

1st Copies for Sept. 15 Use Reach Chicago.

First copies of the two new forms prepared by the treasury department to assist taxpayers who must file 1943 income tax and Victory tax estimates by September 15 were received in Chicago yesterday.

One form, expected to be used by most taxpayers, simplifies the making of estimates by providing a table of approximate returns on incomes of not more than $10,000 after deducting personal exemption and credit for dependents. After finding his approximate income tax in the table, the taxpayer must compute his Victory tax for the year. The two taxes added together constitute his total estimated tax liability for 1943.

Exact Return Later.

The table makes an allowance of approximately 8 per cent of the net taxable income [after deducting personal exemption and dependency credit] to cover the earned income credit and allowable deductions. It is emphasized that the table may be used only in connection with the September 15 estimate, and that a regular and exact return for 1943 must be filed on or before March 15, 1944.

A feature of the table which is likely to cause some confusion is the allowance of a personal exemption deduction of $560 for a single person, $1,340 for married couples or the head of a family, and $390 for each dependent. These exemptions and credits are larger than allowed under the income tax law and are to be used only in connection with the table.

May Use Regular Method.

Use of the table is not obligatory. The taxpayer who wishes to compute his income and Victory tax by the ordinary method may do so, and for his benefit the second form, captioned "taxpayer's work sheet," was prepared by the treasury department.

This method is required, of course, for those having a net taxable income of more than $10,000, after personal exemption and dependency credit. Taxpayers realizing substantial profits or losses on the sale of property or securities may find it necessary to make complete computations since special provisions apply to such profits and losses. Persons with deductions exceeding the 8 per cent allowed in the table may also prefer to estimate their tax by applying the regular income and surtax rates.

Old Form Condensed.

The taxpayer's work sheet is a condensed version of the 1040 income tax form used in filing returns for the 1942 calendar year, with certain necessary additions because of the Victory tax, which became effective Jan. 1, 1943.

As soon as supplies of the tax estimate table are received, copies of it and the form 1040-ES, on which the September 15 estimate must be filed, will be mailed to all taxpayers in the Chicago district, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, said yesterday. The alternative form, or taxpayer's work sheet, will not be mailed, but copies will be obtainable from the collector's office.

TELLS HOW OWI COERCED RADIO THRU FCC HELP

Has Employes Fired by License Threat.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Reports of how the federal communications commission and the office of war information allegedly coöperated to influence hiring and firing of foreign language radio station personnel were read into the record of a congressional investigation of the FCC today.

The reports were written to the office of censorship by Robert K. Richards, who is that agency's executive assistant for broadcasting. They were read before a subcommittee of the Cox congressional committee.

In a report Richards quoted Sidney Spear, FCC attorney, as saying the FCC helped force removal of radio station personnel objected to by Lee Falk, head of the OWI's foreign language broadcast section. He also quoted Falk as asking censorship to notify him in advance of any plan to remove an individual from the air, so the OWI could recommend a successor.

Licenses Held Up.

Spear was quoted in Richards' report as saying that when Falk objected to a broadcaster he would tell the FCC, and when the station applied for a renewal the FCC would "tip off" Falk, who then would call upon the station manager and suggest that the employe be fired.

Then the manager would be given "some time to think this over," Richards further quoted Spear, and "after a couple of weeks he would begin to notice he was having some trouble getting his license renewed. He would fire [the employe] and very shortly after this his license would be renewed."

"If the radio can thus be controled in August of 1943, there is nothing to prevent the same control from slanting our political news."

"The FCC," Garey continued "is alarmed about whether we will react properly to news furnished by our national news agencies."

He asked a rhetorical question, "what next medium of communication will require the benevolent attention of these misguided zealots?" and added, "obviously, the press."

Barred by FCC Changes.

Andre Luotto, owner of a radio advertising agency, testified that in February, 1942, he filed with the FCC an application for purchase of station WOV, which he described as "the most important Italian language station in the United States," but withdrew the application after learning the FCC had on file "scurrilous and offensive" charges against him.

Luotto said Nathan David of the FCC's war problems division refused to tell him anything about the charges. He testified he had not yet learned what the charges were, but that "the name of Luotto is as black as sin" with the FCC, altho he had a son in the American armed forces and his life was "free from Fascist affiliation."

Gen T. Dyer, owner of station WGES in Chicago, testified last week he dismissed Luotto's brother, Stefano, at the behest of the FCC and OWI, altho private investigation had failed to produce any evidence unfavorable to him.

W-G-N PROGRAM WILL HONOR 75 FUTURE FLYERS

A special program, Salute to Chicago Air Cadets, featuring the induction of 75 Chicago youths, 17 years old, into the United States air forces' enlisted reserve, will be broadcast from W-G-N's main audience studio from noon to 12:30 p. m. tomorrow. Lt. Ernest W. Lowe, executive officer of the army aviation cadets examining board, will administer the oath to the new recruits.

Maj. Lauris M. Eek, liaison officer of the 6th service command, will give the address of welcome. Principal speaker on the program will be Lt. Robert N. McGraw, a member of the 9th air force and participant in 27 combat missions in North Africa.

After the broadcast the cadets and the assembled audience of 500 other members of the reserve, will be shown Walt Disney's movie interpretation of Maj. Alexander de Seversky's novel, "Victory Thorugh Air Power."

Ben Markland, war garden editor of THE TRIBUNE, will be guest of June Baker on her Home Management program at 11:45 a. m.

Bill Stern, who conducts the Sports Newsreel at 9:30 p. m. Fridays on WMAQ-NBC, tells of the time author Ernest Hemingway tolled some bells for an Italian speaker by beating him up. It was back in 1920—Hemingway, hearing a sidewalk speaker criticizing America, pulled the fellow off his soap box, knocked him cold. Later that night two burly Italians knocked at Hemingway's door, and ordered him to leave Rome. It seems the fellow he had knocked unconscious was Mussolini, just starting his career as the father of fascism.

OWI CUTS STAFF BY 777 UNDER REDUCED BUDGET

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—The office of war information's domestic division has cut 777 employes from a 1,269 man staff to conform with congressional reduction of its operating budget to $2,250,000 from the $8,800,000 it asked for this biennium.

Palmer Hoyt, director of the OWI division, today recapitulated the reductions. He said 46 office field operations have been eliminated, and the motion picture section virtually abolished.

Four major curtailments saved $4,450,000 of the $5,550,000 cut from the division's budget by congress. Elimination of the field bureaus saved $1,500,000 and cut off 371 employes. The motion picture bureau was allowed $50,000 for current operations and $950,000 was saved. The division abandoned poster and pamphlet publication, a major cause of congressional wrath, at a saving of $2,000,000, Hoyt said. The additional $1,000,000 needed to meet the congressional edict was cut out in a series of minor bureau reductions.

Hoyt said there would be little sacrifice of efficiency under the curtailed budget.

MUSICIAN'S DRUMS STOLEN.

Edward Despaux, 23 years old, a drummer who came to Chicago from St. Louis two weeks ago, yesterday told Town Hall police that his drums, valued at $150, disappeared from a music practice room in a hotel at 920 Wilson avenue where he is staying.

GIRLS, ATTENTION!
At Motiograph we help the bomber pilot do his job better, help many a gunner pick off an enemy plane. We do this by making war items for army, navy, and airforce.
We are willing to pay good money to experienced girls to run drill press, turret engine, and bench lathe, hand screw, milling, and other machines, and do light assembly work to keep on doing this important job.
As our employees still improve, wage increases are given regularly. Supervisors are pleasant, helpful people who are glad to help train you for better jobs.

The common-sense solution to any money shortage is a short-term loan. It allows a "breathing spell" in which to adjust expenses to fit income. Right now, for instance, living costs are up and it is becoming increasingly difficult to make ends meet. A loan from Commonwealth will "tide you over" until you get adjusted to these new war-time conditions. Monthly rate 3% on balance of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150.
